F. J. MOFFITT CHALLENGES DANIELS TO A SHOW DOWN

SAYS OAKES' LAST AFFIDAVIT IS AN ADMISSION OF THE TRUTH OF HIS FIRST ONE—W. J. DINGEE'S STATEMENT.

"The second affidavit of George Oakes is simply an excuse for making the first," said Frank J. Moffitt. "In effect it is an admission that all the material allegations of the first affidavit are true. He does not deny receiving the orders for the books, that he hypothecated the orders with Lanktree and that he endorsed the checks over to C. B. Daniels. He does not assert that he ever delivered the books nor does he claim that the books were ever delivered. He does not allege that he received any of the money.

"Daniels excuses himself for plundering the county by saying I am connected with the Water Company. My connection with the Water Company is admitted. It is well known that I am a stockholder in the Company and therefore interested in its welfare. Daniels has for years been abusing me in his paper, and I owe him nothing but ill will. I believe he ought to be wearing stripes in the Penitentiary. This statement is libelous, but I am personally and financially responsible for it, and I will take pleasure in proving in the courts that he is a felon if he will only prosecute me. If he will sue me civilly I will answer immediately and deposit a certified check for $5,000 to cover any damages he may recover. I will resort to no technicalities, but will stand upon the charges made in the Stedman and Oakes affidavits. If he will prosecute me criminally, I will go into court at once and establish his guilt.

"As for Dalton, I have no grievance against him and bear him no ill will. Therefore I have nothing to say about his connection with the affair. But Daniels will have to show whether he robbed the county or the stockholders of the Enquirer Publishing Company."

W. J. DINGEE'S STATEMENT.

"What have you to say in regard to what Mr. Daniels has to say about your feeling toward him in the matter of the Stedman charges?" was asked of William J. Dingee.

"I would like to know how I can have anything but antagonistic feelings toward men or a newspaper that have been slandering me day in and day out for over a year, simply because I refused to be blackmailed out of $55,000," was the reply.

GEORGE OAKES' AFFIDAVIT.

George A. Oakes made the following affidavit yesterday afternoon:

George A. Oakes, being sworn, deposes and says upon his oath, relative to the circumstances of his making an affidavit before Emil Nusbaumer, notary public, on the 1st of June, the present month, concerning the order given him by H. P. Dalton, County Assessor, for the making of thirty mortgage assessment books and seventy-five working rolls for the Assessor's office and concerning the negotiating of the orders for said books and working rolls, which were negotiated through J. B. Lanktree, that the facts and circumstances of his making said affidavit are as follows: On Saturday evening, the 31st of May, affiant having been at San Francisco during the day, returned to his home at Haywards and upon his arrival he called at the "Villa" in Haywards, that being the place formerly kept by his father and now being the central office of the telephone at Haywards, after 8 o'clock in the evening; there he was informed by the manager of the place that a gentleman had been there and had left a request that affiant call up telephone in Oakland, the number of which was given; affiant did call up the number and was answered, and thereupon he asked who it was that had answered the call and the reply was that it was Emil Nusbaumer; affiant then asked what was wanted and Nusbaumer answered that he wanted to see affiant in Oakland; that thereupon an appointment was made over the telephone for a meeting between affiant and Nusbaumer for the next day (Sunday), the 1st instant at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, the meeting to be at the office of Reed & Nusbaumer.

After making this appointment affiant went to his house and there his wife informed him that a gentleman named Hanson had called to see him and had been around there most of the day looking for him.

The next morning affiant came, in accordance with the appointment, to Oakland and went immediately to the office of Reed & Nusbaumer and met there Emil Nusbaumer, no persons else being there. Nusbaumer immediately opened the subject of his object in calling affiant to Oakland by saying that affiant had placed himself in a very serious position in connection with the matter of the order for the books and the negotiating of it and the payment of it by the county; that he had in his possession the original or photographic copies of the bills or orders as they passed the Board of Supervisors, with the names of the Finance Committee of the Supervisors who had approved them; also that he had photographic copies of the checks of J. B. Lanktree, which had been received by affiant from Lanktree on negotiating said orders, said checks being respectively for $500 and $900; and he exhibited to affiant the said photographic copies of the checks and also the affidavit of R. B. Stedman concerning the same matters. He further said that affiant was liable to be arrested in connection with the matter, but that affiant could save himself by making an affidavit concerning the facts. Affiant and Nusbaumer had considerable conversation and then Mr. Nusbaumer stepped out of the room, but in a short time returned again. Five or ten minutes later Frank J. Moffitt came into the room. There were then present Mr. Nusbaumer, Mr. Moffitt and affiant. Nusbaumer and Moffitt urged affiant to make an affidavit. Affiant refused at first and for a considerable time, and they said that by his refusal to make an affidavit it would make it appear that he was guilty and that he was liable to be arrested. Affiant related to them that he had done nothing wrong in the matter; that he could see nothing in his conduct for which he should be arrested.

Moffitt said that the books and rolls were not in the Assessor's office and that there was no doubt of it, and that that circumstance made affiant liable criminally; and Nusbaumer confirmed that statement very strongly. Naturally affiant became alarmed and felt that he really was in a very serious position and liable to be arrested for felony. Up to the beginning of the interview with Nusbaumer affiant had never heard, nor had an intimation that the books and rolls were not in the Assessor's office; that he was not satisfied that they were not there even upon Mr. Nusbaumer's assurance; but Mr. Moffitt when he came in said that he was absolutely positive and certain that the books and rolls were not in the Assessor's office and that there was no doubt about it. Thereupon affiant, supposing that the information of Moffitt and Nusbaumer concerning the books and rolls was correct, and feeling himself to be thereby placed in a very serious criminal position, he made the affidavit before Mr. Nusbaumer, as a notary public, but before he signed the affidavit Mr. Nusbaumer assured him that they were not going to use it, but that the making of it was necessary for affiant's protection. Affiant believed what they told him to be true, still he rather objected to signing, and Nusbaumer said, "Oh, sign it," and at last affiant did so.

G. B. DANIELS' STATEMENT.

Manager Daniels of the Enquirer made the following statement:

"I cannot add to my interview given the other day to the newspapers. This affidavit of Oakes speaks for itself. I stated in that interview that this matter can be traced directly to the water company. The public is familiar with the light we have made for the people of Oakland against this grasping corporation. The affidavit of Oakes conclusively shows what is behind this malicious attack upon Mr. Dalton and myself.

"It might not be amiss to say that Moffitt is reputed to be the political manager of the Contra Costa Water Company; that Nusbaumer is the confidential legal and political adviser of Mr. Dingee and the water company; that Hanson is a confidential clerk in the water company's office. Reading Mr. Oakes' affidavit in the light of this knowledge of the identity of the people who engineered the job, it will be very evident to the people that I was correct when I stated two days ago that this was a still further attempt on the part of the water company to bulldoze the County Assessor and to throw discredit upon the Enquirer.

"And it is safe for the public to hold in abeyance its judgment in any matter which emanates, as this one does, from such a source."

EMIL NUSBAUMER'S STATEMENT.

Emil Nusbaumer made the following statement:

"This second affidavit by Oakes is not a surprise to me. I have known for the last two days that Dalton and Daniels have been doing their utmost to get Oakes to make some retractory statement. The night that District Attorney Allen took the matter under consideration Dalton had a long conference with Oakes, and last night Rupprecht was talking with Oakes on Washington street while Dalton was standing on the opposite side.

"It is true that Oakes was in my office Sunday. He came down to see me and I stated to him what I knew of the matter from statements contained in the Stedman affidavit, which I had read. I told him that I wanted a statement from him, and that I wanted the truth. He then told me all about the case as far as he was concerned. After the first conversation, in which he admitted everything that was put in the first affidavit, I called in Frank Moffitt as a witness. Oakes then went over the matter again, giving fuller details. I then wrote the affidavit out, and after he had gone over it and corrected it he signed it in our presence, Frank Moffitt being a witness.

"I told him he was not guilty if his statement as contained in the first affidavit was true. I never intimidated him nor made any threats, nor while in my presence Frank Moffitt did not. Everything was voluntary on the part of Oakes."

BOERS ARE GLAD WAR IS ENDED.

Many of Them Have Laid Down Their Arms.

CAPE TOWN, June 7.—The surrender of more than 1,500 Boers has already been reported from various points. Commandant Fouche brought into Craddock, Cape Colony, his commando, consisting of thirty-six Free Staters and 219 rebels.

Fouche is ill.

Commandant Conroy's men, on hearing that peace had been concluded, threw their hats in the air, cheered for King Edward and sang "God Save the King."

These incidents dissipate the fear expressed that the Cape Colony commandoes would refuse to accede to the peace terms.

General Christian De Wet is personally superintending the surrender of the Boers in the Vredefort, Orange River Colony, district.

General Schal Burger, former acting President of the Transvaal, who is the guest of the Governor of Natal, Colonel Sir Henry Edward McCallum, at Pietermaritzburg, in an address to the burghers in the concentration camp, asked them to make the best of the situation and to forget and to forgive the past.

He pointed out the hopelessness of continuing the struggle, urged the Boers to accept and act in accord with the terms of the surrender, which he intended to uphold, and desired them to work for the good of South Africa.

TWENTY-FIVE PEOPLE ARE INJURED.

Railroad Train Runs Down an Electric Car at St. Louis.

ST. LOUIS, June 7.—Twenty-five persons were injured today, two of them fatally, in a collision between a car of the Clayton branch of the Suburban Electric line and a Missouri Pacific engine at the surface crossing in East St. Louis. A list of the injured is as follows:

William Lazen, motorman, lives at Dehodamont.

George Gibbons, negro laborer, Webster Grove; internal injuries, probably fatal.

Miss Amelia Gross, Kirkwood, cut about body.

Mrs. J. W. Smithers, Webster Grove, knee injured, slight.

William Bolt, conductor, head and face cut.

G. W. Crabb, St. Louis, cut about head.

L. K. Grundy, Webster Grove, head cut.

Charles Barrett, Kirkwood, leg sprained.

Frank R. H. Lohse, manufacturer, Glendale, bruised and shaken up.

William Wellhouse, Webster Grove, both legs injured.

C. L. Brooks, Webster Grove, head cut.

G. E. Brashear, artist, Kirkwood, hands cut and hip injured.

Peter Griffith, Webster Grove, leg wrenched.

Henry Wolfsberger, Kirkwood, leg hurt.

William Barton, negro laborer, Webster Grove, face cut.

John Anderson, negro laborer, Tuxedo, shoulder hurt.

Quincy Poll, negro, Webster Grove, cut by glass.

James J. Jacobs, Kirkwood, cut by glass.

George Owens, negro laborer, Webster Grove, cut and bruised.

H. W. Brandall, butcher, Clayton, cut by glass.

W. D. Ewing, engineer, Emerson, Mo., scalp wound.

Joseph McClure, fireman, St. Louis, arm broken.

George M. Marvin, brakeman, Kirkwood, ankle sprained.

The fireman and engineer of the railroad train were injured and removed to the hospital. Almost every one of the passengers on the trolley car was cut by flying glass or thrown against a door, window or seat. The injuries of a majority of the passengers were slight, however, and they set about to rescue the less fortunate.

There were no physicians at hand when the collision occurred, and it was twenty minutes before the injured received medical attention. A majority of the victims were able to go in search of doctors of themselves. Residents of Brentwood carried the others to neighboring lawns until physicians arrived.

Inability to control the electric car which ran into and derailed the engine seems to have been the cause of the accident.

MINE BOSS KILLED BY THE STRIKERS

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., June 7.—A skirmish between mine officials and strikers is reported at Keystone. One mine boss was killed. No names or particulars are available.

DEMOCRATS TO MEET AT SACRAMENTO.

CONVENTION WILL BE HELD ON SEPTEMBER 1—LIVELY SESSION OF THE COMMITTEE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The Democratic State Central Committee today named Sacramento as the place for the State Convention after an exciting contest between delegates of that city and of the rival city of Santa Cruz. The vote stood 30 to 27. These were the only aspirants for the honor of entertaining the Democratic ticket makers, although for a short time this morning San Francisco was a candidate for the convention.

Sacramento had laid its plans well and the preliminary foundation building commenced many weeks ago. Delegates were pledged and voted for Sacramento whose inclinations were for Santa Cruz and the peculiar spectacle was presented of committeemen voting their personal ballot as agreed and casting unpledged proxies held by them for the rival city.

The convention day was fixed as September 1, without argument and the call was then presented by the subcommittee. A resolution petitioning the United States Senate to admit the territories of New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Arizona was unanimously passed.

TWO WOMEN ASPHYXIATED IN SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—The bodies of two women, a Mrs. Brown and her daughter, Mrs. William Chapman, who was an actress known by the stage name of Blanche Warren, were found in their room in a Golden Gate avenue rooming house, shortly before noon, asphyxiated.

It is believed that death was accidental, as the gas fixture in the room was found to be out of order.

Miss Warren has had engagements at the Alcazar Theater and the Grand Opera House.

Her husband is believed to reside at 1036 South Olive street, Los Angeles.

CARDINALS WILL SETTLE THE DISPUTE.

Philippine Land Cases to Go to a Commission From the Church.

ROME, June 7.—The Papal Secretary of State, Cardinal Rampolla, had his usual private audience with the Pope this morning.

Naturally the question of acquisition by the United States of the friar lands in the Philippines will be a subject for discussion at these daily conferences, but the alleged information on the subject is purely surmise, as absolute secrecy is maintained as to what transpires at these official visits. Cardinal Rampolla was agreeably impressed by the frankness shown by Governor Taft in sending him a copy of Secretary Root's instructions for examination.

The Pope has not yet appointed the commission of Cardinals to which the matter is to be referred.

This commission will consist of five instead of three members, as previously supposed, and probably Cardinals Vannutelli, Satolli and Vives y Tutul will be included. Cardinal Martinelli will be excluded because he is an Augustinian.

Cardinal Martinelli will be present at the customary official reception of the Cardinals, prior to the consistory at the Palazzo Borghese today. The American officials will also be present.

Cardinal Rampolla today returned the visit of Governor Taft at the Hotel Quirinal.

Governor Taft is greatly annoyed by the inventions of the Italian newspapers regarding his visit to Rome. The Italia, one of the chief offenders, published an alleged interview with the Governor which was entirely faked.

BAD WRECK ON THE LAKE THIS MORNING.

Whaleback Steamer is Run Down and Many Are Lost.

DULUTH, Minn., June 7.—The whaleback steamer Thos. Wilson, Captain Cameron, master, was cut almost in two by the steamer Geo. G. Hadley, Captain Fitzgerald, master, a half mile south of Duluth canal today, and nine men went down. They were mostly men of the night crew, who had not time to get out of their bunks before the vessel sank. The names of those lost are:

AARON TRIPPS, cook.

—— FRANK, second cook, Superior, Wis.

JAS. McDOUGAL, oiler, West Superior.

JAS. F. FRASER, oiler, Manitoun Island.

JOS. McGRAW, wheelman, Saulte St. Marie, Mich.

JOHN CAMPBELL, lookout, Greenleaf, Mich.

JOHN CAREY, deck hand, St. Catherines, Ont.

THOS. —NES, deck hand.

WM. REBUCK, fireman, Port Hampton.

The Wilson was coming toward the canal and the Hadley going out, both loaded. Just before reaching the canal and when about opposite the Wilson, the Hadley was given orders by a tug to go to Superior. Immediately she sheered off for the Superior entry and crashed directly into the Wilson.

The Wilson went down so quickly that it did not seem possible to save a life. One moment the two boats were ploughing through the water 200 yards apart, the next, the bow of the Wilson could be seen throwing off their clothing and jumping into the water. Some one on the Wilson with great presence of mind threw life preservers to several struggling in the water. The crew of the Hadley also threw preservers to those in the water.

Immediately after the collision, the Wilson pitched forward and went down. As she plunged, the crew still on board rushed to the stern, jumping overboard as fast as they could free themselves from their clothing. The Wilson did not live a minute after the collision. During the short time she was on top of the water, she seemed to be supported entirely by the Hadley's prow, which was sticking in through her plates.

The plunge of the Wilson released the Hadley and the latter swung back with a tremendous jerk.

As the whaleback went beneath the water she spouted like a submarine explosion.

The men that jumped last were apparently close to the hull when it went down. They were struggling there just before the plunge and could not be seen afterwards. They were probably drawn under.

The Hadley's steering apparatus was found to be out of order after the collision. She swung around in a circle several times and seemed utterly helpless. Her pumps did good work. In a few moments it was apparent that the Hadley was going down and the crew could be seen from the beach lowering the boats. Some of them got into the boats, but when the Hadley sunk to within a foot of her deck she seemed to stop and the men clambered back aboard. The race of the life saving crew and the tugs for the wreck was thrilling. The Hadley would not have made the spot had it not been for the tugs, and that probably was the cause of so few lives being lost. The life saving crew did quick and effective service picking up the men. The Hadley had a hard run for the shore, and did not win the race by any great margin, for a moment after her bow went on the bottom just south of the ship canal pier her stern began to settle and finally went down.

Fully half of the way from the scene of the accident to the point of beaching the decks of the ship were covered with water, and the members of the crew that were compelled to stay by her took to the upper works.

The Wilson went down in eighty feet of water and only a few feet of her spars can be seen. The Wilson was loaded with ore and belongs to the Pittsburg steamship line. The Hadley carried coal.

MASONS LAY CORNERSTONE OF OAKLAND POSTOFFICE.

GRAND LODGE OFFICIATES WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES—GRAND MASTER HART DELIVERS ELOQUENT OVATION.

At 2 o'clock this afternoon the corner-stone of the Oakland Postoffice was laid with impressive ceremonies by the Grand Lodge of the Masonic Order, assisted by all the local Masonic organizations.

There were many prominent Masons from San Francisco to participate in the ceremony, among them being General W. H. L. Barnes.

The Masonic brethren formed in procession behind the officers of the Grand Lodge at the Masonic Temple on Washington street, and marched to the new postoffice under the escort of Oakland Commandery No. 11 Knights Templar, C. W. Price, Commander.

The Boys' Band from the Masonic Home at Decoto and the Fifth Regiment Band supplied the music for the procession.

Major C. T. Poulter was marshal of the parade. The streets were thronged along the lines of march, and a great crowd of spectators gathered at the new building on New Broadway.

Judge William S. Wells of Martinez, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge officiated, being assisted in the ceremonies by the other officers of the Grand Lodge.

Grand Orator E. H. Hart delivered the oration. He said in part:

"It is a noteworthy fact that the Masonic organization is the only one of its character in the world that is ever called upon or requested to officiate upon occasions of this kind—the laying of corner-stones of non-sectarian public buildings.

"It is right that this should be so, not only because the traditions of Freemasonry assigns its origin to the association of operative masons at a time as remote as the building of King Solomon's Temple, but more particularly is it proper because speculative masonry of the present day embodies, and for the past three hundred years has embodied the underlying principles of civic stability and conservatism to so eminent a degree that its name may well be associated with the beginning of those material edifices and monuments which in their character typify durability and strength."

A double male quartet composed of Alfred J. R. Wilkie, Ben Clark, A. C. Read, J. R. Jones, S. D. Mayer, J. F. Fleming, Dr. R. W. Smith and J. C. Smith supplied the vocal music, under the direction of Mr. Wilkie. The following selections were rendered:

"The Heavens Proclaim Him" (Beethoven); "Great Architect of Earth and Heaven" (Himmel); "When Once of Old in Israel"; "When There a Shrine to Him"; "And We Have Come Fraternal Bonds" (Gerrish); (after laying the corner-stone) "Behold the Lord Has Laid" (Gerrish); finale, "America" (S. F. Smith); double quartet, audience and orchestra.

The corner-stone is a rectangular block of Utah sandstone, in which has been chiseled the inscription, "United States Postoffice, MCMI."

Among the prominent Masons who made the arrangements for today's ceremony were John A. Britton, Frank K. Mott, George H. Smith and J. J. Warner.

BAT MASTERSON IS ACCUSED OF A CRIME.

Charged With Running a Brace Faro Game in New York.

NEW YORK, June 7.—William Masterson, known as "Bat" Masterson, James Sullivan, J. C. Sanders, and A. P. Frank, who were arrested yesterday charged with being concerned in a "brace" faro game, were held today on the charge of aiding and abetting in gambling games and inducing men to go to their rooms to play games of chance. Bail in each case was $500.

Masterson and Sanders were released the other two going to the Tombs.

The further examination was set for Monday. The alleged victim of the prisoners, George A. Snow, a preacher in the Mormon Church, is said to have lost $28,000 in Chicago and the detectives in the case today sought to have the prisoners held on an affidavit charging them with swindling Elder Snow in Chicago but the court said it could not be done as there was no evidence here as to what occurred in Chicago. The additional charge of carrying concealed weapons was made against Masterson. He said when his revolver was taken away from him that it was his best friend.

The maximum punishment for this offense in this State is ten years in the penitentiary. Dix was arrested in London, England, about four months ago, and after stubborn resistance was extradicted.

KITCHENER IS PLEASED WITH SITUATION.

BURGHERS ARE COMING IN FROM ALL DIRECTIONS.

LONDON, June 7.—Lord Kitchener in a dispatch from Pretoria dated today, announced that the progress made in the surrender of the Boers was entirely satisfactory. Four hundred and forty burghers have laid down their arms at Middleburg. They also brought in a pompom complete with ammunition and indicated the hiding places of a howitzer and Maxim gun.

Two hundred and eighty-nine Boers have surrendered their arms at Standerton, Transvaal and Lord Kitchener confirms the report that 255 soldiers, of whom 219 were rebels, surrendered at Craddock, Cape Colony. Many more surrenders are expected today. All the Boers who surrendered in Cape Colony rejoiced that peace had been arranged.

The suit over the old Bennett block at the northeast corner of Tenth street and Broadway, occupied by the First National Bank was begun before Judge Greene this morning.

The suit was brought by A. P. Holland against Nellie R. and John E. Lutz, Lillian and Henry C. McPike. Holland claims that the defendants agreed to sell the property to him for $75,000 and that he deposited a check for $3,750 with the First National Bank to close the deal. The defendant denies the agreement.

CHICAGO IN THE LEAD IN THE CONTEST WITH BERKELEY.

CHICAGO, June 7.—The dual field and track meet between athletes representing the University of Chicago and the University of California, was held on Marshall Field this afternoon, under a threatening sky.

Supporters of the local college had been hoping against hope that Captain F. G. Maloney, Chicago's star sprinter, would be sufficiently recovered from the effects of injuries sustained at the meet last Saturday to enable him to participate in today's events.

Late in the forenoon, however, word was announced that the plucky captain would not compete in the afternoon sports and it was generally conceded that Chicago's chances for winning the meet were greatly lessened.

MARSHALL FIELD, CHICAGO, June 7.—The 16-pound shot-put was won by Plaw, California; Speik, Chicago, second. Distance, 41 feet 7¾ inches.

The 880 yard run was won by Cahill, Chicago; Service, California, second. Time, 2:06 3-5.

100 yard dash—Won by Blair, Chicago; Senn, Chicago, second. Time 10 seconds.

GRASSHOPPERS RULE DOWN IN SAN DIEGO.

SQUAWS ARE MAKING A BIG WAR ON PESTS IN THE SOUTH.

SAN DIEGO, June 7.—The country about Warner's Hot Springs is infested by grasshoppers. For the last two weeks they have been hatching very fast, and the superintendent of the big Warner's ranch has an army of squaws fighting the as yet wingless pests.

With sacks or brushes the squaws drive them into ditches already prepared, where they sack them and carry them to another ditch filled with burning straw, into which they are dumped.

INJURED MEN ARE BETTER.

AN ENGAGEMENT.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wyms announce the engagement of their daughter, Maud Isabel, to Paul Wells Champney.

The bride-to-be is a highly accomplished Native Daughter, being especially noted for her musical ability. She has a host of friends on both sides of the bay. Mr. Champney is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Champney of Alhambra Valley, and holds a responsible position with A. Schilling & Sons, San Francisco. The wedding, which is to be a quiet affair, will take place Monday, June 9, at eleven o'clock, in St. Mary's Church. After a short wedding tour, they will reside in Oakland in a cozy little flat on Jones street, which has been tastefully fitted up by the groom.

He Subdued a Volcano of Adjectives.

One day last autumn Bennet Burleigh, the noted English special war correspondent, was encountered a few miles outside Pretoria by that volcanic rhetorician, General Tucker.

"What the — — are you doing out here with that —thing?" asked the general, pointing to a kodak which was slung round his shoulders.

"Well, sir!" promptly replied Mr. Burleigh, "I was intending to take some photographs, but had I known that I was to have the pleasure of meeting you I should have brought out a phonograph."

At this audacity it is said that even General Tucker's stock of sulphurous adjectives ran low.—From the Argonaut.

NEW TEACHERS FOR SCHOOL DEPARTMENT.

TWENTY NAMES ARE SELECTED BY THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

The Board of Education met last evening as a Committee of the Whole, to consider the qualifications of applicants for positions in the Oakland School Department, and to select the teachers that are thought to be needed in the schools of the city for the coming year.

It is estimated by the City Superintendent of Schools that twenty teachers will be needed during the coming year to supply the vacancies in the department and the new teachers made necessary by the growth of the department. This estimate is based largely on the number of teachers needed in preceding years.

It is the custom of the Board of Education to select a preferred list, and from this preferred list to detail teachers as they are needed. It has been deemed wise by the Board of Education to select no preferred list for the High schools or Evening schools of the city. The following have been selected by the Committee of the Whole as the preferred list for the Grammar and Primary schools for the year. The teachers are to be detailed in the order in which their names appear on this list:

Miss Rosalind Kottinger, Miss Ethel B. Catton, Miss Anna M. Kress, Miss Amy S. Furlong, Miss Grace P. Meeker, Miss Margaret M. Kennedy, Miss Mabel F. Langevin, Miss Mary L. A. Rhodes, Miss Anne M. Bradley, Miss Mabel E. Stoddard, Miss Mary F. Jewett, Miss Margaret Fortier, Miss Emma R. Stoer, Miss Blanche Kummer, Miss Alice W. Coffin, Miss Grace D. Gregg, Miss Marion Delany, Miss Elizabeth Arlett, Miss Florence M. Proule, Miss Mary Helen Morrison.

CLAIMS HE WAS ROBBED OF $4,000.

SAN FRANCISCO MAN WANTS POLICE TO FIND HIS MONEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Henry Dana, a recent arrival from the Philippines, has reported the loss of $4,000 in Wells, Fargo money-orders, to the police and detectives are searching for a blonde young woman with whom Dana associated shortly after his advent into this city.

So far the only information obtained of the suspected young woman is that she has gone to "The Springs."

Payment on the orders has been stopped.

THE BELL AND THE BATTERY are perhaps the best known electric appliances. But these are at the head of our long list of ELECTRICAL GOODS.

The names of the things that we sell and the things that we use for Wiring, Conduits, Switches, Telephones, Bells, Burglar Alarms, etc., would fill a book. Perhaps this partial list will be sufficient to prove that our qualities are high and our prices moderate.

BLOOD FLOWS AT A VIRGINIA CONVENTION.

CHAIRMAN IS CARRIED FROM THE HALL BRUISED AND BLEEDING.

WELCH, W. Va., June 7.—The Republican Convention for the nomination of a State Senator here almost resulted in a riot.

Guns and clubs were used.

The chairman was carried from the hall, bruised and bleeding.

The fight was between the followers of Senator N. B. Scott and J. L. Caldwell, a candidate to succeed Scott.

C. P. KIEL AGAIN ON DECK.

The well known carriage merchant Mr. C. P. Kiel after several days of confinement at his residence with a severe cold, appeared at his office this morning, slightly better, but not at all well. "I guess I'll take a vacation for a couple of weeks. I have been paying too much attention to business of late. My trade has been very large,—in fact, far beyond my expectation for this time of year. I need a rest and I'm sure a few weeks' recreation in the country will do me lots of good," remarked Mr. Kiel. The gentleman is one of those far-sighted and wise business men that believes in printers' ink. He uses the columns of THE TRIBUNE exclusively to advertise his stock and he states he gets excellent results from this source.

The Kiel & Evans Company have by far the largest line of vehicles of every description of any carriage house in Oakland. They also carry a full invoice of fine harness, and have the reputation of selling their goods at very reasonable prices.

CHANGE IN MANAGEMENT OF FIRM.

Mr. R. C. Rose, one of the best known piano men on the coast, is once again in the Oakland field, now being identified with the old and reliable piano house of Kohler & Chase. Mr. Rose is a practical man in his line of business, and has a wide circle of acquaintances in Oakland and Alameda county. There will be associated with him Mr. J. F. Thomson, the latter gentleman has followed the piano business on the Northern Coast for many years and is also well known in San Francisco. Messrs. Rose and Thomson will manage the local house of the firm named, and they will no doubt prove a valuable acquisition to the Oakland branch of Kohler & Chase's popular music house.

AN INQUEST ON A MUMMY.

Our British friends can sometimes do the unconsciously humorous thing to perfection. They have been lately holding an inquest on a Peruvian mummy. But this "crowner's quest" was no more funny than the gravity with which the British Medical Journal assures its readers that the coroner did right. The British public have finally awakened to the fact that the coroner should be laughed at, and the mummy has been pronounced dead because the coroner "sat on it."

The innocent cause of all the trouble was a Peruvian mummy which some one was sending by express to a museum in Belgium. The unfortunate relic was discovered in a box in a railroad station in Liverpool. It was undoubtedly dead, but the coroner was sent for to certify the fact. He held an inquest (poor man!) but did not find the cause of death, and now he is being guyed. As he is only a coroner we have not much sympathy with him. He succeeded, however, in spoiling the mummy, and a lawsuit followed with big damages. We have always maintained that coroners hold too many inquests, and we think they should not be encouraged to include imported mummies among their victims.—Philadelphia Medical Journal.

TAKE PRIDE IN YOUR HOME

MOST people have homes that are "nearly right." There is enough furniture in them, it is luxurious enough, but yet there is something lacking.

Draperies probably—an alcove needs a portiere; those double parlors need a cozy corner; an Oriental rug might improve the entire effect; or an ideal head or a medieval lamp may be needed.

We take care of all these things. Drop in and see our displays.

BERKELEY LOCAL IS WRECKED AT SWITCH.

Fourteen Year Old Boy Shoots Companion—Alumni Nine Departs For the North.

BERKELEY, June 7.—The Berkeley local was wrecked at Dwight way on its 4 o'clock trip to San Francisco yesterday afternoon, owing to the defective working of a switch newly laid. No one was seriously injured, but a hundred passengers were badly shaken up. Traffic was delayed until far into the night between Dwight way, Berkeley, and North Berkeley. Regular service was maintained between the point where the train was wrecked and San Francisco.

The train was in charge of Engineer George Randall and Conductor A. E. Cole.

When the accident occurred the train had already begun to slow down, otherwise the five coaches would undoubtedly been telescoped and scores of passengers injured. The locomotive and first coach were the only ones to leave the track at the switch. The engine pursued a zig-zag course, uprooting the tracks used on the up trip and the down trip. The spectators who witnessed the scene say the engine where it hit the soft gravel bed threw clouds of dust far into the air, resembling a miniature eruption of Mount Pelee.

The engine maintained an upright position for a distance of fifty yards. Both the engineer and fireman acquitted themselves well, sticking by their engine until she had stopped, buried hub deep in the gravel.

This is the first time in twenty years that the local has been wrecked within the city limits.

THOUGHT THE GUN WAS LOADED WITH BLANK SHELLS.

BERKELEY, June 7.—Harold D. Puter, the 14-year old son of S. A. D. Puter, accidentally shot a companion, Stanley Cumberpach, in the cheek with a small calibered pistol yesterday afternoon. The boys, together with a number of companions, were playing in the barn belonging to the Puter family, at 1547 Spruce street, when the accident occurred.

The bullet lodged near the cheek bone of the injured lad and for the present it is deemed inadvisible to remove the missile.

Young Puter, whose eyesight is affected, thought the gun was loaded with a blank cartridge. As soon as he pulled the trigger young Cumberpach screamed that he had been shot.

As soon as possible medical attendance was called and the injured lad set at ease.

Boetliger and Leslie McNulty of Berkeley High School, Zamloch of Oakland High School, Nealon of St. Ignatius College, Webber of Portland University, Chester Murphy of Harvard, formerly Stanford's crack quarter back, and Jack Rithet of Yale. The latter two will join the team in the North.

The itinerary includes Portland, Seattle, Everett, Vancouver, Victoria, Spokane and Walla Walla. A game has been arranged for June 27 between the Alumni team and the team of the University of California, now playing in the North. This game will be played at Victoria. In the last game between the two teams, played on the campus on March 22d, the University team was defeated by the score of 14 to 3.

CANNERY HOUSES AT SAN LEANDRO FILLING UP.

New Cherries Bring Fine Price From the Buyer.

FORESTER LODGE TEN YEARS' OLD.

SAN LEANDRO, June 7.—The cottages recently completed at the cannery are rapidly being filled with families from different parts of the State who come here every year to work in the cannery. Already nearly all the cottages are occupied. This week several families arrived from Lodi and are now comfortably located in the little cannery village.

PURCHASED CHERRIES.

Thomas McCauley, buyer for the Central California canneries, purchased several fine lots of cherries this week.

Mr. McCauley is well known about San Leandro, which fact, together with the good price offered by his firm, has secured for that concern some of the best cherries in this district.

FORESTERS WILL CELEBRATE.

On the evening of July 27, San Leandro Lodge of Foresters will celebrate the tenth anniversary of the organization of their lodge. The event will be one of great interest, as the Foresters are preparing a program for the evening's entertainment which will include a number of new features. Musical and literary exercises and probably a farce will constitute the attractions.

RESCINDS ORDER.

SAN LEANDRO, June 7.—An order was issued some time ago by the Contra Costa Water Company prohibiting fishing in Lake Chabot. When the order was issued it threw a number of local fishermen out of amusement which they had enjoyed for years, having secured special permits from the company to fish in the lake.

Another order has been issued recently which rescinds the former order and it is now possible to secure permits to either fish in the lake or camp on the shores of that body of water. The reason the company formerly refused to allow fishermen and campers on the grounds was on account of the privilege having been misused by many who were allowed on the property.

NOTES OF INTEREST.

Miss Lillie Hesser, Mrs. Joseph Herrscher and Miss Emma Herrscher are visiting friends in Paso Robles.

J. C. Campbell of Colusa county recently purchased a steam harvester from the Best Works.

Driver, Aber & Co. have just secured another order from the San Francisco Fire Department for twelve ten-foot ladders.

A. Rogers, who has been very ill for some time, is again able to be around.

William Dowd has resigned his position with A. Thierry and will work for the Gas Company.

Prof. Dawbarn is having a stable built for his Olds-mobile.

William Best left for San Francisco recently, where he will reside in the future.

M. Hume, the Benicia canner, has secured from this district some choice cherries for his cannery.

Miss O. Beville of Visalia has rented the Henn cottage on Estudillo avenue.

J. Fairbanks of Hueneme was the guest of L. C. Morehouse recently.

Joseph Herrscher has just received a carload of brooms from Iowa.

Mrs. Lacy is having an addition built to her residence on Estudillo avenue.

R. E. Kimball has secured the contract to wire Masonic Hall.

Mrs. J. A. Bruner of Sacramento is visiting relatives here.

BIG CARGOES OF COAL ARRIVE.

ACTIVE MOVEMENT OF SHIPPING IN OAKLAND HARBOR—SHIP YARD NOTES.

The steamship "Pleiades" of Boston, loaded with coal for the Pacific Coast Company, arrived Thursday afternoon from Seattle and docked at Adams' wharf. The steamer brought down a total of 5,200 tons of coal, about 700 of which was consigned to Oakland. She will probably be discharged by Sunday, when she will proceed to Hunter's Point, there to undergo a general overhauling. After leaving the dry dock, the boat will load at San Francisco with general merchandise for Panama.

The "Pleiades" is the property of the Boston Towboat Company. She was built in Baltimore in 1900 at the Maryland Steel Works. The dimensions of the vessel are Length, 350 feet; beam, 47 feet; hold, 28 feet; gross tonnage, 3,732 tons.

The vessel is in command of Captain Purington of Maine, with Mr. G. Wright as first mate and Mr. C. Curtis as second. Captain Purington is accompanied by his wife and small daughter. He reportedan exceptionally pleasant trip down from Seattle. The voyage was accomplished in three and one-half days.

ARCATA ARRIVES WITH COAL.

Goodall, Perkins & Company's three-masted steamship, the "Arcata," tied up Thursday afternoon at the Webster street wharf. She comes from Coos Bay via Port Orford, and carries about 450 tons of coal consigned to the Oregon Navigation Company.

The "Arcata" made an exceptionally fast trip down, accomplishing the distance from Coos Bay to San Francisco in fifty-two hours.

The officers of the vessel are: Captain, H. C. Nelson; First Mate, R. Dixon; Second Mate, S. Swanson; Chief Engineer, A. Scandrett; Steward, M. L. Gallagher; First Assistant Engineer, Frank Linden; Purser, R. McCullum. The vessel brought down about seventy-eight passengers, and the courteous theatment which they received from the officers of the boat, did much to make the trip an exceptionally pleasant one. The Chief Engineer, A. Scandrett, seemed to be especially popular with both crew and passengers.

GAME PLENTIFUL IN OREGON.

The officers of the "Arcata" report that hunting in Oregon is exceptionally good this year. Bear and deer are to be seen in abundance. The "Arcata" brought down from the McKenzie Ranch at Port Orford, seven young bear cubs. On the trip prior to this, she brought down four. The animals are intended for the zoological gardens at the Chute.

The "Arcata" will probably be discharged today. She will proceed to San Francisco and there load with general merchandise for the Coos Bay region.

LUMBER FOR POINT RICHMOND.

The scow "J. J. Scoffen" left Adams' wharf yesterday loaded with lumber for Point Richmond. The lumber is consigned to the Humboldt Lumber Company at that place. Captain Nielsen is in command.

The scow "Prosperous" finished unloading a cargo of lumber at the yards of the Humboldt Lumber Company yesterday. Her immediate movements have not as yet been determined.

The steamship "Acme" left Friday for San Francisco. She carries a cargo of lumber. The scow "Industry" also left Thursday for the same place, loaded with a consignment of lumber.

The lumber schooner "Monterey" left Adams' wharf Thursday afternoon. She will proceed in ballast to Nehalem river, Oregon. Captain Cringle is in command.

NEWS OF THE FERRIES.

At present the ferry boat Oakland is running between the Broadway wharf and San Francisco. The Garden City is laid off, pending an inspection of her boilers. The first mate, Captain Hogue, is in command, Captain Frederickson being absent on his vacation.

THE GREENWOOD SAILS.

At the ship yards of Hay & Wright, the last touches were put upon the schooner "Greenwood" Friday. The vessel left for San Francisco at 12:30 o'clock. From this port she will proceed North, and ply between Northern lumber ports and San Pedro. The schooner, which is the property of the Wright Lumber Company, of San Francisco, will carry railroad ties exclusively.

The "Othello" and "Bella," both belonging to Charles Nelson of San Francisco, which have been under repairs at Hay & Wright's yards, have now left. They will engage in the coast lumber trade.

Work is being rapidly pushed on Tupp & Swett's new four-masted schooner, now in process of construction at Hay & Wright's yards. It is expected that the keel will be laid this week. The vessel will be finished in December.

PREPARING FOR THE LAUNCH.

Elaborate preparations are being made at the office of the Union Oil Company in San Francisco for launching their new oil barge, which will take place next Thursday afternoon at Hay & Wright's yards. The vessel, which is one of the largest oil barkentine ever made on this coast, has a capacity of 15,000 barrels. She will be named the "Fullerton of Los Angeles," and will be commanded by Captain Nielsen of San Francisco. The "Fullerton" will ply between Santa Paula and the Hawaiian Islands.

The "Ryba," which was recently overhauled at Dickie's yards, left yesterday for Fraser river, Alaska. She will run on the river as a dispatch boat for the different canneries.

POLITICAL SCAVENGERS REBUKED.

The political scavengers in Congress who have been trying to dig up some scandal to make the American occupation of Cuba malodorous have been brought up with a round turn in their effort to smirch the American name for partisan purposes. From first to last the American occupation of Cuba has been in the highest degree honorable. We freed the island from foreign despotism, restored order, revived its ruined industries and wasted agriculture, placed its cities in a thorough sanitary condition, reestablished the orderly operation of the laws and lastly regulated its deranged finances. When this work was accomplished, we surrendered all authority to a government established by the Cubans and retired with the thanks of the Cuban people and the applause of spectator nations. But this glorious consummation did not suit the purposes of a gang of two-by-four politicians in Congress, who inaugurated a scavengering raid in an effort to unearth something that would discredit the American name. General Leonard Wood, whose administration is acknowledged to have been a marvel of executive tact and efficiency, was singled out for attack because he was the personal selection and close friend of President Roosevelt. The effort was to strike the President over General Wood's shoulders. All that could be alleged was that General Wood was paid a salary larger than the law allowed to a Brigadier General, but the facts are that General Wood received no money from the United States Treasury other than his legal salary. To maintain a state necessary to the Governor of Cuba, he was allowed out of the Cuban revenues an additional sum which made his compensation equivalent to the pay of a Major General, that being the rank General Wood was supporting. That is the explanation of this sharp retort made by Secretary Root to Congress:

"I should hardly suppose that the House of Representatives would wish to adopt a resolution which implies ignorance on its part of the authority of the President of the United States under the law of military occupation to appropriate and expended the revenues of the Government of the occupied country."

This is very much like the kick one gives a vagrant cur that comes yelping about the heels. It has ended the crusade of the political scavengers.

THE IRISH PROTEST.

It is difficult to see what the Irish members of Parliament hope to gain by their vehement and intemperate opposition to the vote of thanks given Lord Kitchener and the troops in South Africa. Doubtless they felt that Kitchener's victory, such as it is, is a triumph over republicanism, yet they must own that a Nation may not disown the soldier's who have fought its battles, whether the quarrel be wrongful or just. The conduct of the Irish members can only be explained on the theory that they do not regard themselves as integral parts of the British Nation, but are held in bondage to the Imperial Crown by superior force and against their will. Perhaps they made the voting thanks to the successful commander and his troops in South Africa an occasion for emphasizing their repugnance to British dule and the policy it represents in Ireland. In other words, Redmond and his associates serve notice on the world in the British Parliament that they are not Englishmen and have no sympathy with English victories over either foreign or domestic foes. This discordant note in the hour of triumph is a reminder that the present subjugation of the Boers may be superficial, and that the result will be to plant another Ireland in South Africa. After seven hundred years the Irish people still hate with consuming bitterness British rule and flaunt their disloyalty to the British Government in the halls of its legislature. If the triumph in South Africa is only a presage of the feeling exhibited by the Irish in Westminster, it is doubtful if the British Nation has any cause to congratulate itself. A discontented, hostile and restlessly aggressive people under their very door is not the most satisfactory condition in the world, especially as that people have sent out their roots strong and hardy in every British colony, and can count their descendants in America by millions. Kitchener's victory may be like the one which caused the King of Epirus to exclaim, "Another such a victory and I am undone!"

The Indiana Democrats cheered Bryan's name in their convention, but they omitted to mention it in the platform and resolutions. In building their platform, they also kept away from Mr. Bryan's lumber pile. The Hoosier Democrats have evidently grown tired of chasing the pot of gold at the end of the silver rainbow. Two runs have been more than enough.

While the matter of erecting in America a statute to Frederick the Great is under discussion, it is not amiss to mention that the last great military act he played was to participate in the partition of Poland. If "Freedom shrieked when Kosciusko fell," what sound will she emit when Frederick the Great's statue is reared on the soil that Kosciusko helped make free?

HEAVY FOREIGN IMMIGRATION.

Foreign immigration for the fiscal year 1901-1902 promises to eclipse all previous records. During the first ten months of the year the immigrants landed numbered over 466,000. Nearly as many as came during the whole of the previous year. The greatest number of foreign immigrants that ever came to the United States in any one year was 579,000. At the rate they have been coming in since the figures for the first ten months were compiled, this number will be exceeded during the present year. A feature of the immigration now coming to our shores is the marked increase in the number coming from Eastern and Southern Europe. This decided influx of people of the Latin and Slavic races shows the great change in the character of our immigration. Notwithstanding the dense population of Great Britain, immigration from that quarter is declining. Irish immigration is falling off because the population of Ireland has been so depleted by sixty years of steady outflow that there is not much left to draw from. The highwater mark of German immigration has been reached and passed, and the Scandinavian countries do not have a population large enough to warrant any increase of immigration from that quarter. Hence the immigration to the United States that was formerly almost entirely Teutonic and Celtic has now become strongly Slavic and Latin, with a considerable Armenian and Jewish admixture. The great hives of Russia have not begun to swarm this way yet, but if they once begin our foreign immigration will assume a still darker hue. The bulk of immigrants now come from Italy, Poland, Hungary, Bohemia, Roumania, Bulgaria, Servia and Southern Russia, those from the latter section being almost exclusively orthodox Jews. In intelligence, education and other qualities going to make up good citizenship, these immigrants are below those that used to come from England, Ireland, Scotland, Germany and Scandinavia, and the tide seems to grow muddier and nastier as it grows stronger.

Secretary Moody's statement that no first-class battleship has ever reached the Mare Island Navy Yard is scarcely ingenuous. While the statement is true, it omits the fact that in 1888 the French cruiser Duquesne drawing 28 feet and 6 inches of water steamed up through San Pablo Bay and docked easily at Mare Island. The Duquesne draws as much water as an ordinary battle ship. If the navy department does not see fit to send battle ships to Mare Island that fact is no proof that battle ships cannot get to Mare Island.

The lead pipe trust seems to have a lead pipe cinch. It watered its capital stock several millions the other day.

Concerning the Beef Trust.

The Beef Trust is affecting even our most cherished poetic sentiment. For instance:

Shall we meat beyond the river,
Where the surges cease to roll?
Not unless the Beef Trust robbers
Charge consider'bly less toll.

We shall meat, but we shall miss you,
There will be one vacant chair,
Just because the Beef Trust's prices
Won't permit you to be there.

Meat us by moonlight alone,
Was wont to be our speech
Before the Beef Trust's prices
Put meat beyond our reach.

Shall we meat
To part no more?
Not unless the dear, dear Beef Trust
Makes its prices somewhat lower.

When shall we three meat again?
Oh, do not ask us that.
We know it will not be until
The Beef Trust price falls flat.

In the Sweet By and By
We shall meat on that beautiful shore,
If the Beef Trust will only decide
That its prices shall be a bit lower.

The lights were low, the feast was done,
They said good-by in pain;
They knew the Beef Trust price was such
They could not meat again.
—W. J. Lampton in New York Herald.

DOLLAR AND A DAISY.

A dollar over yonder, and a daisy in the dew,
And my heart is for the daisy, but—I need the dollar, too!
For the iron age will hold
Nothing dearer than its gold—
A dollar is the bread o' life; a daisy's kiss is cold!

A dollar over yonder, and a daisy in the dew,
And my heart is for the daisy, but—the dollar flames in view;
For the iron age will frown
On a daisy in love's crown,
And laugh when love goes sighing where it tramples daisies down!

A dollar over yonder, where hunger lean must tread;
And the daisy of sweet singing will not bring the famished bread:
O, the iron age is bold,
And a winter night is cold—
The starving lips must all be fed—the lambs must find the fold!
—Atlanta Constitution.

REMEMBER.

If you think you are a martyr, don't inscribe it on your doorplate.

It is a great deal better to cheer one man than to be cheered by a thousand.

Better a pair of clean, bare hands than the most expensive soiled white gloves.

Call another a fool and you are the fool; call yourself a fool and you begin to be wise.

The favored few are the divinely appointed guardians of the miserable many.

The man that attends strictly to his own business may have less business to attend to, but it will pay him larger dividends.—Christian Endeavor World.

A SINGULAR EFFECT.

"Young man, did you propose to my daughter last evening?"

"Ye-es, sir. But she refused me."

"Refused you? Impossible!"

"Pardon me sir, but she really did."

"That's very strange. Her mother and I thought she must have accepted you."

"Why, sir."

"Because she's been going around giggling all day long."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Her voice has attracted considerable attention and she has often been urged to study for the operatic stage, but she prefers to remain in the ranks of the amateurs, where she excels. She is considered one of the most beautiful young ladies of East Oakland.

PENNY-IN-THE-SLOT -RESTAURANTS.

With the advent of fine weather the London County Council, in its solicitude for the comfort and convenience of the people, is about to establish an automatic refreshment bar on the Thames Embankment, so that those who go there to listen to the band can, whenever they feel inclined, help themselves to a cup of tea or coffee, an ice, lemonade, sandwich, cake, or anything they may desire. All that is necessary is to place the requisite amount in the slot—penny, twopence, or threepence, as the case may be—and the drinks or viands are supplied without any waiting or fees to the waiters. If the experiment is successful we are promised an extension of the system to our chief parks and places where people congregate during the summer in large numbers.—Newcastle Chronicle.

WILL WED THE NIECE OF C. P. HUNTINGTON.

MISS MARY VAN VRANKEN.

Engagement Is Announced of Miss Mary Van Vranken and Dr. C. F. Millar.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—An announcement which will be of interest in social circles on both sides of the bay, is that of Miss Mary Van Vranken and Dr. C. F. Millar of San Francisco.

Miss Van Vranken is a niece of the late Collis P. Huntington and is matron of the Southern Pacific Hospital at Fourteenth and Mission streets, where Dr. Millar formerly acted as house physician. It was there they met first.

Dr. Millar is a graduate of the medical department of the University of California. Besides having a large and lucrative practice, he is one of the examining physicians of the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company, and has been connected with the Southern Pacific Hospital, the City and County Hospital and the Central Emergency Hospital.

ONLY ONE SMALLPOX CURE.

That Is Compulsory Vaccination, Dr. Azel Ames Says—Example in Porto Rico.

While the United States and Great Britain are both suffering under the scourge of smallpox, and in England, particularly, the disease has reached an alarming stage of progress, Porto Rico, which under Spanish rule was a hotbed of smallpox, is practically immune from the present epidemic.

For the ten years prior to American occupation of the island the deaths from smallpox averaged 621 per annum. Today in a population of 960,000, the annual death rate from the disease does not exceed two. Smallpox is practically non-existent.

The result is hailed by the friends of vaccination as demonstrating conclusively its triumph as a preventative of smallpox. After having set an example to the world by introducing general vaccination Great Britain four years ago modified her Compulsory Vaccination law by adding to it a "conscience clause," under which any person having conscientious convictions as to the harmful influence of vaccination was exempted from the law and the minors in the conscientious person's family were exempted with him.

In Porto Rico the very opposite policy has been followed. Early in 1899, immediately after the American occupation of the island, General Henry, the Governor, issued an order for universal vaccination, and it was strictly carried out.

Now while magistrates in England, under the influence of the smallpox alarm, are openly disregarding the conscience clause in the law and a strong agitation for its repeal is growing, in Porto Rico the American surgeons are rejoicing over the results of General Henry's order and are lauding him as a far-seeing sanitarian.

Dr. Azel Ames, who was the director of General Henry's vaccinating department in Porto Rico, has written to the "Medical News" calling attention to the remarkable immunity of the island from the present smallpox epidemic on the one hand and the rapid and general spread of the disease here and in England on the other. Dr. Ames draws from these facts the conclusion that compulsory vaccination is essential to prevent a return of the epidemic.

Dr. Ames finds the chief cause of the virulence of the present outbreak of smallpox in the diminished protection from the disease due to the existence of a large non-immune element of the population which has either outworn its vaccine protection or has never had any.

Contributing causes he finds in the unfamiliarity of the present generation of physicians with smallpox and the consequent exposure of patients through errors of diagnosis; the fancied security and consequent relaxed vigilance in enforcing protective regulations, due to long periods of immunity from the disease; and last "the growth of a more self-assertive and misnkenly aggressive individuality which, until more fully informed, often resents and resists the idea of any legal interference with personal liberty, and, lacking full knowledge, is credulous of all bugbears and distrustfull of all vaccination, and other sanitary measures to suppress the disease."

With the present great factories in which single sparks of contagion readily light the wide spreading fires of an epidemic, Dr. Ames says, with unprecedented facilities of communication, increased use of public conveniences and common sources of domestic utility, and with the enormous growth of public assemblies in theaters, churches and schools, the task of fighting smallpox is no light one. He describes in detail General Henry's vigorous attack on the problem in Porto Rico, and its success. In conclusion he says:

"Vaccination alone did it, and will do it effectively wherever compulsory legislation, properly enforced, secures its benefits to all."

THEY HOLD THE RECORD.

Wisconsin Man and Chicago Girl Run the Matrimonial Gamut Rapidly.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)

In the hitherto obscure town of Ranney, Wis., lives a young farmer who holds a matrimonial record. His running mate, so to speak, is a Chicago young woman who required only forty-eight hours to convince her husband that matrimony is a failure. Here is the chronology:

Sunday—Met.
Monday—Married.
Tuesday—Parted.
Wednesday—Divorce sought.

Solomon Grundy's short but checkered career was not much swifter.

One week ago Sunday James R. Minor, whose thoughts were divided between love and spring planting, chanced to read the matrimonial advertisements in a Chicago paper. From the mass of wealthy "widows," "beautiful blondes," etc., he picked out this one:

"Young lady, aged 18, good looking, affectionate, wishes to meet young man with means; farmer preferred; object, matrimony; no agents. Address Z 16."

Spring planting ceased suddenly to attract. Z 16 held Minor's interest. With much labor and many false starts he wrote the fair one a letter. It began, "Dear Miss," it ended, "Yours respfly," but between there was a wilderness of protestations of love.

Now Z 16 happened to be Miss Carrie Hansen of Chicago, but willing to change. So she replied to the Ranney swain with a coy request for a photograph. They compromised on a tintype, taken four years ago. Miss Hansen's reply to this was, "Come on."

This by way of prelude; now for the drama in four acts:

ACT I.—SUNDAY.

Scene: The Hansen front parlor; Rogers group and a horsehair sofa, one end occupied by Carrie. James enters, shuffling. Carrie blushes and James feels all hands and feet. Sits on edge of chair, but soon reaches sofa. Carrie says: "How dare you, sir?" Jim describes his country home—a vineclad cottage, surrounded with roses and holly-hocks. Then he adds: "Say, Carrie, let's get married," and Carrie says, "All right, Jim."

ACT II.—MONDAY.

Winsome Carrie is rushing northward as fast as the Northwestern trains usually rush people. At the Ranney depot stands Jim, exceedingly stiff, in his Sunday black and with a carnation in his buttonhole. He lifts Carrie into his buggy, which does seem muddy to a city girl, and drives her to Kenosha, where he parted with much money to buy Carrie a ring and a wedding dress. A train ride to Waukegan through the gloaming and a minister mumbling the wedding service. Then a drive home to Ranney—"Our home." Jim called it, as he lifted Carrie out of the buggy.

ACT III.—TUESDAY.

Love's cottage, in the pale garish light of day, looks small, shabby, desolate to Carrie, who misses the trolley car and the patrol wagon gong. Hollyhocks and roses not conspicuous. At noon in comes Jim from the fields. "Is this your country home?" demands Carrie. "Why don't you live in a wilderness? It's me to Chicago, Jim; I can't stand the country." He drives her to the station, kisses her good-by. Then the train makes a quick getaway, and not till it is out of sight does he remember the ring.

ACT IV.—WEDNESDAY.

Lake County Court Record: "4411—James R. Minor vs. Carrie Minor; bill for divorce."

THE PROFESSOR AND THE CHINAMAN.

A professor from one of the northern colleges who passed his spring recess at the capital was sauntering through Dupont Circle the other day in search of local color, when he saw a well-dressed, intelligent-looking chinaman, and seated himself on the bench beside him.

The two were soon deep in a discussion of the Chinese Exclusion Act, the professor finding it difficult to hold his own in the argument, and quite impossible to answer the multitude of astute questions that were fired at him.

An hour slipped by unheeded. Finally the visitor reluctantly arose, and saying good-by to his Chinese friend, went his way, remarking to one of the watchmen he passed:

"Nice old Chinaman, that. Who is he?"

"Wu Ting-fang," replied the watchman promptly.

"By George!" said the professor, "I'll go back and shake hands with him." But when he returned the bench was empty, the Minister had vanished.—New York Sun.

A Gloomy Prediction for Man.

If the lady who is a candidate for County Clerk in Hunt county is elected and permitted to take the oath of office, man as an officeholder will soon be a thing of the past. We do not believe that woman is eligible to such positions in Texas, but we understand that the Attorney General takes a different view of the question, and his opinion is worth more than ours. If women are eligible to county offices they will seek them, and what they seek they get. A man campaigning against a pretty girl or fascinating widow would not get votes enough to black the bulletin board.—Honey Grove Signal.

FOLLY OF TRAIN JUMPING TO SAVE A LITTLE TIME.

Utah Club Women to Experiment With School of Domestic Science —Vacations are Healthful.

BY BETTY MARTIN.

Jumping from a moving electric car should be made punishable by a heavy fine. If men haven't sense enough to protect themselves from bodily harm, then they should be looked after by law. When it comes to touching the pocket, men are struck in a vulnerable spot, and are apt to think twice before doing anything which will tend to lessen its contents. Scarcely a day passes but some one is injured through this foolish practice of trying to gain a moment or two of time, and the whole business ought to be summarily stopped.

Children particularly, should be taught not to get off a train while in motion, and the sad accident which occurred on Thursday to the little son of Mr. George Morgan of Berkeley ought to be a warning to other lads.

The Tuolumne Re-union is going to be held next week at Chain-of-Lakes station, Golden Gate Park.

These re-unions are getting to be much like the Last Supper. Year by year they grow smaller and smaller, and now few are left of those wont to gather together upon the 17th of June to discuss old Tuolumne.

The descendants of these Forty-niners are scattered everywhere throughout California, and many are settled in Oakland, but they lack the mutual interests which bound the hearts of the old pioneers as one.

Of all the counties in our State, Tuolumne can proudly claim first rank when it comes to an array of distinguished men who once claimed that county as home. Lawyers and orators, writers of prose and delvers after gold have lived among her towering pines and left their impress upon the community.

Bret Harte lived there for a short time, contrary to the statement made not long ago that no living man could verify the statement that he had ever made his home among the mines. Mr. James Gillis, who in early days shared the hospitality of his cabin with Harte, can point out to the curious the exact spot where he lived and gained inspiration for some of his stories.

Mark Twain was another of the great lights who once lived there, and nearer home are dozens upon dozens of men, not perhaps so widely known and celebrated as these two, but still leaders, of whom all Tuolumnites are justly proud.

Club women of Utah have a project on hand which if carried to completion will be watched with great interest by educators everywhere.

It is their intention to erect a school of Domestic Science, including sewing and dressmaking, on the campus of the State University, to be conducted in connection with that institution.

The sum of $30,000 has to be raised, through private subscription and legislative appropriation. Part of this money has already been donated. The buildings and equipments will accommodate three hundred pupils.

This experiment is said to be warranted by the success attending one farm schools, in which interest was so great that they immediately became self-supporting.

This is indeed a new departure in things educational, and speaks volumes for the favorable attitude of the public toward manual training.

Everybody who possibly can should take a vacation during the summer months.

If a long one is out of the question, then take a short one.

At all events get away from home, even if you have to leave on Saturday evening and be back again at work on Monday morning. If you keep that sort of thing up during the entire summer, there will be a good many days on the credit side of good times when the season is over. Homeopathy has ardent admirers the world over, and if some people are obliged to take their outings in small but powerful doses, where's the harm?

Nothing can work a greater marvel than change of scene. It enlarges and alters one's point of view. People living near the sea should go up to the mountains for the summer months. The higher they can get, the better. They need to breathe the fresh dry air and view the glorious California sunsets which rival those of sunny Italy.

Let dwellers in the cities, among the haunts of men, get close to nature for awhile. It is good just to lie under the soughing pines, and gaze up into the blue sky.

It is a complete rest, and one brings back a fresher appreciation of their fellow men upon return to business life.

People living in the country should endeavor to come to the city for a brief period at least once a year. It will do them good. It will brighten their faculties, and make the blood flow quicker through their veins just to view for a time the wondrous accomplishments of arts and science.

Variety is certainly the spice of life. It is deadly monotony which kills and stagnates.

In seeking relaxation for the summer, let one get as far as possible from present surroundings.

Hunt new environments and fresh faces. If at home you live a life of ease and fashion, hie yourself off to some place where simplicity holds sway. Take along with you a tent, a horse and wagon, a piece of bacon, a few beans and hard tack, and above all, leave the cook at home. Try your hand at doing things yourself. If you have been suffering from ennui, one week of such a life will do more to cure it than all the doctors' prescriptions in the universe. Fresh air and occupation will work wonders.

If you are a tired, overworked father or mother, leave care behind you for once, and go where you won't have to raise your little finger except by way of amusing yourself.

In a word, seek exactly the opposite of the life you are leading every day, if you want to thoroughly enjoy the summer outing.

Judge Ogden discharged from custody Mrs. Annie Fisher, an old woman who was recently arrested for insanity. She was examined by Drs. Medros and Ackerly. EMRICK'S CLAIM KNOCKED OUT.

CITY ATTORNEY JOHNSON SAYS IT IS VOID IN LAW.

City Attorney Johnson at the request of Mayor Barstow has given his opinion upon the claim of William J. Emerick that has twice passed the City Council, as follows:

"Honorable Anson Barstow, Mayor of the City of Oakland. Dear Sir:

"Answering your request of this date for an opinion as to the validity of the enclosed claim of William J. Emrick for the sum of $275.00 for repairing pumps and engines on Fire Engine No. 7, under authority of Resolution of the City Council, No. 27,334, I beg leave to report as follows:

"It appears upon the face of this claim that the work was done by the order of the City Council given through the Resolution No. 27,334 above referred to, adopted by that body. From the records of the Board of Public Works and of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners it further appears that the City Council, in attempting to authorize the work done for which the claim is presented, acted independently of and without the authority, advice or request of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, which Board, by the provisions of the Charter of the City of Oakland, has control and charge of the Fire Department of the City and of the property of the Fire Department including the Fire Engines and the equipment of these engines. This Board, in the exercise of its authority under the provisions of the City Charter, is charged with the responsibility of determining what repairs are necessary to be made upon the pumps and other parts of the Fire Engines used in the Fire Department and is empowered to make these repairs. The City Council has no authority or responsibility concerning such repairs other than to make, upon requisition from the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, appropriations for the expense of such repairs, or to refuse to make such appropriations. Here its authority in the premises ends. The City Council can go no further under the provisions of the Charter than to appropriate or to refuse to appropriate the money asked for by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, and its action in the present case in attempting by resolution to perform the functions of said Board and of the Board of Public Works in entering into an agreement for the repairing of pumps and other parts of a fire engine, is void from the beginning. It does not appear that the pumps or engine on Fire Engine No. 7 needed any repairs at the time of the passage by the City Council of this resolution. Upon the contrary, the fact is that at that time no such repairs as those for which this claim is presented were needed on said engine, and no such repairs had been requested by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, whose duty it is under the Charter to have exclusive charge of these matters. When the resolution attempting to authorize this work was passed by the City Council, the pumps of said Engine No. 7, if not thoroughly in repair and in good working order, were not in such condition as to interfere in any way with the effective use of said engine, and such repairs to these pumps, if any, as were necessary to be made at that time, could have been made properly and to the satisfaction of the Chief of the Fire Department and of the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, by any one of the engineers regularly employed in the Fire Department without extra expense to the city.

"Again, there is no proof on record that the work for which this claim is presented in the sum of $275.00 was done by the claimant, William J. Emerick. No representative of the city inspected the work while it was being done, if it was done, or reported upon its completion. The claim has no endorsement upon it as to its correctness by the Chief of the Fire Department or the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, or any one connected with the Fire Department or any other department of the city government charged with the duty of over-seeing the work or passing upon it as required by the provisions of the City Charter. The presumption is that no work, or very little if any work was done, for the reason that the alleged repairs were not necessary. Mr. Emrick presents his naked claim for the sum of $275.00 without the approval of any one connected with the Fire Department as to its merits. In the light of these facts it was clearly beyond the jurisdiction and authority of the City Council to attempt by resolution to have these pumps repaired or to provide for the payment of such repairs, independent of any examination or action by, or request from the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners.

"The fact may be noted in this connection that the claimant in this case, William J. Emrick, had, prior to the time of the passage of this resolution by the City Council attempting to authorize the work done for which this bill is presented, entered into a contract in writing with the Board of Public Works to repair the boiler of this same engine No. 7, said contract being properly authorized by the Board of Police and Fire Commissioners, the payment for the same in the sum of $200.00 having been provided by the City Council by its resolution appropriating the said sum of money for that purpose. These two contracts should not be confused. The attempted authorization by the City Council for repairing the pumps and engine of Fire Engine No. 7, should be distinguished from the contract in writing entered into by the proper Board for the repair of the boiler of this engine: it has nothing to do with the written contract and stands upon a separate and distinct basis.

"In attempting to authorize by resolution the work done for which this claim is presented, and to pay the amount of the claim, the City Council undertook to assume all authority and responsibility in the premises without consultation with, or request from the Board of Public and Fire Commissioners, and such action of the Council being illegal and void, the enclosed claim in the sum of $275.00, resulting therefrom, is invalid, has no merit and should not receive your approval.

"Respectfully submitted,

"JAMES A. JOHNSON,
"City Attorney."

PAINTER SUES THE DUNSMUIR ESTATE.

Mrs. Rika Oesterman and her husband, Phillipe Oesterman, began suit in the Superior Court yesterday against Charles L. Lovell, administrator of the estate of the late Josephine Dunsmuir to compel the payment of $1,275, alleged to be due for eighteen original water color paintings sold to the deceased a short time prior to her death.

Mrs. Dunsmuir died in this city June 22, 1901, leaving a large estate to her daughter, Chic Edna Wallace Hopper, the dashing little comic opera star.

The complaint alleges that in April, 1900, Mrs. Oesterman sold to Mrs. Dunsmuir the paintings mentioned, for $4,000, of which amount she subsequently paid the sum of $2,275.

For further cause of action the plaintiffs allege that Mrs. Oesterman sold to Mrs. Dunsmuir fifty-three volumes of Thackeray's works at $10 per volume, and forty-five volumes of Warner's Library at $15 per volume, for which Mrs. Dunsmuir is alleged to have agreed in writing to pay, but upon which she never made any payments whatsoever.

Upon these allegations plaintiffs pray for a judgment for $2,480 and interest to date.

AULD MUST SUPPORT HIS MINOR CHILD.

The motion to vacate the order, made in March, 1896, for Royal I. Auld to pay his divorced wife $15 a month for the support of their minor child, Clarence Auld, was denied by Judge Hall today. The father claimed that the boy was earning a good salary, but the mother, who has married again, and is now Mrs. Elizabeth Simmons, declared that her child was desirous of becoming an electrical engineer and had not the means to do so.

On the stand Clarence admitted that he had left school in Haywards because he had outgrown the other members of his class.

ESTATES OF DECEASED PERSONS.

Judge Ellsworth yesterday ordered the estate of Mary Ann Summers distributed to the heirs.

The estate of Gustave Gutsch was yesterday orderer distributed to the heir and the final account was ordered settled. The same order was made in the estate of Elizabeth Duboice.

The estate of Hannah E. Stanton, deceased, was by Judge Ellsworth ordered distributed, share alike, to the two heirs, Emma C. Morrison, a daughter residing in Alameda, and James E. Stanton, a son residing in Iowa.

E. C. Hawes has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Louisa Thompson.

ALAMEDA MAPS FOR CONGRESSIONAL LIBRARY.

The letter was referred to Chairman Talcott, of the Board of Supervisors, who will immediately comply with the request.

RAILROAD COMPANY MUST STAND TRIAL.

The demurrer of the Southern Pacific Company in the $15,000 damage suit brought against it by E. K. Cossab was overruled by Judge Ogden, and the defendant was given ten days in which to answer.

Cossab claims he was struck in the ear by one of the step gates on the Seventh street local, and was made deaf in that ear by the blow.

FORD MARSELLIS WILL ADMINISTER WIFE'S ESTATE.

Letters of administration on the estate of the late Carolina W. Marsellis, who died in a mysterious manner at Berkeley recently, have been issued to Ford Marsellis, who has also been appointed guardian of the two minor children, Lyle and Charles. It was at first thought that Mrs. Marsellis had been murdered, but the Coroner's jury failed to find the causes of death.

MOVABLE STAGE BY THE CADETS OF FRUITVALE.

An Improvement For the Present Place of Meeting.

NARROWLY ESCAPED A FLYING CAR.

FRUITVALE, June 7.—Another important addition to the Fruitvale Armory is now being planned by the cadets. They propose to build a moveable stage. Work on the platform will begin shortly. An arrangement of this character will be very convenient at the hall and can be pulled to one side when the place is being used as a drill hall by the cadets.

NEARLY WRECKED SPRINKLER.

Sprinkling wagon No. 2 of this district came near colliding with an out-bound street car Thursday morning and had the two met, it would no doubt have resulted in the wagon being wrecked, as the car was going at full speed.

The trouble occurred just below High street, where a small street runs into the San Leandro road. The wagon had reached that point without the driver's noticing the rapidly-approaching street car. Just as his horses stepped on the track, the driver of the wagon saw the car. Pulling the horses back, he cleared the track just as the car dashed past.

SHUT IN WITH FIRE AND GOLD.

The Employes in Assay Office Fought Flames Behind Locked Doors.

Locking the great doors so that the 31 million dollars in gold and silver would be safe, no matter what happened, the employees in the United States assay office, at No. 33 Wall street, formed a bucket brigade and fought a fire for an hour and a half, Wednesday afternoon.

They didn't send in an alarm because they feared the news of the fire would attract a great crowd to the neighborhood and, in the excitement, some of the treasure might be stolen, despite the precautions the police would take to protect it.

It looked at one time as though the flames would get beyond the control of the employees and that millions of dollars worth of precious metal would again go through the process of refining, but at no time was there any idea of sending in a general alarm.

Visitors to Wall street see a small two-story building that is pointed out as the assay office. Only a small part of the government refining work is done in that building, for it is used principally as a repository for the refined metals and as a weighing room. Back of it is a smoke-begrimmed structure, four stories tall, in which are conducted most of the smelting operations. It is commonly referred to as the foundry.

In the department where silver is refined the fire had its origin. In order to prevent the oxidization of the silver pulverized charcoal is placed over it. A sudden draught caused the charcoal to ignite and the blaze was communicated to oil and lard which is used by the workmen. The fire started at half past two o'clock, and although the building is near one of the busiest streets in the world, nothing of it was known by the many persons who were constantly passing near the structure.

Inflammable materials in the silver smelting room feed the flames. A score of men formed a bucket brigade and others used the fire hose. The fire burned its way through a partition and for a time it looked as though the services of the fire department would be required to quench the flames. It was 4 o'clock before the fire was extinguished.

As it was, the damage, which was principally to the walls of the building, did not amount to more than $600. Considering the circumstances, it is remarkable the fire could have been so well controlled. As a general thing, there is kept in the assay office between 40 and 50 million dollars' worth of bullion.

WOMEN SURGEONS.

At the annual meeting of the new Hospital for Women in London attention was directed to the work done by women surgeons. It was stated that full opportunity had been given for testing their work in all the most important operations, with the result that all prejudice that had hitherto existed against them had been dissipated, and that they now held a sound reputation for ability in this line of work. There had been nearly 1,000 cases of maternity treated at the hospital without one death due to that cause. In the aggregate there were 557 major operations, with a mortality of less than 6 per cent.

LITTLE RED DEVILS. Mind Makes Peculiar Things.

Coffee almost kills some people before they are willing to admit that coffee is really the cause of the trouble. Yet it is easy to break off the habit providing Postum Coffee, well boiled, is served in its place.

A lady says, "After coffee drinking had become a habit with me I experienced a sense of faintness in the stomach with lassitude and dullness of the mind. This was accompanied with severe pains in the region of my liver.

"Gradually my health failed and I became thin and a nervous wreck, having sick headaches every day. Then insomnia set in and I suffered for four years such torments as those who have been through the experience know of. At night I would grow so nervous over the continual distress in my stomach that I would imagine hundreds of little red devils had strings attached to the back of my stomach and were trying to pull it out. I was compelled, at times, to take laudanum to relieve the distress and cramps.

"This condition lasted with some variation for about three years. I tried various physicians and finally was advised to try leaving off coffee; this I thought could not be done. I was finally induced to give up coffee and use Postum and I began to get well.

"When I recovered and thought I was well enough to go back to coffee again I tried it, but after using it a short time the old stomach trouble came back and I threw the balance of the coffee in the stove. There has never been a grain of the old fashioned coffee in the house since and never will be as long as I am running it.

"Postum Coffee is delicious when made according to directions and served hot with good cream and some sugar. The whole family use it and enjoy it greatly. I have gained 10 pounds in the last year and my nerves are fast becoming a thing of the past. I sleep perfectly all night and am a well woman, thanks to Postum." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

THERE IS HOPE FOR EVEN SUCH AS HAVE GLIMPSES OF THE DARK VALLEY.

Paine's Celery Compound

The Medicine that Saves Life and Restores Lost Health.

A merciful Providence still keeps the spark of life in thousands of wasted and feeble bodies. The fitful, flickering spark will burn with decreased power as the hot days of summer approach. There is still hope for even those who are now catching glimpses of the dark valley. The use of Paine's Celery Compound during the month of June will at once arrest the progress of wasting diseases. It will strengthen the weak and inflamed nerves, rid the body of morbid waste material, make the blood pure, and give healthy action to the stomach, liver, and kidneys. Nervousness, sleeplessness, rheumatism, neuralgia, liver and kidney troubles quickly vanish when Dr. Phelps' marvelous prescription is used. Mrs. Alice Terry Wood, 515 Highland Street, Helena, Mont., says:

"I can say to all that I believe Paine's Celery Compound a great medicine. I should have been in my grave if it hadn't been for the wonderful curing virtues of the Compound, and I can say to all who are tired and run down, to try it, and they will find relief at once. My trouble was general weakness, lack of appetite, and heart trouble. I have taken four bottles of Paine's Celery Compound and feel like a new person. Now I have a good appetite, do all of my work, and feel well."

LITTLE ROSA INTRODUCED HERSELF.

Rosa, the six-year-old daughter of the Rev. W. H. Young, a popular pastor in Syracuse, had been properly taught her prayers by her parents. Reaching this age her mother thought she should be allowed to retire alone, and, while she was instructed to say her prayers by herself, her mother kept an ear open to learn if the duty was properly performed. One evening the careful mother was rewarded by overhearing the following appendix to the usual form of petition: "Perhaps, Lord, you don't know who I am. Then I will tell you. I am little Rosa Young, and my father is William H. Young, pastor of the Furman street Methodist Episcopal Church, and I can tell you he is a Jim Dandy of a preacher."—New York Times.

CELERY FOR RHEUMATISM.

One of the latest theories is that celery is a cure for rheumatism; indeed, it is asserted that the disease is impossible if the vegetable be cooked and freely eaten. The celery should be cut into pieces and boiled in water until soft, and the water drunk by the patient. Put new milk, with a little flour and nutmeg, into a saucepan with the boiled celery, serve it warm with pieces of toast, eat it with potatoes, and the painful ailment will soon yield. Such is the declaration of a physician, who, it is said, has again and again tried the experiment, and with uniform success. He adds that cold or damp never produces, but simply develops, the disease, of which acid blood is the primary and sustaining cause, and that, while the blood is alkaline, there can be neither rheumatism nor gout.

WONDERFUL RAYS.

A lump of native uranium continuously give off rays which will take photographs of bones through the flesh. Mme. Currie in experimenting with these rays, was led to suspect that the "radio-active" properties of uranium (a long-known element) were really due to some foreign substance in the metal. She actually discovered two new elements of greater importance than argon and having properties that are almost magical. The first has been named "radium" and the second, in honor of Mme. Currie, who is a Pole, "Polonium." These metals give out several kinds of wonderful rays, among which are those having X-ray properties of great intensity.—New York Times.

The Pacific Cable From Canada to Australia.

The English are now laying a cable to connect Canada and Australia which, for strategic reasons is to touch only at British landing places. It goes from Vancouver to Fanning Island, thence to Fiji, thence to Norfolk Island and from there in two lines to Australia and to New Zealand. The stretch to Fanning Island is the longest yet attempted, being 6,600 kilometers. The total length is 15,000 kilometers. The ocean depth is about 5,500 meters. The cost of construction will be about $7,000,000 and the earnings are expected to be about $150,000 yearly. It is hoped to send about 1,500,000 words daily, working eighteen hours each day.

Miss Nan Stahlberg

IF every woman in the land today sick with female troubles could be brought to realize that a medicine exists that would restore her to health, there would be few homes that would not resound with rejoicing. Barren wives, invalid mothers, sisters and daughters furnish American homes with much of their bitterness and sorrow. That there is such a medicine has been proven by the reported relief of over a million suffering women. Thousands of them have taken the trouble to personally write to The Chattanooga Medicine Company of their cures. They tell how Wine of Cardui has strengthened the weak girl and prepared the apprehensive wife for motherhood, how it has quickly cured mothers and women of every age and station of all kinds of female ills.

One of these cures is that of Miss Nan Stahlberg, of No. 448 West Fifteenth Street, Chicago, Ill., who is well known as the Secretary of the Valkyrie Singing Club. She occupies a very prominent position and many suffering women will be brought to know and appreciate Wine of Cardui by what she writes:

"Wine of Cardui is certainly a boon to women and as my experience with it has been most gratifying I am glad to speak a good word for it. About two years ago I caught a severe cold at the time of menstruation and it stopped and discontinued for several months. I had very severe pains at the time with bearing-down pains and headaches almost constantly and I did not care whether I lived or died. I lost flesh and added about ten years to my age. After I had about given up hope of ever getting well my attention was called to your Wine of Cardui. One bottle helped me and six cured me."

Could any woman ask more in the way of relief than Miss Stahlberg secured? This same relief is in the reach of every woman in this land today. No one is too poor to buy health in a bottle of Wine of Cardui. Thousands of women who go to specialists and spend thousands of dollars in the fruitless pursuit of health finally come to Wine of Cardui and secure relief. Wine of Cardui is the simple remedy that relieves female suffering. Wine of Cardui never fails to benefit. It is peculiarly adapted to regulating menstruation and reinforcing weak women. Druggists all over the country are selling thousands of bottles of Wine of Cardui every day. No one is too poor to buy it, yet no amount of money could buy a better medicine. Wine of Cardui has endeared itself to the 1,000,000 women it has relieved. They love the name "Cardui" and they write the following letters to show the world what they think of this medicine:

Mrs. Mary Cline, Stilesboro, Ga.:

"Your medicines have done me more good than any that I have ever tried. My son from Chattanooga brought me a bottle. After being confined to my bed for nine weeks it got me out of bed and I gained 23 pounds."

Mrs. Pearl Philpot, Muskogee, I. T.:

"I was married two years and had no children. When my monthly periods would come I would have pains in my back, head, legs and bearing-down pains in my bowels. I would nearly have fits. My husband got me a dollar bottle of Wine of Cardui and it did me so much good. No tongue can tell how much good it did me. Since I have taken Wine of Cardui I have given birth to two children. One is dead but the last one is living. It is just three months old and the prettiest thing I ever saw. I took the Wine before confinement and I was just sick one hour. I am in better health than I ever was before. My age is 18 and I weigh 128."

Why not go to your druggist today and secure a $1.00 bottle of Wine of Cardui?

nteresting Engagements Are Announced—Reports of Weddings and Receptions—Social News of the Week.

The event of the week—or of a good many weeks for that matter—was, of course, the wedding of Blanche Sharon and Harry Farr. There isn't a family in the county more thoroughly liked by every one than the Sharon, and Blanche, who is so completed devoted to her little brothers and sisters, is one of a small group of girls I have in mind, made up of Gertrude Allen, Jean and Florence Hush and some others, who are always so delightfully cordial and unaffected, making every one they talk to feel that they are sincerely their friend, and I think they are. Casa Montana was beautifully decorated for the great occasion with quantities of pink and white hawthorne, pink sweet peas and foliage and ascension lilies, the latter placed in great jars and adorning the stairway and hall. The ceremony took place in one corner of the large drawing-room, in a bower of pink hawthorne and La France roses, the tiny-paned windows forming the background. Samuel Savanah had charge of the music, which was especially good, the "Spring Song" from The Valkyrie being played by a concealed orchestra during the ceremony, and before the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March announced the coming of the bride, Mary Chester Williams sang "Still as the Night," and later, "Schubert's Serenade." Before the bridal party came down the stairway the members of the bride's family entered, and stood at one side of the room, the members of the groom's family standing at the other side. Mrs. Sharon looked awfully well in mauve brocaded satin—held her youngest child in her arms, and the other youngsters stood about her skirts—while Mrs. Mygatt, in blue foulard, carried little Frances Allen. One couldn't believe that she was really a great-grandmother.

The fresh, girlish beauty of the bride was set off to excellent advantage in her wedding gown, which was fashioned like an old time picture, and made of white silk crepe over satin en princesse, and trimmed with point de gaze, wide ruffles of lace from the lace yoke to the hem of the skirt, forming a panel in front, which was outlined by a festoon of chiffon, caught up with lilies of the valley. The long train began at the shoulders in a watteau pleat, bands of insertion being brought over the shoulders and outlining the train. The wedding veil was fastened to the pretty brown hair with lilies of the valley, which flowers also made up the bridal bouquet. Florence Sharon Allen was, as you know, the matron of honor, and as on all ocasions, looked too pretty and dainty, and altogether like a Dresden China statuette to be real. With her wedding gown of point applique, the panels of which were laced together with bands of pearl-embroidered satin, the whole being made over accordion pleted crepe de chine, Florence wore large white hat, trimmed with a reath of pink roses tied with pink bridesmaids, Charlotte Laws and Enid Williams, wore colonial gowns of white French organdie with a pink rose pattern, the fichus and the deep ruffles at the bottom of the elbow sleeves being of point d'esprit, the skirts being ornamented with festoons of pink chiffon roses and their large pink hats being trimmed with roses. Genevieve Fore and Anita Lohse were gowned alike, except that they were entirely in white. The four bridesmaids and the matron of honor carried large wreaths of pink roses tied with pink bons over their arms, and wore their pretty pins, half wreaths of gold set with pearls. The ceremony was a very short one, the Rev. Ritchie saying that in olden times the bride's will was law, and he only followed out an established custom in granting the bride's wish for a very simple ceremony. Then followed a sketch of the marriage customs from the Sixteenth century. Later it was just like a big tea, only jollier, with buffet refreshments, and a large silver loving cup filled with champagne passed to every one, that they might drink the bride's health. Upstairs a large front bedroom was filled with the wedding gifts, everything in the room being a gift, from the pictures on the walls to the beautiful rugs on the floor; (one of the handsomest having been sent by the Oscar Lunings,) and on the pretty new writing desk lay one of the best gifts of all, the check for $1,000 sent by the Hon. Frank G. Newlands of Nevada. Some of the gowns worn were very stunning indeed.

Marietta Havens had on white dull trimmed with handsome insertion interlaced with blue ribbons. Pauline Fore looked like gold painting in yellow and Gertrude Allen was in pale blue with Edith Gaskill in pink challie large picture hat, Mrs. Ernest had on one of her very best gowns. a blue batiste with blue lace and pearl trimOscar Luning was in dove appliqued with silver, being pink; Mrs. Crelbe India silk with ings; Mrs. F. M. Smith wore white broad-cloth with gold lacings, and a hat very much to one side. Mrs. Claude Sharon, the young bride from Nevada, wore pale blue, and other well gowned women were Mrs. Charles Egbert, Mrs. Wickham Havens, Mrs. Howard Robbins, Mrs. Hayward Thomas, Mrs. William Letts Oliver, Carolyn and Anita Oliver, Mrs. Moore, Mrs. Gorrill, Mrs. Oscar Cowing, Florence Hayden, Mrs. Henry Brathober, Mrs. Fred Colby and Mrs. John Barraclough.

When the congratulating and the feasting was over, we all assembled on the veranda to wave our handkerchief in farewell to the young bride and groom as they drove off, and instead of throwing any of that horrid stinging rice, we were given pretty three-cornered tissue paper packages of rose leaves, with which to shower the departing couple, the corners of each package being embossed with the monogram of the bride and groom, done in pink and gold.

After a honeymoon spent in the Sierras, Mr. and Mrs. Farr will go to Mill Valley for six months or so, and will later reside in Piedmont.

The engagement is announced of Miss Berenice Landers to Mr. John Griffin Johnston of Los Angeles. Mr. Johnston is in the real estate business and is a grandson of Albert Sidney Johnston, the Confederate General. The wedding will take place in the early fall. Miss Landers and Mr. Johnston met at Catalina two years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Grant are visiting Mr. Grant's parents in Highland Park, where they will remain until early fall, breaking their stay with many short trips to points of interest in this part of the State. Mr. Grant is a successful New York artist, on the regular staff of Puck and much in evidence in many of the monthly magazines. He was once employed on some of the San Francisco dailies but says that the best thing that ever happened to him was the discovery by certain "Powers that Be" that his forte was not the daily newspaper cut. This resulted in his going to New York and as a consequence he is now in receipt of a handsome income instead of a beggarly thirty dollars a week, to say nothing of the fun of doing his work in his own time and the delights of living in the metropolis.

Mr. Grant did well from the time he struck New York, for he is a pupil of Phil May, had studied much abroad, and has a style which is dashingly characteristic. The only trouble was that San Francisco was not up to his style in the old days. He still handles masses of black and white spaces with all the skill of the old days and much skill of the new. He rather won his spurs during the South African War when he went to the Cape for Leslie's and Harper's Weeklies. His work was more talked about than that of any other artist there and his Scotch ancestry and English birth insured him a hearty welcome and much sympathy from the British forces.

Vickery has secured a fine and interesting collection of Mr. Grant's monotypes—as his drawings produced by a new process are called—and will exhibit them next week.

Mrs. Grant is exceedingly pretty, and is a New York girl of the most winning type. They have been married less than a year.

Miss Gussie Klose's marriage to Dr. Brinkerhoff is said to have been a pretty one and was witnessed by as large a number of good old friends as could be sqeezed into a not over-large house. The Brinkerhoffs are to have a delightful wedding journey which will take them to almost all the large cities of the East and eventually to Europe. They do not expect to return until December. As both the bride and groom are exceedingly fond of wheeling, they have planned some interesting bicycle jaunts to historic places.

This afternoon, at sweet little St. Mark's in Berkeley, Miss Jackson will be married to Edward Olney. It will be the first wedding in the remodeled church and will be a white wedding. Charming Eleanor Olney of Highland Park, the groom's sister, will be one of the bridesmaids.

The run of the automobiles from San Francisco to San Jose last Sunday was one of the funniest things I ever saw. None of the humor of it has found itself in the dailies and none of it will, probably, since the men who write about autos and locos are friendly to the men who have the machines to sell, and to write the real truth of the story would be too shocking an expose of the imperfections of the gasoline and steam steeds. The start from San Francisco was all right, but the machines broke down one by one, until not a single able-bodied one was left. The papers said that the chauffeurs returned at their leisure. Well, I guess they did, for three were on trains and a man I know walked all the way from Burlingame. He reached the auto shop about one o'clock in the morning, having had nothing to eat all day. He was one of those who returned at their leisure. There is not much boasting about the run being made—indeed a severe silence prevails. Those who departed so cheerily returned very much like little Bopeep—dragging their machines behind them.

There's a funny story, too, lingering about the portals and whispering galleries of the Girls' High School across the bay. It seems that the faculty did not announce until the last moment who was to graduate, which was rather hard on the S. G. G., as of course, graduating gowns cannot be made in a jiffy and they still cling to the dear old white organdie and silk-tied diploma traditions across the bay. When the graduating class went to have its picture taken there were eighty-seven girls in the picture—I think that's about the number—but of these but sixty-five were let through at the last moment—the other very fair percentage having been plucked. Among the "plucked" was one girl whose gown was the pride, not only of her mother, her dressmaker and herself, but of the class and the teachers as well. It was a white organdie with real Valenciennes insertions, in all the little soup plate and doyley designs now so popular, and its cost was $150—an absurd dress for a S. G. G., of course, but still wonderfully beautiful to look upon. But whether it was because the dress had taken so much thought or for other good and sufficient reasons, the girl with the wonderful gown was not among the fortunate who "passed."

Of course there were tears and protestations and explanations and bewailings and, in the end, the faculty found some misplaced credits and the girl with the beautiful gown was graduated. Of course any sensible person can see that no other result was possible, since the gown would have been hopelessly out of style a year from now. What else could the faculty do? and what else could the poor girl do? And it is also quite apparent that that is a good luck gown, and while it may be a little hard on the others who were left and who did not have o'erfine raiment to pull them through, still it all goes to prove the old proverb that fine feathers do, without the least shadow of a doubt, make fine birds.

One of the funniest stories I have ever heard came to light in local newspaperdom last week. There was, in an interior county, a young man, the son of a clergyman, who possessed an unlawful and unholy and wholly unaccountable desire to embark in journalism. This youth was opposed by his anxious mamma who had heard dreadful and probably perfectly true things about the wickedness of the modern newspaper.

At last the "Pride of the Household" obtained mamma's consent, very reluctantly given 'tis true, and even then upon one condition.

"You must promise me this," said mamma. "You must promise me to go to church every Sunday."

The P. of the H. very gladly promised, for he felt that he was getting off easy.

He found it a trifle difficult to get swallowed in the maelstrom of modern journalism—it had a tendency to spew him up—but when at last he was ratherly gingerly taken into the great maw, he was glad enough to get anything that was offered to him and became a "cub" reporter to be "tried out." Now Sunday is the field day for the reporter. The more important members of the staff are off on that day and as the paper is shorthanded even novices get their chance. The very first Sunday the P. of the H. was on the staff he was assigned to do the Grocers' picnic and the next thing that happened to him, when he had done the picnic, was that it was found that he had won a case of whisky on his gate ticket coupon. And yet some people have the hardihood to deny that there is a real personal devil with horns, hoof and tail!

And now it is the Ebell Club which has appointed a censor. Gracious, to what are we coming? They will be having a seargeant-at-arms next. Now how in the world are you going to censor three hundred women, or whatever the number of the Ebellians may be, and how on earth can the censor bridle all those tongues, and do the dear things imagine for a moment that the newspapers which are so mightily convenient when you have a charity up your sleeve and so mightily inconvenient when it's a scandal you're trying to cover, are going to rely on the censor and her cunning little scissored reports? What's to hinder the energetic reporter from interviewing all the women with grievances and getting the story out piecemeal —oh, under strictest promise of secrecy, of course, my dear. And so the censor 'll have a merry time of it, I predict, and will cry her pretty eyes out before the end of the year and much good may it do her. And the slighted hostesses of slighted guests will continue to warble their woes into the ears of the sympathetic and accurate reporter, and so will the sponsors of black-balled ladies and so on through all the chapter of malcontent. By all means have a censor, but let her be salaried, do. She'll earn it.

General and Mrs. Long are being much entertained in Washington and the near-by country clubs, for they have many friends there. Mrs. Long will soon return for the summer but in the fall will set up her Lares and Penates in Washington.

Miss Mollie Phelan, sister of ex-Mayor James D. Phelan has created quite a sensation across the bay by entertaining again after a lapse of years. She gave a little tea this week to a few intimates, ostensibly to show her remodelled house in Valencia street, which, by the way, cost in the neighborhood of thirty thousand dollars. Recently she lost by death a dear friend and companion and she has not been seen since until the cards came for the tea. She is eccentric but decidedly entertaining when in the humor. Her refreshments the other day were most elaborate—really a four-course luncheon in the middle of the afternoon.

Really, I wonder what consideration one wedding guest owes another At a church wedding the other day I was reminded of this when a well-dressed lady clambered over a whole pew full of equally well-dressed people and then climbed out again, to the great detriment of their garments, because, forsooth, she saw someone else with whom she thought she would prefer to sit.

And I have heard that the palm for the worst manners in society has been awarded to a new woman—not a new woman in the slang sense, for she's a grandmother and far from young. They say she can be ruder and not know it than anyone else in town. But it's stupid ignorance that makes her so. Especially is she obnoxious at card parties. They talk of suppressing her.

As for the rudest man we've long known who he is—the middle-aged lawyer who crosses the bay every day. He isn't married but for sheer bad manners from lack of raising his hat to the disposition of his long legs, he has no peer. As his family isn't in society and never was, we could forgive him, but his younger married brother is really rather a nice chap, so we see the elder might be decent if he cared.

Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Dunn (Mrs. Dunn was formerly Gertrude Allen Witcher) are spending the summer at their cottage in Blythedale, and the Costigans are there also. The Dunn baby is said to be the most beautiful and bouncing infant ever seen.

While the dismissal of Professor Pease of Stanford has caused a lot of talk, at Berkeley where President Wheeler is taking off professor's heads galore, one hears scarcely a murmur. There are fifteen changes in the faculty. One of them may be Professor Lyle of the Department of Literature.

Under the old regime he was a favorite, and in spite of the fact that Professor Gayley, who considered him incompetent, and who protested greatly against his promotion, his salary was increased. It was at the time of this contest over Professor Lyle that his cousin, Judge Foote, then Regent, arose and made the declaration that the professor should be promoted because he was a descendant of George Washington. Another Regent arose and said that if the Father of our Country really had children that history does not record, he though it unpatriotic of Judge Foote to attack the spotless name of Washington so long after his death.

While writing dramatic criticism for the dailies, the professor aroused much enmity among the faculty, and newspaper men disliked him because they thought he couldn't write and was only trading upon his position in the University.

Professor Lyle was not a success as a critic, and during the times he was out of a job he avoided the Bohemian Club, but while giving his opinions to the public on the drama, he was always there.

It is again going the rounds that Mrs. Huntington is thinking of deeding her California street mansion to the Berkeley University, and as she will probably do so, Mrs. Hearst and President Wheeler will have more cause than ever to feel jubilant over the progress the University is making. In a recent issue the Saunterer says that they no longer regard Stanford as a rival institution, and that a woman of Mrs. Hearst's refinement would be shocked at the vulgarity that obtains at Stanford where the visitor is shown the trappings of Leland Stanford Jr., and the gloves that Mrs. Stanford wore when she shook hands with Queen Victoria.

President and Mrs. Jordan leave soon, or have already left, for Tutuila, one of the Samoan Islands, to continue the investigation for the United States Fish Commission. While away Mrs. Jordan will help her husband prepare some articles on the social life of the Islanders. Speaking of the Jordans reminds me of the story coming from Palo Alto regarding a little stroll and talk Dr. Jordan and Dr. Benjamin Ide Wheeler were recently enjoying at the quadrangle down at Stanford. Seeing a very old and crippled woman approaching them, Dr. Wheeler said, "What would you do if you had a wife like that?"

"Benjamin, I'd wheel 'er," replied the scientist without a smile.

What a tempest is being brewed over the will of the late Calvin Brigham and society is taking sides, many of us with Lena Brigham Fuller, who is on her way from the East to fight for her share. Some of us are standing with the Frank Brighams, but more on account of Mrs. Brigham. He isn't at all a popular man.

It promises to be a bitter fight but I've no doubt Lena will get what she should have. Campbell, Bob Fitzgerald (whom we all expected her to marry at one time,) Fowler and Abbott—who has lived across from the Brighams for years and knows all the family secrets—are her lawyers, and will be a pretty hard combination to fight against. What a strange life Lena has led. She was adopted by the Brighams when only a few weeks old, went into society when about fifteen, so that the gossips thought—or at least made her out, much older than she really was, and at last captured Mr. Fuller,—in fact took him away from her friend Mamie Griffin, whom we all remember when she lived up on Jackson street; the Griffins later selling their property to the Meins and Lukens. Mamie was so tall and thin in those days that we were always expecting a breeze from the Lake to waft her away, but some one who saw her with her children at Coronado Beach some weeks ago, said she was actually fat. Can you believe it?

But to return to the Fullers. He was supposed to be a very rich mining man and certainly spent a lot of money on Lena, who wore the largest solitare on her engagement finger that any of us had ever gazed upon, and to illustrate his way of doing things he once took her into a fur shop across the bay and thrust a five or six hundred dollar seal-skin upon her, just because she had forgotten her wrap and was feeling chilly. All the old set turned out to the wedding which was a big, jolly evening affair at the Brigham home, and when she left with her husband for the East, every one regarded her as a very lucky person indeed. That ended that chapter, but the next was very, very different. It turned out that he had spent all he had while making an impression here and had supposed she had lots of money. When he found he was mistaken, he took to his heels and left her, and as far as her friends here know, he has never been near her since. She has been living in a quiet little village and came back just once. That was when her mother, Mrs. Brigham, was so ill. She stayed until the doctors assured her that her mother was out of danger. She had not been gone three days before Mrs. Brigham died, and Frank Brigham wrote Lena that she had killed her mother by deserting her in her illness, and so breaking her heart. At the same time he refused to part with the bric-a-brac, paintings done by Lena herself, and other personal property, that she had not taken away at the time of her marriage and there has been war ever since.

Marietta Havens was the hostess of one of the delightfully little informal affairs of the week, having given a shower party on Thursday, for Genevieve Fore, who is to be married to Conde Jones some time in September, the date not having been set. These showers—where each guest is expected to show up with a gift—usually a bit of dainty underclothing—for the bride to be, who happens to be the guest of honor—are all very well when only a few intimate friends are brought together, as was the case at Marietta's, but when a girl sends out a lot of cards for a shower, as one would for a tea, as one did last year, when half of the people asked didn't even know the bride-elect, (who by the way, became a mother some days ago;) that is going a little too far, even with one's intimates. One is expected to give an engagement cup and a wedding present, and the christening gift has to be selected before one has paid for the others and I think showers won't ever become very popular. At Marietta's on Thursday were Edith Gaskill, Carolyn and Anita Oliver, Gertrude Allen, Gertrude Gould, Florence Yates, May Young, Grace Baldwin, Ione Fore, Mrs. Willie Watt, Edith Selby and Mrs. Beach Soule. They all had an awfully good time and Genevieve was delighted with her pretty gifts, although I once heard her say that she would simply die if when she became engaged, any one gave her a shower party.

But then she didn't know it until she got to the party.

Some people here as well as in Southern California, are interested in a rumor that Mrs. John Bradbury—who as Lucy Banning once attended Fields Seminary in this city, where she was Amy Requa's great chum—is soon to seek a divorce. Some years ago when Mrs. Banning returned to Los Angeles from Paris, where she had taken her two daughters to be finished abroad, the family finances were found to be in a precarious condition, and economy a necessity. Then it was that Lucy rebelled and married John Bradbury, who lived here before his people went to Los Angeles. After the Warde scandal, the Bradburys went to Mexico, but for some months Mrs. Bradbury has been living in Los Angeles with her mother, at whose house the husband is an occasional caller. He is said to have lost his money in reckless speculation. Meanwhile the affairs of the Bannings are once more on a substantial basis, and Mrs. Bradbury and her mother are preparing to start for Paris. The young woman's career in the gay capital toward which she and Warde were once headed when fate intervened, will be awaited with interest.

The Moore-Starr wedding which came off too late for me to tell you about last week, was an awfully pretty affair, but the church decorations and the bride's gown have all been written up in the papers until I'm sure you wouldn't read about them again if I wrote it for you. The two large clusters of lights, presented to the church by the late John Valentine, are very effective, and lighted up the altar beautifully.

Carmen was of course a dear little bride, and Jacqueline, who attended her as maid of honor—and later caught the bridal bouquet when Carmen started off for the honeymoon,—was stunning all in white. Jacqueline certainly knows how to walk well, and carries her clothes better than any one I know. She was rather an awkward, ugly duckling when a school girl, but is now the best groomed and most stunning of all the girls of that set. Lots of people thought the twenty girls who walked up the aisle before the bridal party entered, looked frightened to death, but they didn't look so to me. Laura Crellin all in white headed the procession, she also has lots of style and plenty of good gowns. Katherine Dillon from across the bay looked very well in pink with a beautiful large picture hat of ostrich feathers, and for such a large girl, carries herself very well. Florence White was very pretty in pink, but she will never have the style her dashing mother has. The other girls in the bridal procession were: Mamie Barker in pale green, Eleanor Davenport in white, Mona Crellin, Ethel Kittredge, Susie Smith, Florence Starr, Elizabeth Foulkes, Viva Nicholson, Bessie Palmer, Leslie Green, Patricia Cosgrove and Berenice Landers.

All the creams, pinks, blues, yellows and greens of the different gowns blended together beautifully and every one voted the new idea a splendid one.

The girls each wore the color they looked best in, and when bridesmaids are all forced to be gowned alike, some of them are bound to look like frights. Mrs. Moore wore black and white, and Mrs. Starr was gowned in lavender with bonnet to match; she is so pretty. Ethel Moore and Mrs. A. A. Moore Jr., who wore pink, were together. By the way the junior Moores are to build a handsome home at Chestnut and Hyde streets, where, let us hope, they will give a few parties.

Al used to be devoted to society, but she is very quiet and cannot be made to care for it.

Alice and Ruth Knowles, Alice in white and Ruth in pink, with a very deep yoke of beautiful lace, and Gertrude Allen in the palest grey cloth embroidered in gold, had the prettiest gowns in the church. What a ripple of laughter went over the place when Carmen's little sister rushed out after the bridal party and the family, her face that is usually bubbling over with mischief, buried in a large handkerchief, that she had evidently borrowed from her father. And of course she couldn't see where she was going and fell almost head long down the church steps, but as she explained to the guests at the house later, it didn't hurt much because she fell into a woman before she had time to go far. After the reception the young couple left for San Francisco and dined at the Poodle Dog, where the orchestra played, "Ev-Day Is a Wedding Day." I think that's the right name. We set a few tables off and watched them, both looking very happy and talking away to beat the band.

Carmen wore a little traveling suit and white silk waist, and they left the next day for the Yosemite and upon their return will live across the bay.

Two weddings that took place this week were also of interest to us, that of Augusta Klose and Dr. Erwin Brinkerdoff and that of Dorothy Ames and Sam Pond of San Francisco.

The Klose-Brinkerhoff wedding took place at 8 o'clock on Wednesday evening at the bride's home in East Oakland, about seventy friends and relatives being present. Every thing was in pink and white and the bride was attended only by Pearl Kingsland, as maid of honor, while George Lackie acted as best man. On Thursday they left for the East where they will visit all the principal cities before sailing from Boston for Europe. Upon their return they will reside here, where I do not know, as the doctor has had to close his charming house and stables out near Twenty-eighth or Twenty-ninth street, and will probably rent it furnished, as the second Mrs. Brinkerhoff—you know he became a widower something over a year ago,—refused to live in the house or to look upon any of the household goods which once belonged to another.

The Ames-Pond wedding was of course very swell indeed, some Oaklanders being included among the many people from across the bay who went up to Santa Rosa for the event.

The ceremony took place indoors, but the wedding breakfast, at which about one hundred and fifty sat down, was served out of doors on the lawn.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gardiner Ames, on Sonoma avenue, is one of the most beautiful in that part of the country, the lawns and hedges of roses skirting the banks of the Santa Rosa creek. Pink flowers were everywhere, La France roses alone being used in the drawing room, wild azaleas in the library and Duchess roses on the breakfast tables outside.

The pretty little brunette bride was gowned in white chiffon over peau de soie with trimmings of point lace. It was made en train and her wedding veil was of real lace. She carried lilies of the valley. Her cousin, Guinette Heney, acted as bridesmaid, and wore pink chiffon over peau de sole, carrying pink tiger lilies. Charlie Fernald, one time of Santa Barbara, whom we all liked when he was attending the University at Berkeley and used to come into our dances, was best man, while Sidney Pringle, Roy Pike, Milton Latham and Barclay Henley Jr. were the ribbon bearers. Among those at the bride's table were: Mr. and Mrs. George S. Wheaton, Mab McDonald of Santa Rosa who used to go to Head's at Berkeley and so often visited Carrie Haven and Jessie Glascock, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Pond, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. McDonald, Bessie Riley, Mary Temple, Kelsey Patterson, Major L. W. Juilliard and Nora McNeal, the groom's aunt who is so clever at fortune telling.

No one knows where the honeymoon is being spent, but later they are to spend the summer at Belvedere, where they have taken a cottage near the Lawson Adams cottage, the two men being great chums.

Ping-pong has become the burden of the Wall street employer of labor, for his clerks have taken to lengthening the luncheon hour in order to knock the celluloid ball, and they neglect their work to discuss tournaments.

A ping-pong room at 13 Liberty street where six tables appear to be engaged from 9 a. m. to 7 p. m. by young men and old, is creating almost as much trouble among bankers and brokers as pool rooms.

Unfortunately the police cannot raid the place, and the employers of clerks must grin and bear it.

The card parties are surely but slowly dying out for this season, and I've only heard of two that took place this week and they were small and informal club affairs. Mrs. Henry Nichols entertained the Monday Euchre Club, Mrs. Walter Henry winning the prize at five-handed euchre. Among those present were Edward Hale Campbell, Georgie Strong, Viva Nicholson, Emma Mahony, Mona Crellin, Lillian Downing, Mary Barker, Florence Starr, Violet Whitney. Mrs. Tom Pheby Jr. and Jane Rawlings, who with her mother, arrived on Saturday last, from a six months' visit to Mr. Rawlings in Mexico. Their steamer passed the one Stuart Rawlings was on, returning to Mexico. Jane and her mother left on Tuesday for a short visit to their ranch at Palermo but will soon return to Linda Vista, when we'll all go up to hear Jane's experiences. But to go back to the other card party which also took place on Monday last, when Carrie Nicholson entertained the Monday Afternoon Club, Mrs. D. R. Proctor and Mrs. George Gross winning the prizes. Mrs. Wickham Havens will entertain the Club at Thorndale on Monday next. By the way, how that particular set will miss Mrs. Henry Rosenfeld, who won't be able to join them at their cards and luncheons for some time, on account of the death of her father-in-law.

Mrs. Rosenfeld gives lovely wedding presents to all her girl friends when they marry. I know she gave Ethel Gage Gross that handsome Flemish oak dining-room set and Bessie Gage got a big pendant of pearls for her neck when she married the man from Texas.

Belle and Florence Vernon, who have arrived from the Yosemite, were the honored guests at a luncheon given on Thursday, by Tibbie Taylor, at her home on Pine street, across the bay. They leave on the City of Peking on the 12th for a stay of some weeks at Honolulu, where they have letters to the Sam Parkers, Princes David and Cupid and all the rest of them, and will probably have such a good time that it will be long before they will be able to get away to Japan, China and India.

A large and merry party gathered at the W. S. Goodfellows' home in East Oakland on Sunday afternoon last, when the new baby was christened Alice Scott Goodfellow. The guests later enjoying a big dinner. On the same day the Edward O. Arndts of East Oakland also had a christening at their house, Elsie and Walter Arndt being the principals.

Kate Clement has returned from a visit to the Joe Tobins at their country place at Arcadia, in Napa county some miles above Calistoga. In the house party were the Robinson Rileys, the Paul Jarboes, Prince and Princess Poniatowski and the Tom Magees Jr., who are now at Highland Springs for a part of the season.

Word comes from Denver that Brigadier General Funston is seriously ill with malarial fever, and their many friends here are hoping for his speedy recovery, but the worst of it is, fever of that sort hangs on forever after one is out of danger.

Three interesting engagements announced in one week! That of Berenice Landers and Jack Johnston announced at the beginning of the week, that of her cousin, Pearl Landers and Harry Scott announced in the middle of the week; and "last the best of all the game," that of Kate Chabot and Dr. Dunn announced yesterday. We are all dying to see Kate to congratulate her, because there isn't a more popular girl anywhere, but the Chabots are all at Villaremi for some weeks, or rather months, so we'll have to be content to just write our good wishes. Kate is one of the dearest and best girls in society on either side of the bay, and is the life of every gathering she attends. She looks better a horseback than any girl I know. And if there is a more popular or better liked man than Dr. Dunn, I'd like to see him. He always looks so perfectly groomed and as if he had just stepped out of his tub. We have seen how things were with them for some time, but of course we didn't really know. I suppose the wedding won't be very far off. Kate told me just before she went away that green was her favorite color, so I'll wager the wedding will be a green and white one. Well, here is wishing them both all the happiness in the world and hoping that Kate will return to town before we simply burst with curiosity over the wedding plans.

I have just received a card from Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Britton, 65 East Twenty-third street, Flatbush, Brooklyn, N. Y. It makes the interesting announcement that Elizabeth Nelson Britton arrived in the family on May 18.

The engagement of Pearl Landers to Harry Scott is of interest to us. She was the most entertained lind of the past season, although before she came out, she was not identified closely with the very smart set. She isn't a beauty, but is small and graceful, and her success was in a large measure personal. Pearl will be glad to change her name, for she is always being confounded by strangers with Pearl Landers, the little actress who made her debut with the Frawleys. They say that Mr. Landers paid the actress a large sum to bill herself Lillian Pearl Landers instead of just Pearl.

The groom-to-be is the younger son of the Henry Scotts, having an elder brother, Prescott. He is very young and may get more character as the years go by. You remember how much talk there was regarding his unwelcome attentions to Miss Barber, the niece of President and Mrs. McKinley, when they were all out here. He made a nuisance of himself on the Presidential train coming out, and later sent her flowers every day, carefully telling her just how much each bouquet cost him. She snubbed him right and left, but for all that, he accompanied the party as far as Ogden on the home trip.

Another girl from our county being made much of in Los Angeles is Grace Langley of Alameda. Among other things given in her honor was a big card party given this week by Mrs. William Wallace McLeod, the other two honored guests having been Harriet Stark of Rochester, N. Y., and Georgie Fitch of Coronado Beach.

Mrs. A. M. Rosborough and Joe Rosborough, who seem to be giving the girls, especially on the other side of the bay, a very good time this winter, have been entertaining Kathryn Robinson and Elizabeth Falk at their home in Highland Park.

Among those who have been enjoying the trip to Tamalpais lately have been the Frederick S. Strattons, who are summering at Blithedale, the Harry East Millers, Mrs. J. C. Adams, Mrs. Albert Miller, Annie Miller and Horace and Paul Miller.

Peter Martin, whose many times postponed engagement and later, wedding to Lillie Oelrichs, has been the chief topic of conversation in society for many moons, turned up in San Francisco on Wednesday, just when every one imagined he was in the midst of the wedding plans at Newport. Of course, her uncle has just died, and I suppose that is why the engagement is postponed once more, but I wish they would be married quietly and let us breathe again. Peter tarried a while in Los Angeles en route home and seemed to be enjoying himself greatly. On Wednesday evening the Walter Martins, accompanied by a certain large bird, also arrived home, instead of staying in London for the Coronation, as they had expected to do. Mrs. Martin gave a large family dinner party for them on Wednesday evening, with the J. Downey Harveys, the Henry T. Scotts, and Harry and Prescott Scott among the guests.

Among the actresses who are to appear with Henry Miller when he opens in "Trelawny of the Wells," at the Columbia on Monday night will be Ethel Hornick of this city, who was entertained here so often when here before. She is a charming actress and a great friend of Mamie Barker's, who has dozens of lovely authographed pictures of her taken in the East. When we saw Ethel here in "Mrs. Dane's Defence," she took the part of a fascinating young widow and dressed accordingly, but in this play she appears with wrinkles, hoops and corkscrew curls—at least she had that part when the play was first put on several years ago—so we won't see as much of the real Ethel on the stage as we'd like to.

The big reception given by the Daughters of the Confederacy at Judge Garber's during the week—the Garbers having just returned from Washington, D. C.—was a great success, calling together many of the Southern set, who are taking a great interest in the bringing together of this element

The beautiful gardens were so tempting that we remained out of doors most of the time. Among the ladies who are interested in the different chapters, the Robert E. Lee and the Jefferson Davis, are Mrs. Selden Wright, Mrs. William Pritchard, Mrs. R. B. Sanchez, Mrs. Voorhies, Marie Voorhies, Mrs. James Thornton, Virginia Thornton, Mrs. Sidney Van Wyck and daughter, Mrs. William Hammond Hall and daughter, Mrs. J. P. Baldwin, Mrs. Le Conte, Mrs. Susan Merritt, Mrs. Hilland, Mrs. Denver and Mrs. John B. Glascock.

Gertrude Atherton has given the Bohemian Club the idea for their midsummer jinks in the redwoods, and the plans being made are more elaborate than ever. The big camp will be changed into a picture of early California, entirely Spanish, with an old mission, padres, senors, senoritas and Indians, and the transformation will come with the entrance of the Eastern man with his pickaxe and money. The club's star female impersonators, Charlie Field of Alameda, and Dick Hotaling, are to masquerade as bewitching Carmens, and the chefs are practicing on tortillas, tamales and frijoles, so they will be able to enter into the general color scheme. It all sounds awfully fascinating and different from anything we girls ever have a chance to enjoy, and don't I just wish that one of the masquerading guests could be

THE MEDDLER.

THE EBELL PROMENADE.

Everything is now in readiness for the promenade concert to be given Tuesday evening, June 10th, in the new library building by the Ebell Society for the benefit of the children's department. Music is to be the special feature of the evening and the committee in charge has secured the services of the Third Artillery Band of the Presidio. The musicians will wear the full dress uniform and will render a program especially prepared for the occasion.

The building itself is to be beautifully decorated on that night and each room in the building is to be artistically draped in colors and decorated in flowers. In each room there will also be dainty refreshments served by the hostess and her assistants.

The lighting fixtures in the children's room will not be connected in time for the promenade but President John A. Britton of the light company has consented to illuminate that room and also to see that proper lights are placed on the outside of the building.

Two works of art by local artists are to be placed on exhibition in the children's room. One is a beautifully painted picture of California popples by Miss Nicholl, a well known East Oakland artist. The picture has been framed and is to be sold for the benefit of the children's room. The other is a wonderfully made cedar chest, the work of Miss Laura McBride. This chest is also to be sold for the benefit of the children's room. Any one desiring information about both of either may apply to the Children's Room Committee. Ebell is and has been doing a most noble work in connection with this new library, and now the lovers of children and all interested in them have the opportunity upon the evening of June 10th of showing their interest and appreciation in this to be beautiful new department in our public library by attending the concert. Tickets have been placed on sale at Sherman & Clay's and Taft & Pennoyer's, and will also be on sale at the door on that evening.

The committee in charge has added the following to their list of enthusiastic workers: Mrs. E. W. Owen, Misses Eva Knight, May Coogan, Hazel Pierce, Ada Brown, Geraldine Scupham, Ethel McClymonds, Lucretia Burnham.

LUNING RECEPTION.

One of the largest and most representative gatherings of society people that have recently assembled in Oakland are present this afternoon at the "at home" given by Mrs. Oscar Luning at her beautiful home at 3355 Telegraph avenue. The reception is for the benefit of the vacation schools of the Oakland Club. It opened at 3 o'clock and closed at 5.

An interesting musical program, consisting of a whistling solo by Mrs. Sidney, a song by Miss Mabel Riegelman, and piano solos by Edward G. Streckler, is being rendered. Lercher's orchestra is in attendance and light refreshments were served during the earlier part of the afternoon.

In the receiving party are the directors of the Oakland Club, who are Mrs. John Bakewell, Mrs. George W. Bunnell, Mrs. C. S. Chamberlain, Mrs. W. S. Peters, Mrs. J. E. Harvey, Miss Harriet Nye, Miss Keene, Mrs. Rudolph, Mrs. E. C. Feeney and Mrs. Palmer.

Miss Mamie Murphy was quietly married to Elmer E. Hornberger at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. M. Murphy of 2511 Shattuck avenue, recently. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. K. Jenness of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The young couple left on an extended honeymoon through the southern part of the State.

MANDOLIN CLUB ENTERTAINED.

A SURPRISE PARTY.

Miss Genevieve Fore, one of the bride's-elect of the season, was the guest of honor at a surprise party planned by her friend, Miss Marietta Havens, at her home on Vernon Heights. Allen, Mrs. Beach Soule, Miss Gertrude Gould, Miss May Young, Miss Edith Gaskill, Miss Grace Baldwin, Miss Edith Selby, Miss Carolyn and Miss Anita Oliver, Miss Florence Yates.

TOWN TALK.

There are several exclusive stories in Town Talk this week. The tale of the inharmonious Does and their illustrious pedigree is told in five vivacious paragraphs. The Elingum Salon comes in for some bright satirical discussion. The newest society engagement is made known. All the gossip this week is of especial novelty, and a great deal of it is exclusive news. The departments are all entertaining. The miscellaneous pages are fuller than usual, and contain sketches of "Life"-like flavor, and jokes and verses. The story this week is a simple love tale charmingly phrased.

FLOWERS ON EXHIBITION.

A large bunch of beautiful white tree poppies (Romneya Coulteri) are attracting a great deal of attention today in the windows of the Board of Trade. These immense flowers are a pure white with a bright golden center. The petals are crimped and have the appearance of crimpled tissue paper. These handsome specimens are exhibited by J. Seulberger, and many of them measure eight inches in diameter.

DEFAULTS IN DIVORCE CASES.

Defaults of the defendants were entered today in the divorce suits of Alice Mary Strong against David Hudson Strong and Elsie Drysdale against John Drysdale.

OAKLANDS CONTINUE TO WIN IN THE SOUTH.

NEW DEAL MADE ON THE GOLF LINKS—BOWLING GAMES ON THE LOCAL ALLEYS.

With Buck Francks and Julius Streib, two of the brightest stars of the aggregation in the hospital, the Lohmanites experienced little difficulty in making it fourteen straight at Los Angeles yesterday. To the tune of 7 to 0 they took the measure of the Angel band with Smiling Schmidt in the box. Oscar Jones, the seraph twirler was touched up for eleven safties and his support will never go down in diamond history as gilt edged.

In fielding a high liner that came screeching down his way in the first inning, Francks broke one of the ligaments of his middle finger and was forced to go to the bench. Devereaux took his place as short: Dunleavy came in to third, and Cristall was sent out into left garden.

The Sacramentos cannot break the hoodoo. They out-batted and outplayed the Ponies at every stage of the game in San Francisco yesterday, but failure to bunch their singles lost them the game. Dowling and Glendon were the contending twirlers and both did effective work on the slab. Score San Francisco, 3; Sacramento, 1.

Lawler who has been released by Harris worked in center field for Fisher and in three times at bat lined out two hits and made the only run for the Senators.

McNichols has jumped his contract with the Harrisites. It was probably the drumbling of the release car that made him hop the traces for most all players figure that a jump is preferable to a bounce.

Shay, who is coming to the aid of the Ponies is expected the latter part of next week.

Fisher's unknown, found at Salt Lake City, is looked for tonight and may show in a Sacramento suit of clothes tomorrow afternoon.

The win yesterday put the Shetlands in second place in the pennant race. They now lead the Angels by half a game.

They say that Pete Lohman could not miss anything in the game at Los Angeles yesterday, and that Brick Devereaux played short like a two-year-old. He accepted all kinds of chances without a fumble; lined out a stinging three bagger and made three of the Lohmanites seven runs.

PASTIMES WIN.

ALAMEDA PLAYERS COULD NOT KEEP UP WITH THE PACE OF THE HOME TEAM.

The Pastimes are again the victors in the match game with the Alamedas last evening on the Oakland alleys.

The first game bowled by the Pastimes was a good one and finished with a score of 847. Total scores were 2335 to 2204—a margin of 131 pins.

The Pastimes are entered in the California Amateur League Tournament which will be bowled on the California Alleys in San Francisco. They are also out with a challenge to any five-man team in Alameda county to bowl a series of games for a fifty dollar trophy.

G. Dalke bowled two good games, after the match, scoring 205 and 207.

Scores are as follows:

INTEREST IN GOLF.

COMMITTEE WILL HAVE CHARGE OF THE LINKS AT ADAMS POINT.

A revival of interest in golf is promised in Oakland. From now the Adams Point links will be under a new management. In the past the original subscribers to the fund with which the club was organized—some twenty in number—managed all the affairs of the institution, although practically none of them was an active player. The natural result of such a state of affairs was that after the interest of charter members had waned with time the game began to lag, the course to be neglected, and the Oakland Golf Club, from being one of the foremost centers of the ancient and royal game on the coast, gradually dropped into a back position. Realizing the condition of affairs, and knowing that the only way to keep the sport going ahead would be to allow those most interested in the game to run it, the subscribers met this week and turned over the management of the course to P. S. Stratton, W. P. Johnson and R. M. Fitzgerald, three of the most representative golfers in the Oakland ranks. While the general affairs of the club will still be vested in the original subscribers, the new committee will take full charge of the course and the game itself.

Work of improving the course will be started at once, and after the course is widened and put into first class condition events will no doubt be arranged to encourage the interest of the playing members.

SPORTING NOTES.

JACK O'BRIEN KNOCKS OUT AL. NEILL IN THE THIRD ROUND.

A few minutes before last midnight the new sloop yacht Hazel S., owned by M. Y. Stewart and son of East Oakland, was launched from alongside the California Yacht Club house, where the new craft was constructed by Captain Edward Parrott. The yacht is 41 feet length over all, 14 feet beam and draws 5 feet of water. Her model is quite unique on this coast, so that local yachtsmen are curious to see what speed she will develop. The Hazel S. will fly the California Yacht Club burgee.

Jack O'Brien knocked out Al Neill of San Francisco in the third round in Chicago last night. Neill was outclassed and was badly whipped.

Alameda Boat Club will hold trial races in barge and outrigged skiff tomorrow over the regular course on Oakland creek. There are two intermediate and three junior crews desirous of representing the club in the annual regatta on Lake Merritt July 4.

Jeffries and Fitz-Simmons will not postpone their fight until August. The club wants to wait until the Pythians arrive.

Subventions to Merchant Ships of Different Nations.

The steamship lines of Great Britain receive little or no aid from the State, unless in very exceptional cases. Ships carrying the mails and others fitted to be used in time of war alone receive subventions of any special amount. On the other hand, Germany gives large bounties, in all over 8,000,000 francs yearly. The German East African line alone receives about 1,500,000 francs yearly, and the North German Lloyd receives 4,000,000 for its China service, and nearly 3,000,000 for its service to Australia. Russia subsidizes several lines, and Japan gives bounties and subventions liberally, especially to its lines to Europe, India and San Francisco. The problem in France is being studied anew as the policy of recent years has not proved advantageous. The question of subsidizing American steamship lines is as yet under advisement.

How Cuba Was Named.

Cuba is the name by which the island was originally known to the Lucayan Indians, who were with Columbus when he discovered it. One of its villages or cities was called by them Cubanacan, and it is reported that from the similarity of sounds Columbus, still supposing himself to be on the coast of Asia, imagined that this must be a city of Kubla Kahan, the Tartar sovereign celebrated by Marco polo. The survival of the original name for Cuba is a remarkable instance of persistence, as the island has been baptized and re-baptized many times since its European discovery. Columbus first called it Juana, in honor of Prince John, the son of Ferdinand and Isabella. After Ferdinand's death it was called in his memory, Ferdinandina. Subsequently this name was changed to Santiago, after St. James, the patron saint of Spain. Still later it was called Ave Maria, in honor of the Virgin Mary. But none of these names held, and the Indian name is still preserved.—Literary Era.

LIVERMORE, June 7.—The election of school trustees of the Livermore School District yesterday resulted in the election of Thomas Scott and George Beck, which is considered a victory for Miss Alice Dougherty over Principal H. C. Petray. The losing candidates were C. H. Wente and W. P. Thorn. The returns were: Scott, 231; Beck, 222; Wente, 195; Thorn, 187.

The election was bitterly contested, owing to the dispute between the principal and Miss Dougherty, who is the teacher of the eighth grade, over examination questions. Miss ougherty declared that questions preparade by Petray were too deep for her class, and after an investigation that was carried to the County Board of Education, the friends of the disputatnts decided to settle the matter at the polls.

WHERE CRIMINALS ARE HEROES.

The Gilbert and Ellice Islands form an interestlig group in the Pacific to the north of Fiji and to the east of Solomon Islands. They are low-lying, of coral formation, and are covered with cocoanut palms. They contain a population of about 500 foreigners and 35,000 natives. In the Ellice group there is almost a total absence of crime. Serious offenses in the Gilbert group among the natives are now generally confined to those arising from sour toddy drinking. During the last five years two murders only—both natives by natives—in the Gilbert group, have been committed. The measures taken to secure the murderers, their trial, sentence, and execution, no doubt have been powerful factors in checking murder among a race formerly given to committing murder on very slight provocation—and not infrequently as a pastime. Imprisonment is not followed by social ostracism, but, on the contrary, tends to increase social position. Discharged prisoners, on returning to their homes, are looked upon as traveled and experienced individuals.

AN ANSWER TO PRAYER.

Sol Smith Russell used to tell of three little nieces of whom he was very fond. They lived in Kansas City, and one afternoon he took the youngest tot for a walk. He also bought her some candy, saying she might have it when they reached home. The child urged: "Let's wun, Uncle Sol." but he pleaded that he was tired. Then the little one plumped down on her knees on the sidewalk and prayed: "O Dod, p'ease make Uncle Sol wun." The actor thought: "Well, its a question of my losing my dignity or of her losing faith in God." And so the pair ran as fast as they could. "But we walked together no more," he used to add.—Salt Lake Tribune.

CAUSES OF LEPROSY.

Dr. Johnathan Hutchinson, who recently returned to England after studying the causes of leprosy in South Africa, concludes that the primary cause of leprosy is the eating of badly cured salt fish, which is sent inland from the west and south coasts to the formers and industrial centers. He does not believe that leprosy is infectious or contagious in the accepted sense of these words, but holds that it can be communicated by food contaminated by lepers' hands. He suggests as prophyaxis legislative control of the fish-curing establishments, the diffusion of information in regard to the danger of communication and the establishment of isolation homes for lepers during the stage of the disease involving risk of contracting it.

HOW A WOMAN MADE SCHMITZ MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO.

Mrs. Crocker Would Not Let Her Husband Run —Stories of John Rosenfeld and Louis Sloss—Gubernatorial Contest.

BY THE KNAVE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—Here's Schmitz coming right on with a boom for there is no telling where he'll stop; and yet if it hadn't been for a woman Schmitz would have been beaten for Mayor and nobody would have thought of running the leader of the Columbia Theatre orchestra for the Governorship. The story of how fate works out a man's destiny is always interesting, and perhaps this little glimpse behind the scenes of politics will entertain the fatalists.

The Republican machine had won the last primaries. It had the convention cinched. It could nominate any man for Mayor it chose to name. But who was the man? Now, people have an idea that such things are all put up in advance; but they're not. Herrin and John Lynch, Dan Burns and Jere Burke were wrinkling their brows and thumbing the telephone book in the effort to find a suitable candidate—a reputable citizen who would "take program." And they were pretty well stumped. There was this objection to one man and that to another, and there was a beautiful program convention waiting to name anybody selected, but the nomination refused to light on any particular man.

"Why don't you name Henry Crocker?"

It was a well known newspaper man who suggested the name, and the machine leaders jumped at his suggestion. "Will you go over and sound Henand see if he'll take it?" they asked. The newspaper man agreed and over he went.

"The whole town is talking about you for Mayor," he said to Crocker effusively.

"It's strange I haven't heard of it then," replied Crocker, who is shrewd enough in his day and generation. But as the conversation went along the newspaper man could see that Henry was willing and even eager to make the run. So he went back to the bosses and said: "He's got the bait. Now you land him." Consequently they offered him the job. He agreed to run if his wife would consent.

Now, everybody knows that Henry Crocker would have been elected. He is exce[illegible]y popular, widely acquainted and co[illegible]ave made a great glad-hand campaign. Had he been nominated, Schmitz would now be back at the fiddle, and nobody would be mentioning him for the first place on the Republican ticket. But Mrs. Crocker put her foot down. She said Henry couldn't run, and that settled it. "Ould" Wells was taken up as a last resort on the suggestion of Dan Burns. He went out and made a fool of himself on the stump and by threatening to bolt the ticket, and Schmitz beat him and jumped into fame. So you see what a woman can do in making or unmaking a career.

As for the Gubernatorial nomination, Abe Ruef assured me positively this week that Schmitz would make no try for it unless he could be assured that his successor would be a labor union man. You see the labor union men want Schmitz to stay right where he is. They want him for just such emergencies as the street railroad strike. They do not look with a kindly eye on his gallivanting off after the Governorship. That was why Schmitz made his declaration in the Examiner that he would not run for Governor unless with the full permission of the labor union leaders

But the Supervisors would appoint his ccessor in case he was elected Gov-, and the labor unionists do not con- e Board of Supervisors. They are ll minority there. If they went e Democrats they might get a an named, but he'd first be d then a labor union man. Supervisors are of the d Schmitz hardly could line for a labor union not belong entirely to the machine. Consequently there are thorns in the path of Schmitz on his way to the Governor's chair. It hardly would do for him to leave the Mayoralty as a Republican and have his successor a Democrat, and that seems his only hope of having a union labor man succeed him.

Always when a big prize fight is about to take place there are a lot of prophets who rise up and predict a fake. This time there is no exception to the rule, but one ingenious seer has gone further than a mere prediction as to one fight and has mapped out a long campaign. His theory runs as follows:

Jeffries is to let Fitzsimmons whip him, incidentally taking in some of the money from the short end bets. Then Corbett is to come along with a challenge to the winner. Fitzsimmons is to let Corbett beat him, with the short end bets again lucrative for those on the inside. And then, with Corbett champion, the whole game is open again, and there can be fight after fight, with big purses and enormous crowds, until Jeffries has once more fought his way to the top and to a big fortune.

The idea is an ingenious one. Your Oakland man, Billy Delaney, has brains enough to have thought out such a campaign, though I doubt whether any of the others have. Against this scheme, however, is the hatred of any of the big fellows to lose the championship. That championship not only brings money, but it brings idolatry—the idolatry of women, and the listic champions hate to part with that more than to lose money.

However, the ingenious prophecy offers opportunities for conjecture, and it will be well worth while noting whether the man's early piety has been rewarded by the genuine prophetic gift.

In John Rosenfeld and Louis Sloss San Francisco has lost two of her finest characters. You may remember how some years ago Rosenfeld was forced to the wall. He failed. He might have sloughed off hundreds of thousands of dollars of debt. But he settled down to work, and in time things came his way again. Though legally not bound to pay his creditors at the time of his failure, he went right down the line and paid every last one of them with interest. No wonder men trusted him after that.

In fact, it was better business policy to trust him than to go into a contract with him. Said one of the heaviest shippers in the city this week: "John Rosenfeld supplied our steamers with thousands upon thousands of tons of coal and we never had so much as a scratch of the pen with him. He said he'd do the best he could for us, and he always did. If we had asked for a contract, his business instinct would have prompted him to charge us in a way that surely would have protected his interests. But putting him upon his honor we got the very best service and the most advantageous prices it was possible to obtain."

Louis Sloss had a similar character. His high honor never was questioned, and he had a gentle kindness all his own. The philosophy of his life was, "Make a friend wherever you can." Consequently he made friends everywhere, and people not only respected and admired, but loved him. He wore the fine old title of gentleman as if to the manor born.

With a twinkle in his kindly eye he used to tell of how his open-hearted philosophy once stood him in good and unexpected stead. In the earlier days there was on the list of the many who constantly came to him for financial help a ne'er do weel sort of chap to whom Sloss took quite a fancy. The fellow never could seem to make a hit in life, but Sloss kept helping him here and boosting him there until his friends protested. "Make a friend wherever you can," was his reply, and after a time the pensioner drifted on and out of San Francisco, and Sloss thought he had drifted entirely out of his life.

Some time thereafter Sloss was in Washington working over one of those big sealing contracts involving millions. He needed every friend he could get, for the opposition was strong. Things didn't look very bright. Then up came a man on Pennsylvania avenue and extended a joyous hand. It was the same chap so often helped in his seedy days in San Francisco, and Sloss rather expected another "touch."

"Well, what are you in Washington for?" asked the man. "Can I help you?"

Sloss briefly spoke about his sealing contract, never for a moment thinking he could get any help from his old-time pensioner.

"Why, that's in line with my committee," replied the man gleefully. "I can fix it for you with the department, I'm sure. You know I'm one of the Senators from ——."

Sure enough, he had come in as United States Senator from one of the recently admitted States, and he worked night and day for the man who had given him a helping hand when he was down at the heel. His assistance was invaluable, and no wonder Louis Sloss used the experience to point to younger men the lesson of his beautiful philosophy, "Make a friend wherever you can."

They are beginning to say that Mayor Schmitz is resorting to the old ministerial trick of "turning over the barrel" for his speeches. He has been exceptionally handy as an after-dinner orator, and has made a hit nearly every time he has made a talk. The Union League Club was quite won to him by his address beginning "Fellow Republicans." Then, when he went to the Pacific Union Club and talked before E. S. Harriman and the assembled millionaires, he was again applauded and patted on the back for his neatly turned phrases.

But on Thursday night, when he came to his address before the Liquor Dealers' Association, the critics caught him using part of the old Harriman banquet speech, and now they are saying he cannot grind out talk to order and has reached the limit of his originality. But as Ingersoll, most eloquent of recent Americans, was guilty of manifold repetitions, Schmitz may be pardoned for not being entirely original every time he tries his 'prentice hand at an address. Even General Barnes worked over one of his McKinley orations on the visiting newspaper men; and it can be said for Schmitz that with all his talking he hasn't yet put his foot in his mouth.

There has been a dreadful ruction among the wine men over the contract for supplying the champagne for the Mystic Shriners. Greenway and Wolff have been hammering at each other and exhausting every effort to secure the coveted contract. Greenway has won out, but now his rivals declare he made a dreadful sacrifice to get the contract.

The Mystic Shriners need a great deal of "zem-zem water" to carry them over the burning sands, and it was said the San Francisco hosts would need nearly 200 cases of champagne for their entertaining. Now Greenway's rivals are declaring that to get the contract he furnished 100 cases for $30.68 a case and donated seventy cases "free, gratis, for nothing."

But however the wine men may scrap in their eagerness to head the list of sales and imports, those Mystic Shriners are going to be given the time of their lives, and the "zem-zem water" will be poured over the burning sands in a bubbling, seething flood. THE KNAVE.

IN THE DAY'S WORK

At last in high places, the moral worth of the victory of Admiral Louis Kempff is beginning to be recognized. Admiral Kempff's home is in Oakland, here are his family, intimate friends and relatives, so the true sketch published by the Outlook will be of special interest in this home circle:

"Is the moral grandeur of a fighter, who for his country's sake refuses to fight, less than that of him who sinks an enemy's fleet? A hero and patriot who stood true to all our noblest traditions in the hour of temptation, when the highest judicial poise and practical wisdom were necessary, is Rear-Admiral Louis Kempff, a veteran of forty years' service. In command of the American naval forces in China on the night of June 16, 1900, he refused, because it was un-American, to join the Russian, British, German, French, Italian, Austrian and Japanese allies in bombarding the Taku forts. Such an act wantonly declared war on China. It was not with the American a question of size or armament, for he had the Newark and Monocacy, and of the thirty-six ships in the combined fleet only eight small ships could and did operate. It was upon Kempff's wise and patriotic action that President McKinley and Secretary Hay could and did base their subsequent diplomatic action, the wisdom and propriety of which, amply vindicated before the world, have given the United States a leading position in China.

I asked one of the very highest of our sea-fighters, still on duty, what he would have done had he been in Admiral Kempff's place. One of Farragut's aids, but now gray with forty years of honorable service in all the seas, he answered immediately, "Oh, I am quite sure that my feelings would have prompted me to join with the Europeans and Japanese, and I should have sailed in; but, nevertheless, Admiral Kempff was entirely right. He did the only justifiable thing." "It was a sudden emergency," I remarked, "and I want you to tell me whether Admiral Kempff acted by orders of his superiors in Washington, or whether he guided his course according to his own conviction." "It was entirely at his own promptings that Admiral Kempff acted," said the Rear-Admiral. "There was no time to hear from Washington, and so Kempff acted in just the right way." Then he added, of his own accord, "I have known Kempff for many years, and have been impressed with his manhood and his qualities as an officer. He has grown steadily in my estimation, and I justify him fully."

Let us look at the whole situation in the cool light of history. What Louis Kempff did was to sacrifice personal impulse, and that desire for glory and fame which is the vital spring of every soldier, and to act with true patriotism—a patriotism that has no connection with popular huzzahs, but which allies itself to that of the noblest and most unselfish lovers of their country, from Washington to McKinley.

Our national relations with China had always been peaceful. Even as colonists under the flag of Great Britain, our fathers' commerce with the Middle Kingdom enriched our land. Within a few months of the signing of the treaty of peace in 1783, the American ship Empress, loaded with ginseng, sailed on Washington's birthday to Canton, China, with one of the young artillery officers of the revolution, Major Gray, as supercargo. He raised the new flag, and direct trade opened at once. Many Americans made fortunes, and Chinese names appeared on our maps, especially in the new West, where Pekin and Canton (in Ohio e. g.) are frequent names. Our own men of war joined with British ships to strengthen the hands of the Chinese government, to make the sea paths and commerce safe. They improved piracy off the face of the earth, but never did any of our officers join with French or British in "entangling alliances" to disturb Chinese order, or to force commerce at the cannon's mouth. When, in 1856, the Chinese gunners in the Barrier forts, ignorant of our flag, fired upon Americans, Commodore Foote, in the old wooden sloop of war Portsmouth (now lying in the North river at Hoboken), taught the Chinamen some lessons with his 68-pounder shells, and our marines and sailors captured the main fort after a gallant charge. The skirmish was the only passage of arms ever engaged in by American and Chinese forces, and when the Chinese commissioner, Yeh, said to our minister, Dr. Parker, "There is no matter of strife between our respective nations," and asked that "the fashion of the flag which American ships employ be clearly defined," the whole incident was closed. Instead of demanding apologies and guarantees, in British style, the Americans were content with a practical lesson promptly delivered on the spot. When Great Britain a little later asked the United States to cooperate for further war, our answer was "No," according to the policy initiated by Washington and the fathers.

What was the situation in June, 1900? A small mountain of books has been written since that time about the boxer and other disturbances in China, but they lack moral and perspective most woefully. They do not make clear the fact that even the siege of the le-

STOLEN DIAMONDS

Located and Restored to Owner Through Ismar's Wonderful Psychic Power.

On the evening of February 10th last, some one entered the rooms of Mrs. Grenwood in the Western Addition in San Francisco, and stole a case of diamonds valued at $1,000. Private detectives were detailed on the case and, after three months' fruitless search, reported that they could find absolutely no clew to the whereabouts of the gems.

Upon the suggestion of a friend, Mrs. Grenwood consulted with Ismar, the Great Egyptian Seeress, on May 20, and was told that the diamonds had been taken by a lunatic, who was at that time occupying a cabin in the mountains near the Tesla coal mines in Alameda county; that the diamonds were hidden beneath the floor of the cabin, and that the thief was then upon the point of abandoning his abode.

Mrs. Grenwood, accompanied by her husband and his brother, repaired to the place described by Ismar, and found everything just as the great seeress had detailed it. The thief, however, suspicious upon discovering their approach, fled. But, thanks to the mysterious and wonderful powers of discernment of Ismar, Mrs. Grenwood recovered her diamonds.

A press representative called upon the Grenwoods in their apartments last evening, and the details of the case were fully and frankly discussed by Mrs. Grenwood.

"Ismar is certainly a marvelous and skilful woman," said Mrs. Grenwood. "She seems to be able to fathom any mystery brought to her notice, no matter how perplexing or apparently hopeless; and then she's so sympathetic and yet so mysteriously great."

Ismar herself, however, merely stated to the reporter that all business or consultations between herself and those who sought her was strictly confidential.

If you have troubles, of any nature whatever; love troubles, domestic unhappiness, business perplexities; if you are in doubt concerning business ventures and wish to be put right; if you want to know what your future holds in store for you; if you want to know something about the man you ought to marry or the woman—as the case may be—don't let a timid nature, or false and unreliable advice, restrain you, but call upon Ismar, the world's greatest and most celebrated seeress, and you will learn something that will be of lasting benefit to you. If you have failed, Ismar can tell you how to succeed; if you are successful, Ismar can tell you how to augment your success and perpetuate it. Her services will be of inestimable value to you in any event. Write to her if you can't call. Her readings by mail are as successful as those in person. Three questions answered for $1.00. Full life reading $5.00. Her office is located in the Vendome, 104 Market street, opposite Cafe Zinkand, San Francisco. Office hours, 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.; Sundays, 10 to 12.

gations and the great military and naval movements were of small importance for the future of China and the world compared with the inward struggle between the native progressive and reactionary parties. Grant what has been said about the collusion of the Peking "government" in the boxer uprising, it is certain that until the firing upon the Taku forts by the allies the situation was simply that of a mob besieging the legations. So long as this was the case, the progressive Chinese statesmen in Peking could hold their pro-Boxed colleagues at bay and maintain peace. But from the moment the allies showed the awful power of modern shell fire in the Taku forts, their hands were paralyzed. They "lost face." Hostilities by the fleet meant only one thing—a declaration of war against China; full justification in Chinese eyes, of the course of the anti-Chinese statesmen in Peking, and the letting loose of the regular Chinese army against the foreigners; for self-preservation is the first law of nature.

Admiral Kempff knew the situation well. He maintained American traditions. His action gave the United States Government its fulcrum, on which the levers of diplomacy were to work. It justified Mr. Hay's superb statesmanship. In moral worth, the victory of Kempff was one equal to Dewey's or Sampson's—or Schley's—and he deserves from the American people, and especially from the American Government, due recognition of his righteous and patriotic act.

It seems to be conceded that in the recent debate on the Philippines, in the United States Senate, the Democrats had the best of the argument. This is astonishing, in view of the fact that the strong debaters of the Senate are on the Republican side. It is only another evidence that oratory is really strong only when it is in the right. No amount of evidence can make our practical betrayal of the confidence of the Filipinos, and the sneaking methods aided by treachery and forgery employed in the capture of Aguidaldo, other than dishonorable. As for the code enforced by the Philippine commission, making "the promulgation of any political opinion or policy" sedition, that could be justified only under absolute despotism, and wherever that is necessary the flag of the republic should not float.

Truxton Beale concludes in "The Forum" as follows:

"With the facilities offered by the modern system of ocean transportation, the Chinese could, in an incredibly short time, if the traffic paid, pour in upon our land a tourbid flood that would submerge a great portion of our laboring class. We should have ultimately, then, a hybrid type of civilization, half European, half Asiatic, with a large proportion of white population unemployed, and most of the remainder degraded to the level of the groaning millions of Asia—the type of society in which progress to a better state would be an impossibility.

Any one who reads President Hadley's book on 'The Education of the American Citizen,' and learns from it what qualities must now be cultivated in order to maintain more than the mere form of free institutions, will realize that the Chinaman can have no place in our social system. The highest forms of government require the highest races of people. To adapt the Chinaman to our institutions we should be obliged to begin by eradicating his religion, superstitions, traditions, ideals and customs—all of which have been so welded in his mind after four thousand years of inheritance as to have become a part of himself."—Oakland Saturday Night.

CONGRESSIONAL CONTESTS ATTRACTING ATTENTION.

Metcalf Will Be Returned From Third—How it Looks in Other Districts—Political Gossip of the State.

BY GEO. F. HATTON.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 7.—Everyone is watching the dispatches for news as to when Congress will adjourn, for now that the Philippine bill is out of the way and a vote is about to be taken on the Nicaragua measure it looks as if the legislators will soon be able to pack their grips and say farewell to Washington. A month ago it was thought by the members that adjournment would be accomplished by the 15th of June, but that is an impossibility now, and they will be in luck if they succeed in landing at their firesides by the opening of July.

It is hardly necessary to state that the California Congressmen are very anxious to get back to the Coast as speedily as possible, for this is election year, and the fact that the new apportionment has gone into effect means much more work than usual. A Congressman is, in truth, campaigning all the time. As his term only lasts two years he scarcely has time to rest up from one canvass before he has to start in on the next and so it goes, year in and year out indefinitely.

As the First and Eighth Congressional Districts in the extreme North and the extreme south respectively are at present free from Congressional representatives the fights that prevail there are naturally much hotter than in the rest of the State and it would take a wizard to even guess at what the outcome will be in those sections. In the First District all the skirmishing to date has been conferred to Humboldt County where ex-Senator Gillette and Senator Selvage are indulging in a political rough-and-tumble. There is no occasion to go over the grounds that has led to the present complications there for the story is an old one in political circles. Briefly stated, Gillette who has in the past been backed by the Humboldt County organization is now securing the support of the Bull-Campbell faction, while Selvage who heretofore has been on friendly terms with that clique is now fighting it to a finish and endeavoring to secure a transfer of the local leadership to the hands of himself and his friends.

This merry order in Humboldt County is naturally having the result of causing other would-be Congressmen to cast sheep's eyes at the prize which undoubtedly would have gone to Humboldt had they all stood pat up that way. The district has a natural division with Plumas bounding the southern or mining section and strange to say the delegates are almost evenly divided, the northern counties having 45 delegates, while the southern ones muster up a total of 53. Furthermore their sympathies are not in common, for the lower counties are mainly interested in mining lumber, agriculture and lumber constitute the chief lines of business at the northern end.

While there are no absolute candidates in this southern end of the First District there are nevertheless some names being mentioned and if there should develop a positive aspirant in that quarter he will doubtlessly be one of those who are now being considered. District Attorney U. S. Webb, of Quincy, Plumas County, is heard of in this regard and then there is Judge Walling of Nevada City, who has been to the front upon previous occasions.

Frank Solinsky, of Amador, was by many considered the logical candidate from the southern end but his business is such that he does not feel like moving. He has just formed a partnership with Frank Wehe, of Sierra County, so in view of all these conditions it is extremely improbable that his name will go before the convention. Some have been figuring that Senator John F. Davis, of Amador, might drift out of the Senatorial fight into the Congressional one and so rumor goes with little to build itself or save the ideas of those who think they understand that particular situation.

Whoever the Republican candidate may be, it is almost a sure thing that Caminetti will run against him. Caminetti has had one good taste of Congressional life and he thirsts for another so it is certain that he will get around pretty lively when the vote-getting contest starts up. He has a big handicap to face though, for averages show that the normal Republican strength of the district is about fourteen hundred.

THE EIGHTH.

In the Eighth District, at the other end of the State, the candidates are more pronounced, for they have all been hard at it for several months. The district is divided by Los Angeles and is so constituted that if the counties south of Los Angeles combine they can carry off the nomination. However, in the past it has proved impossible to bring them together so the northern candidates are doing their figuring upon the theory that history will repeat itself.

Senator Smith of Bakersfield is doing all the hard work at the northern end, for although City Attorney Booth of Santa Barbara is in the field nothing has been done by him outside of his own county. Smith, however, is touring here, there and everywhere and is building up an organization that he confidently expects will secure him the necessary votes the other side of Los Angeles.

In San Diego and Riverside counties there are some well-defined candidacies. The former county is at present the battle ground of three aspirants—Senator Nutt, D. C. Collier Jr. and Judge Luce. Nutt is the candidate of the Hardy wing of the party down that way while Collier who was formerly with Hardy is now fighting him to a finish in every direction. Judge Luce has just retired from a four years' term as postmaster and when his candidacy was sprung it was thought that it would appeal strongly to both factions. At present it is hard to say how the San Diego fight will come out, for the three camps all claim victory and each has plausible arguments in support of its own particular claim.

Over in Riverside, Captain Daniels is hard at work. At one time it looked as if he would have a conflict on hand in his own county by reason of the candidacy of Judge Noyes for the Supreme Bench but it is said that this has all been straightened out by Noyes declaring that he would not stand in Daniels' way but would instead aid him in putting up a delegation. Daniels therefore seems certain to start out with Riverside at his back and reports show that he is now busily engaged in trying to reach out into the neighboring counties.

The Democratic candidate in the Eighth District may possibly be T. O. Toland of Ventura, at present a member of the State Board of Equalization. Toland defeated George Arnold the Republican nominee at the polls four years ago and as his friends claim that he has a large personal following throughout the district they are urging him to make the run.

THE SECOND—COOMBS.

In the six other districts it would be a reasonably safe guess to say that the present representatives will be returned. Frank Coombs in the Second appears to be without opposition for the nomination, for although the name of Dr. Hennessy of the Napa Asylum is occasionally heard as a candidate it is not believed that he will give Coombs battle. Jo Sproul of Chico who broke lances at the polls with Coombs last time is said to be willing to try conclusions again, relying upon the belief that in the reapportionment the make-up of the district will redound more to Democratic interests.

THE THIRD—METCALF.

It is "dollars to doughnuts" that Victor Metcalf will be returned in the Third. His prestige as a member of the Ways and Means Committee will be an additional factor in his canvass which was a sure thing anyhow, for his district consists of Alameda, Contra Costa and Solano and the first named controls the Convention. Even if it did not, Metcalf would have nothing to fear, for Solano and Contra Costa are almost as loyal to him as his home county.

Hiram Luttrell of Oakland wants the Democratic nomination in the Third and thinks that if he gets it the Labor party will back him. The name of Warren English is also heard as a possible candidate.

THE FOURTH—KAHN.

Julius Kahn seems to have the right of way again in the Fourth. The coast is certainly clear for him as far as the Republican nomination is concerned and his sole trouble will be to head off a possible Labor combination. Fire Commissioner Parry, a direct representative of the Labor element is willing to run and occasionally the name of E. J. Livernash of the Examiner is heard. Kahn thinks that the work he did at Washington for Chinese Exclusion entitles him to the labor vote and he is going to make a big bid for it no matter who runs against him.

THE FIFTH—LOUD.

In the Fifth Eugene Loud is contending with the old-time stories that he cannot get the Republican nomination but as he has heard them all before and has invariably won at the finish he is not as fearful of them as might be imagined. He does not consider that Santa Clara is lost to him by any means and as San Francisco controls the Convention he is hopeful anyhow.

Senator Wolfe is a candidate at the San Francisco end and the story is told that one of the Hayes brothers will run at Santa Clara. There is nothing definite, however, at this time and when Loud comes home he will try to make up a combination that will give him strength with both factions.

THE SIXTH—NEEDHAM.

Woods of Stockton and Needham of Modesto are both in the new Sixth District but the former will not contest the nomination with Needham who will have no opposition in the Republican camp. As the district is very close Needham is however compelled to keep a watchful eye on the Democratic maneuvers and his chief concern is in that direction. The sky has cleared somewhat by the retirement of Judge Conley whose candidacy was long and loudly heralded but who withdrew when he found his constituents did not like the idea of his seeking another office while on the bench. W. B. Nutter of Stockton is now the man Needham is watching closely, though he is figuring on danger in another quarter, for once in a while the rumor goes around that Ex-Lieutenant Governor Jeter of Santa Cruz will take the field.

THE SEVENTH—McLACHLAN.

McLachlan seems to have everything his own way in the Seventh. The reapportionment gives him Los Angeles county as a district and as he carried it with ease last time he does not see any reason why he should not do so again. There is no occasion to consider the Democratic nominee as the district is one of the strongest Republican in the State.

HERE AND THERE.

Senator Frank Leavitt is taking a flying pleasure trip to San Diego.

Sheldon G. Kellogg whose death was hourly expected on Monday last is out of danger. He took a favorable turn at the last moment and in all probability will now steadily move on to recovery.

Senator Tyrrell and Assemblyman Rutherford of Nevada county will be in town next week attending the session of the Mystic Shriners. The Masonic gathering will cause the heading here of lots of prominent politicians from all parts of the State.

Lieutenant Governor Neff is in Placer county, having deserted his town headquarters for a few days at his up-country home.

Colonel Burns returned yesterday from a visit to his new ranch at Hopland. He is very enthusiastic about this latest property which in his opinion will develop into one of the finest thoroughbred farms in the West.

W. H. Metson is in Yosemite Valley.

Colonel Frank Drew of Elk, Mendocino county is down doing a little politics. Budd for Governor and Lawlor for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court are the two matters nearest his heart.

T. A. Roseberry, Receiver of the Land Office at Susanville, is in town.

Jesse Marks who has been badly under the weather is out again.

Harbor Commissioner Mackenzie left yesterday for an excursion in the interior of the State.

M. J. Laymance returned this week from a fishing trip on the Truckee. The trout season opened at midnight June 1st and by 11 o'clock that morning he had succeeded in landing about 200 pounds of fish. He is very proud of his achievement especially so as the feat was performed upon a Sunday and hence the fish markets were not open.

Ex-Senator D. C. Withington is up from San Diego. He is figuring on running for the Legislature again but has by no means reached a conclusion on the subject.

District Attorney Webb of Plumas county is in town.

HIS FIRST CASE.

The trials and tribulations of legal pleadings have furnished newspaper stories for so long a period that next to the mother-in-law joke the subject stands first in the list of oft-told tales. However there is always something new under the sun and San Francisco can take the credit of the latest thing in this line.

Among the massive-brained youths who passed the Supreme Court examination a few months ago, was E. A. Clawson, a well known Yolo County politician. He determined to tackle the top ring of the ladder at the onset and take chances of being forced down a few rings in tour rather than climb up the golden steps in country practice. He accordingly rented pretentious offices in one of the Market street office-buildings and then sat down and waited.

It was a weary task but he had nothing else to do, so although no one hunted his door but the rent collector and an individual with whom he was disputing a laundry bill he kept up heart and sang "nic desperasdum" to himself as he would go home at nights after a long day's vigil. Once a man nearly got into the office with a case by mistake, but apart from that there was nothing to break the dull monotony and the days fast sped into weeks and then became months only to find him still waiting.

At last, victory! It was a dull, cloudy day; one more inclined to promote despair than to add wings to confidence. Clawson was committing to memory the names of all the Jewish Kings mentioned in the Old Testament, when suddenly there came a loud, peremptory tap at the door. In response to his invitation to enter, a red-faced, bald-headed, man appeared upon the scene.

"Are you Mr. Clawson," he asked with his hand upon his hip pocket.

"Indeed I is," replied the young attorney.

"I am glad to hear that for I have some legal business with you," remarked the stranger fishing down into his pocket. Clawson's eyes glistened like a pair of flapjacks. Visions of the long anticipated fee flashed radiantly through his mind and then just as he was wondering how much he ought to charge, down went his castle in the air into a mass of ruins.

"You've been sued by the American Laundry Company," said his visitor. "Here is the summons and a copy of the complaint," handing him a couple of documents.

"It's pretty hard luck when a lawyer's first case is to defend himself," remarked Clawson when telling the story to his private secretary, yesterday.

"How did it come out?" was asked.

"Oh, I won it all right but the judge ruled against me and I decided to pungle and get the proposition out of the way. It was taking up too much of my time." HATTON.

RARE STAMPS AND COINS.

The Jefferson Half Dollar of 1804 a Scarce Silver Piece.

According to experienced coin collectors and numismatists, the rarest of American silver coins is the 1804 dollar and half dollar issued during Jefferson's administration. Several of these coins turned up recently. The rarest of American gold coins are the $2, $5, $10 and $20 gold pieces of 1822, while in postage stamps the rarest are the peculiar 1, 2 and 5 cent stamps of 1862. These stamps are perfectly round and fit into a little circular tin shield, which, by arrangement with the Government, were made at the time by a manufacturer of cooking flavors of the name of Burnett, whose advertisement appears on the back. Protecting the face of the stamp from the moisture or from being soiled or torn is a circular disk of mica, that fits under the rim of the metal shield, holding the stamp firmly in place.

These stamps were issued mainly for the soldiers of the Union Army and were accepted in payment for small purchases at their full face value and as readily as coins. Protected by the transparent mica disk, through which one could see the denomination of the stamp on one side and by a tin shield on the other; they could be carried by the soldiers in any pocket through rain and sun without injury to the stamp inclosed within. This curious stamp case was invented by Burnett. When anyone wanted to use the stamp on a letter he tore off the mica covering and took out the stamp, throwing away the tin shield, which was of no value in itself. These stamps are now very rare.—From the Chicago Chronicle.

A CASE OF VICE VERSA.

When Archbishop Patrick J. Ryan, of Philadelphia, who has been appointed a member of the Board of Indian Commissioners by the President, was a very young priest he was stationed at a parish in St. Louis, where Archbishop Kenrick presided over a diocese. The latter lived in a small, unpretentious house, scarcely in keeping with his position in the church.

One day when Father Ryan was passing the house of the archbishop, accompanied by a Chicago priest, who was visiting the Mound City, he pointed out the house as the residence of the head of the local church. The Chicago priest said with surprise:

"Why, you should see the splendid residence we have in Chicago for our archbishop!"

"Yes," responded Father Ryan, "but you should see the splendid archbishop we have in St. Louis for our residence." —New York Times.

JOE JEFFERSON APPREHENSIVE.

Joseph Jefferson is a firmly-established favorite at Yale, where he annually delivers an informal address before the undergraduates on the afternoon preceding his appearance at the Hyperion theatre. Last year Mr. Jefferson was taken by a senior to "Mory's," the otherdox chophouse that is one of the landmarks of Yale. The rooms are mellow with age and rich with tradition and are generally conducive to reminiscences. Mr. Jefferson was discussing the life to come and was asked by his student host:

"Mr. Jefferson, it is said that we shall have the same character of work in the next world as on earth. Do you expect to be an actor in heaven?"

"Well," replied Mr. Jefferson, "I'll tell you. I am afraid that if I reach the golden gates St. Peter will shake his head and say: 'For heaven's sake, Joe, change your roles.'"—New York Times.

MINSTRELSY WILL MAKE HAYWARDS LAUGH TONIGHT.

The Program Outlined By League of Cross Cadets.

BOYS RUN INTO BY A STREET CAR.

HAYWARDS, June 7.—The minstrel show to be given as a benefit for All Saints' Church will take place tonight at the Haywards Opera House. The show will be presented by the League of the Cross Cadets, Company E, of Oakland.

The proceeds of the entertainment will be used in making improvements at the church. Owing to the purpose in view and the merit of the performance, which has met with great success in Oakland, a crowded house is expected. The company presenting the program includes more than forty members, all of whom will assist in the performance.

Aside from the regular show, a special musical program will be rendered. Ice cream and cake will be served by the ladies after the performance.

One feature of the entertainment will be a reading by Miss Quinn.

RAN INTO BY A CAR.

Ned Kelsey and Fred Turner, who reside at the Occidental Hotel, met with an accident Wednesday afternoon which came near resulting seriously for them. The boys were driving near the street car track and, not being aware that a car was approaching from behind, drove very near the track. As the car passed, the step caught one of the wheels of the cart, and in an instant the outfit was overturned.

When the boys scrambled out from beneath their cart it was discovered that they were not injured. The cart and horse also escaped injury.

A BICYCLE WRECK.

Miss Maude Lawrence, while riding along B street on her bicycle last Wednesday, was struck by a wheen ridden by Jack Webster and was seriously injured. Neither of the riders saw the other until the collision took place. The young lady was thrown violently to the ground, sustaining a dislocation and fracture of her left ankle. Mrs. Lawrence will be confined to her home for some time.

THE WHELTON MARRIAGE.

Miss Nora Stanton and Andrew Whelton were married at All Saints' Church this week. Miss Mamie Conley of San Francisco attended the bride, while John Stanton was best man. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Lally. Mrs. Whelton is well known in Haywards, where she has resided for a number of years. Mr. Whelton is a resident of San Leandro, where he is in the harness business. After a wedding trip through the southern part of the State Mr. and Mrs. Whelton will reside in San Leandro.

PING-PONG PARTY.

A ping-pong party was given at the residence of G. S. Langan last Wednesday evening. Other games with music and refreshments went to make up a delightful evening. Those present, were: Dr. and Mrs. A. J. Powell, Mrs. G. Trelfell, Misses F. Cooper, B. Freeman and N. Arnold, Mrs. G. S. Langan, Messrs. H. Powell, J. Riis, E. Haas, James Cooper.

THE FOUR O'CLOCK CLUB.

The last meeting of the season given by the Four O'Clock Club took place this week at the home of Mrs. F. W. Browning. An enjoyable time was passed by the members, the game of ping-pong occupying most of the evening. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, Misses Maguir Cushman, Gillespie and Kavanaugh, Dr. and Mrs. Browning.

SCHOOL CLOSES.

The Castro Valley school closed this week for the summer vacation. The following pupils graduated this term: Emeline Parsons, Edna Soares, Frank Soares, Joseph Almanda, Walter Dettmar, Chas. Nordstom.

LETTERS OF GUARDIANSHIP.

Today Attorneys Crosby and Ryker filed the application of Mrs. Mary Alice Proctor for letters of guardianship of her three minor children, Hattie E., Alberta and Alice E. Proctor. Mrs. Proctor is the widow of the late B. E. Proctor, who had resided in this district for a great many years.

PARTED FOREVER.

Or, the Cruel Ultimatum of Mullagatawny Miggs, Stern Parent.

The light burned dim in the parlor of the Miggs mansion. Two persons were in the room, but furniture for one was more than ample for both.

The plaid coatsleeve of Leander J. Bolingbroke was wrinkled about the slender waist of Cleopatra Miggs, fairest of the fair, and heiress to a barrel of money. Her shapely head lay on Leander J.'s waistcoat as if she might be sizing up the chances of his being able to stand for an insurance policy. And the beating of their hearts was all the sound they heard.

Until after awhile. Then another sound was heard. It came from the back stairs. It was a sound as of the tread of footsteps. It came and it came. It was headed for that parlor.

Leander J. recognized the sound. He rose and turned up the light. Cleopatra sought a chair less adjacent.

The door opened. On the threshold stood the proud head of the house, Mullagatawny Miggs, Cleopatra's pa.

"Good evening, Mr. Miggs," said Leander J.

"Good evening, Bolingbroke," responded the proud Miggs, and his accent on the "broke" was apparent.

Then there was a pause that weighed a ton.

Presently Leander J. came to. He had been a collector for a house that sold wash boilers on the installment plan, and hard propositions were his forte.

"Mr. Miggs," said he, "your daughter loves me and I love her. It's up to you, now, to say when she shall be mine."

The proud Mullagatawny Miggs lifted his good right hand aloft and then lifted his voice.

"She shall be yours, young man," said he, "when the New Yorks fetch the pennant home!"

Cleopatra rose. She pressed her brow. She took a lap or two around the room. Then the full import of her stern father's cruel ultimatum broke upon her.

"Parted forever!" she cried, and went down with a dull, sickening thud.

Love's young dream had been knocked higher than the price of beef.

FOR CUTTING IT SHORT.

Barber—You're next, sir. Hair cut?

Peppery—Yes, and here, put this in your pocket for yourself.

Barber—Thank you, sir. I don't often get my tip before I begin, and I appreciate——

Peppery—I don't want you to consider that a tip, but "hush money."—Philadelphia Press.

HEAVY FREIGHT TRAFFIC FROM THE OAKLAND YARDS.

Big Shipments of Lumber, Fruit and Vegetables Going East—Superiority of Oil For Steamer Fuel.

Universal activity marked the business at the West Oakland yards in lumber and supplies going East. Over a million and a half feet of lumber were handled at Long Wharf, and a corresponding activity was present at the transfer platform in merchandise, early fruit and vegetables.

As usual Alameda county was to the front in the number of cars shipped. There are about 1,000 cars per week leaving for Eastern States with the early products of Alameda county and immediate vicinity.

BUILDING CONTINUES.

The building boom continues, and rush orders are still in force. Despite the enormous amount of redwood and pine which arrived during the week, it is all gone, and contractors are asking for more.

SUGAR TRADE.

The sugar trade shows no tendancy toward diminuation. Upward of $600,000 worth of the Hawaiian product was handled at the wharf this week, New York taking most of the raw sugar.

AUSTRALIAN COAL.

About 15,000 tons of coal arrived from the antipodes this week. There are several large cargoes on the way.

ENGINES FOR HAWAII.

A features of the week's trade was the shipment of four narrow guage locomotives for use in our Island possessions.

WILL HAVE TO BURN OIL TO MEET COMPETITION.

The success of ocean going oil burning steamers has been made final by the trip of the sugar steamer "Enterprise," under the guidance of Captain Miller.

The "Enterprise" is the handsomest and swiftest vessel engaged in the Hawaiian sugar trade. She has a cargo capacity of 5,000 tons, which makes her among the largest steamers on the coast.

Thirty days ago she left San Francisco on her first trip with oil for fuel. She made the journey to Hawaii in fast time, and on the return trip, with 90,000 bags of sugar, she showed what oil can do for steamers.

Captain Miller, in speaking of the performance of his ship, said:

"On the Eastern coast the best coal is reserved for the use of steamers. On the Pacific coast the coal is poor. The change to oil is an improvement on both kinds of fuel. During the entire trip the oil worked like a charm. I always had all the steam I could use, and could have made more. There is simply no comparison between oil and coal. The vessels which cling to coal as a fuel will not be able to compete with the oil burning steamers. In the matter of speed, steam, facilities for handling fuel, oil is as far ahead of steam as gas is ahead of candle light."

Another advantage oil has over coal, is that vessels may obtain fuel at sea in any kind of weather without taking chances of sending one of the boats to the bottom. In coaling war ships, for instance, it is necessary to wait for good weather, as the coal barges must be brought along side the vessel. With oil and a rubber hose, the matter of fueling the ship is reduced to a simple problem. The supply boat may stand off a hundred feet or more while the process of fueling is going on. The "Enterprise," aside from burning oil, is worthy of notice on account of the elegance of her furnishings. The decks are laid with velvet carpets, the saloon and cabins are supplied with all the modern conveniences and are lighted with electricity, as well as heated by steam. On the promenade deck there are scores of tropical plants. Although the "Enterprise" carries only thirty passengers, she is one of the handsomest boats in Pacific waters.

TIDAL CANAL WLL BE FINISHED IN SIX WEEKS.

Excavations in the tidal canal will be completed in six weeks. The Southern Pacific Company will then be compelled to raw on other places for earth to continue the work of reclamation of the West Oakland tidal lands.

The big fill at the yards is virtually completed. It is estimated that in all a little over 2,000,000 tons of earth have been removed from the canal and deposited along the mole.

The work of reclaiming the ground will not stop with the completion of the canal. The company intends removing a portion of the mountain at Port Costa. This will be used in widening the piers and in doing away with death curve by filling in from Sixteenth street to the mole.

It is thought that the work of building the new machine shops and of laying additional tracks to the mole will not be commenced until thework of filling in has been finally completed.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS DUE TO OIL BURNERS.

J. V. Dunkey, of the machine shops, was accidentally burned by an oil burning engine while peering into the furnace. The flames shot out of the fire box and enveloped him instantly. Fortunately his clothing did not catch fire. As it was he was so badly burned that it was necessary to remove him to the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco for treatment.

Fireman Ward also met with a similar accident. His face and hands were scorched by the oil flame. He was treated by a local physician for the burns.

Jack Ennis, of the machine shops, was severely injured Tuesday by an air drill. The drill caught in his overalls and before he could extricate himself had bored a portion of his leg out. He was removed to the company's hospital for treatment.

MOTIVE POWER OFFICE TO BE TRANSFERRED.

H. J. Small, superintendent of motive power at Sacramento, and W. H. Ball, chief of the mechanical auditing department at Sacramento, will change their headquarters from Sacramento to San Francisco. The change is made so that the heads of the departments will be in closer touch with the central offices of the company.

The changes will be made the latter part of this month.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WILL MAINTAIN INFORMATION STAND.

During the Elks' Street Fair and Carnival the Southern Pacific Company will maintain an information bureau for the accommodation of the public. All information relative to hotels, travel, streets, amusement, etc., will be distributed gratuitously.

GREAT PREPARATIONS ARE BEING MADE FOR SHRINERS.

The Southern Pacic Company is making great preparations to handle the huge aggregation of Mystic Shriners who will begin to pour into San Francisco on Sunday evening. The excursion trains are now at Ogden and will begin to arrive tomorrow morning.

The West Oakland yards are being cleared of all empty freight cars to accommodate the hundreds of passenger coaches required to accommodate the Shriners and the crowds who will visit the city during the festivities. It is estimated that in addition to the 20,000 Shriners that fully 10,000 visitors will arrive at the same time.

NO SALOONS WILL BE ALLOWED ON NEWARK.

After waiting many days for a suitable tide, Superintendent Bruce, of the ship yards, succeeded in launching the newly remodeled ferry boat Newark on Wednesday last, and now the handsome steamer is tied up at the pier with the other boats.

One change which was made was dispensing with the saloon on the lower deck. This was done on suggestion of President Harriman.

The ferry steamer Encinal will be the next boat to be converted into an oil burner. This change will not be made until after the Modoc and Knight No. 2 have been turned out of the ship yards.

The six freight barges are now in the course of construction.

Such re-registration began on the 1st day of January, and will be in progress at all times until forty days preceding the next election in November.

In order to facilitate the work of re-registration, attention is called to the provisions of Section 1097, which reads as follows:

4. In other cases, upon the affidavit of the party that he is or will be an elector of the county at the next succeeding election.

Further notice is hereby given that Affidavits of Registration must be sworn to before the County Clerk or his deputies, and that they can not, owing to the provisions of the new Registration Law, be sworn to before any other officer.

The office of the County Clerk will be, until further notice, open for registration from Nine A. M. until Five P. M. each day.

AVERAGE OAKLAND FATHER HAS VERY LITTLE ACQUAINTANCE WITH HIS CHILDREN

It is a remarkable fact that the average Oakland father has very little acquaintance with his own children. He knows them in a way, and is apt to be proud of them if they make a good showing, but that's about all. The most he sees of them is at meal time, and very little, even then.

In the morning, when breakfast is served, the head of the house usually buries his face in the morning paper, and only emerges therefrom long enough to gulp a little hot coffee, or bolt anything solid which may happen to have been placed before him. If a member of the family ventures to ask him a question of any sort, the only answer is a grunt, which serves to show that he knows he has been addressed. If spoken to a second time, a growl is apt to issue from his throat, and if for a third time anyone is venturesome to address him, the answer is pretty much of a snarl, like that of a beast disturbed while eating.

BUSINESS MEN EAT INDECENTLY.

American business men seldom dine at home during the noon hour, which is perhaps a fortunate thing for their families.

At noon our business men rush with all speed to one of the numerous downtown restaurants, and are so impatient to get through with the job of eating that they can scarcely wait until the waiter fills an order.

A big restaurant at noon hour is a sight to see. At the tables are dozens upon dozens of impatient looking, nervous individuals, all eating with a haste that is positively indecent, or else toying with napkins, knives or forks while following the movements of the waiters with angry eyes because the orders are not filled instantly. The sight is not a pretty one.

Lunch being over, back again they go to the offices, to work as though it were the last day on earth with which to accomplish anything.

When the man of business goes home in the evening, dinner is usually awaiting him, and this he frequently sits down to without so much as waiting long enough to give greetings to the mother and children. He comes to this meal tired, unstrung and nervous, with business cares still troubling his brain and wrinkling his brow.

BOORISH AT HOME MEALS.

The children are acquainted with the signs, and avoid talking, for too well do they know the consequences. Dinner, unless there happens to be company present, is apt to be a silent, sullen meal, instead of the jolly one it should be. Or, if it is not a silent affair it is one where nothing but scolding goes on.

FINDS SOCETY AT CLUB.

After dinner, if the man possess anything of a social nature, it is apt to find vent in the atmosphere of a club, although occasionally he may be found willing to accompany his wife to a place of amusement, or once in a while on a visit to a friend, usually with the stipulation that she's not to stay long, because Smith or Jones, as the case may be, is "such an awful bore."

Now, what time has such a man as this to devote to his children?

Comparatively, no time at all.

He makes the money to pay the bills, and the responsibility of bringing them up and developing their souls and characters rests upon the mother.

Again, it may be asked, what right have men to become fathers, if they refuse, beyond mere supplying of monetary considerations, to look after the welfare of their offspring?

The answer must again be: "No right at all."

MUST HEED HIS CHILDREN.

No man should be a father unless he is willing to give at least a portion of his time and attention to their education and development, mentally, morally and physically. The mere fact that they are fine looking, healthy, well-dressed children, shouldn't content him. He ought to know something of the workings of their minds—something about their ideals. He ought, in a way, to be their guide and model. The children shouldn't regard him in the light of a stranger, but rather as a leader and companion.

American men should devote fewer hours to business, and more time to themselves and families. They work too hard, and their hours are too long. More time is needed between the hours of daylight for rest and recreation.

Let the call for reform be sounded and its summons answered by all good men and true.

ADELAIDE SELL.

Poetry that Will Please the Women

EPISTLE TO MAIDENS.

Dear Edyth, Alys, Kathryn and
Dear many another maiden;
An explanation I demand:
My heart with grief you've laden.
Think you to do without the I's?
My dears, what doth possess you?
To leave out eyes and think that y's
Can fill their place—Lord bless you!
To drop the eyes at times is right—
I'd even recommend it;
It is a very fetching sight,
And good results attend it.
But drop them not forever, then
Shalt not learn fate for sorrow.
Who drops and finds her eyes again
May play the trick tomorrow.
Wisdom in women doth no harm;
The wise may find a lover;
But more the eyes have power to charm,
A hundred times and over.
So, maidens, as I said before,
Why cause me all this worry?
Just take the good old names once more,
And do it in a hurry.
Be wise, you'll then need not the y's;
Cease trivial tricks so stupid.
Reclaim, I beg, these banished I's.
Yours, in a blue funk,
QPYD.

—Truman Roberts Andrews in The Smart Set.

ALONE IN A CROWD.

You and I in the world alone,
With millions of men around us;
Yet you and I with the world our own,
And never a care to hound us.

Men and women and children, too,
All of them pass unheeded;
For you gave me and I gave you
That which the hearts of us pleaded.

Such is the mystery love has made—
Though millions of men surround us,
No one covered by sky or spade
Can ever avail to wound us.

—T. W. Hall in Munsey's.

ASHES OF ROSES.

All my dead roses! Now I lay them here,
Shrined in a beryl cup. The mysteries
Of their sweet hauntings and their witcheries
Are not more subtle than this jewel clear,
Are not more cold and dead. The winter's spear
Has fallen on their petals once so wise
With beauty; yet their joyous secret lies
Still in their perfumed heart, supremely dear.
Roses of Love! Time killed you one by one
And mocked my pains as sad I gathered up
All the fair petals banished from the sun.
Yet have I conquered! See the dead loves bless
Life from my heart, which is their beryl cup
Warming the winter of my loneliness.

—Helen Hay.

A BALLADE OF PING PONG.

In grandma's day the minuet
They danced with sprightly lissomeness—
Slim maiden figures quaintly set
In stomacher and brocade dress.

Knee breeches bowed to chestnut tress
Politely all the gay night long;
They aimed at courtly gracefulness—
But nowadays we play Ping Pong.

In mamma's day the etiquette
On croquet laid especial stress.
And madame twirled her French mallette
In sprigged lawn—hooped self consciousness!
'Twas ladylike to feign distress
When'er the ball went rolling wrong,
And all was quiet gentleness;
But nowadays we play Ping Pong.

'Twould seem that Pierrot and Pierrette
Are here with all their foolishness;
For links are being billed "To Let,"
While golf sticks warp in idleness.
The chaperons light sleepiness,
While billard rooms to girls belong.
Ah, might the old times come to blfess!
But nowadays we play Ping Pong.

L'ENVOI.

Dame Fashion, stern and merciless,
You rule us with a leaden thong;
But I will shamelessly confess
I spurn allegiance to Ping Pong.

—Emma L. Macalarney.

THE LONELY ROOM.

These walls
Are suddenly grown bare
And strange to me.
All that yesterday made up
The intimate
Frame and compass of our lives
Is changed.
There is no longer home:
It is as chill and desolate
As I.
It seems a thousand years,
Or never,
Since you crossed
The threshold,
Since you went away
And took the very heart of things,—
The sense of home,
Of comfort,
Of companionship.
Even the familiar look
Quitted the house with you.
I close the doors,
I put the lights out
Deliberately
One by one;
The darkness, too,
Is desolate and strange.

—Paul Kester.

A TRUTH.

For a cap and bells our lives we pay,
Bawbles we buy with a whole soul's tasking;
'Tis heaven alone that is given away,
'Tis only God may be had for the asking.

THE FOOLISH MAID.

Ah, Fate, what cruel jest didst thou employ
That I, whose heart was so unwise a thing,
Whose life ran o'er with bliss or sorrowing,
Have now nor power to suffer nor enjoy?
I did not know too many gifts destroy
Love's gratefulness, and I was wont to bring Unto his feet my heart's whole offering
That he might make my happiness his toy.
But when he found that he could make me glad
Or fearful with a single little word,
And knew what boundless mastery he had,
He wearied of submission, and averred
The days were too monotonous to bear—
And then he went away—I know not where!

—Charlotte Becker.

HIRAM AND BEULAH.

Down crept the sun; what should it see
But Mistress Beulah getting tea,
As, winking with its fiery eye,
It watched her from the western sky?
The housewife's skirts flew round about,
Her deft hand weighed the sweetmeats out,
While many a sidelong glance she threw
Down the beech-shaded avenue.

The moon rose up; but all it saw
Was Hiram on a load of straw,
As hungry, weary, flushed and brown
He jogged belated back from town.
The patient team with right good-will
Bowed their broad necks to climb the hill.
And now from every field and lane
The thrush sent up its twilight strain.

The lamp shone forth; what did it see?
Hiram and Beulah drinking tea.
The snow-white linen spread with care,
Set out at length with rustic fare.
For wholesome jest, and sweet delay,
And chiding finger raised in play,
Where is the feast can equal this,
Which Beulah seasons with a kiss?

—Dora Read Goodale.

A TIME TO WEEP.

Not when we part our tears should spring,
But when we meet again.
For parting has so sharp a sting,
Tears cannot ease the pain.

While meeting is a joy so bright,
Our eyes may well run o'er,
And tears that water our delight
Shall make it bloom the more.

—Henry Johnstone.

MY TASK.

To love some one more dearly ev'ry day,
To help a wand'ring child to find its way,
To ponder o'er a noble thought, and pray,
And smile when evening falls.

To follow truth as blind men long for light,
To do my best from dawn of day till night,
To keep my heart fit for His holy sight,
And answer when he calls.

—Maude Louise Ray.

THE OLD TINTYPE.

He gazed on the old-time picture—
The tintype, faded and stained;
And over his face crept shadows
That showed how his heart was pained.
'Twas only an old-time picture
Of him, in the bygone days,
That loom now, ever so faintly,
Through memory's mellowing haze.

He sighed o'er the old, old picture,
Dented and scratched and dim;
And smiled at the maiden, dimpled,
Who sat by the side of him—
The maiden, ...mpled and happy,
Who was pictured there, also;
The maiden who held his fingers
In the style of the long ago.

'Twas only an old-time picture,
And taken in old-time style—
Each held the hand of the other,
And each wore a tintype smile.
He frowned at the old-time picture,
The tintype, scratched and depressed.
"I wonder," he muttered grimly,
"I wonder who has the rest."

—Baltimore American.

PEIRROT IN AUTUMN.

Why is thy heart so sad, Pierrot?
The leaf must fall, the Summer go,
And our bright world be given to snow,
Since the good God will have it so.

My heart is sad enough, Pierrette!
The Autumn days are warm, and yet
The world is like a house to let,
Empty of all things save regret.

Let not thy heart be sad, Pierrot!
The Spring will come, the Winter go,
And we be glad again; for woe
Is but joys covering of snow.

Will some Toymaker, then, reset
Our fairy stageland for us yet,
And mend each broken marionette?
Where is our vanished friend, Pierrette?

—Bliss Carman.

THE WHITE PEACE.

It lies not on the sunlit hill
Nor on the sunlit plain,
Nor ever on any running stream,
Nor on the unclouded main.

But sometimes, thought the soul of man,
Slow moving o'er his pain,
The moonlight of a perfect peace
Floods heart and brain.

—Fiona MacLeod.

OFF TO DREAM ISLE.

Rest in your cradle,
Dreamily sway,
Twilight is silver,
Hushing the day.
Dear little barefoot
Drooping your eyes,
Rest till the dawn light
Creeps in the skies.

Quivering leaflets
Softer voice take,
Stars step like fairies,
Still the blue lake,
Birds only listen,
Hid in the trees,
Lest they may startle
Babykin's ease.

Bonniest love-bird
All the land wide
Nestled for night in Pale eventide;
Cheek warmly tinted,
Like to a rose,
Long curling lashes
Lulled to a close.

Drowsily crooning
Forward and fro,
Off to the dream Isle,
Bade and I go.
Drowsily crooning
Forward and fro,
Off to the dream isle
Bade and I go.

WHEN IDA PUT ARMOR ON.

When Ida puts her armor on
And draws her trusty blade
The turnips in the bin turn pale,
The apples are afraid.
The quiet kitchen city wakes
And consternation feels,
And quick the tocsin pealeth forth
In long potato peels.

When Ida puts her armor on
The pots and pans succumb,
A wooden spoon her drumstick is,
A mixing pan her drum;
She charges on the kitchen folk
With silver, tin and steel;
She beats the eggs, she whips the cream,
The victory is a meal.

When Ida puts her apron on
Her breadplate is of blue
(Checked gingham, ruffled top and sides),
Her gauntlets gingham, too;
And thus protected from assault
Of batter, stain and flour,
She wars with vegetable foes
And conquers in an hour.

When Ida puts her armor on
She is so fair to see
Her battle with the kitchen folk
Is reproduced in me;
So sweet she is, armed cap-a-pie,
So good her kitchen art,
I hardly know which loves her best,
My palate or my heart.

—National Magazine.

THE DISCONTENTED ROSE.

A rose grew fair in a shaded dell—
As fair as ever was seen;
But a discontent on her spirit fell,
And troubled her brow serene.
"What use was she so hidden away
From the paths of busy men?"
So she hung her head for many a day,
And sighed again and again.

But one who was weary and sad and worn,
With worldly toil and strife,
In plodding by one gloomy morn,
Depressed by a cheerless life,
Beheld the rose in her dewy tears,
So sparkling, pure and fair,
And a smile—the first in many years—
Came back and lingered there.

* * * * * * *

The rose looked up as his smile illumed
Her darkness and despair—
And now the breeze by her perfumed
Is wafted everywhere.

WOMEN DOING FINE WORK IN LOCAL CLUBS.

Although the club season has, to all intents and purposes, closed for the summer, the women's clubs have by no means ceased to work.

Ebell society has a large undertaking on hand for next Tuesday evening, when the promenade concert for the benefit of the children's room in the new library comes off. Tickets are selling at a great rate, they say, and all sorts of stunning gowns will be worn on that occasion. I do hope they make a lot of money. Certainly they deserve to, and it's a foregone conclusion that as soon as they get this matter off their hands they'll work for a new club house all their own. The matter keeps bobbing up continually in the business discussions, but is always downed until after the completion of the children's room in the library.

MRS. LUNING'S TEA.

Out at Mrs. Luning's this afternoon, a high tea is going on. There is a choice string band in attendance, and many of the fashionable women in town are there as hostesses.

The proceeds of the tea are to be devoted to the Vacation Schools, a matter which lies near to the hearts of the Oakland club.

In the East the vacation schools are generally recognized as part of the public schools, but it is not so here as yet, although in the end it is expected to be.

The Oakland Board of Education helps out materially, lending buildings, and at a meeting held this week, gave the ladies permission to use the Tompkins school during the summer months.

POLITICAL EQUALITY CLUB.

On Thursday evening the Fourth Ward Political Equality society held an interesting meeting at the residence of Dr. Fenton. It was open to the public, who took advantage to be present in large numbers. Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard was there, and other well known local lights, beside several noted strangers.

On the second Tuesday in June the Second Ward Political Equality club will hold a meeting at No. 528 Twenty-seventh street, where Miss Anna Strunsky will deliver an address.

June 12th Miss Vida Goldstein of Australia, will give a free lecture at the Unitarian Church. While here she will be the guest of Mrs. Emma Shafter Howard.

Miss Goldstein is said to be one of the most noted women of her day. She is deeply interested in the suffrage question, and came to this country as a delegate to the International Suffrage Conference recently held in Washington, D. C.

PHILANTHOPIC SOCIETIES.

The philanthropic societies of Oakland—many of them—will be represented by booths at the coming carnival. Most of them are enthusiastic over the matter for two-fold reasons. They think there is an opportunity to make a little money, and, above all, they are, with one accord, anxious to help the Elks make a success of the undertaking.

The Elks are ever ready to respond to any call made upon them by the ladies, and in return the latter are anxious to do what they can to make the carnival a credit to the cummunity.

THE FABIOLA BOOTH.

Fabiola booth, if carried out as intended at present, will be indeed a thing of beauty. The idea is to have a Roman temple, in white and gold, with just a touch of purple here and there to carry out the carnival colors. In attendance constantly will be fair ladies having the interest of the cause at heart.

They are to sell things both practical and beautiful.

Hot waffles and doughnuts will be found on hand at all hours of the day and evening and there isn't much doubt but what the demand will equal, if not exceed the supply. They are to be exactly like those on sale at the Paris exposition, and everybody who attended the latter knows what a call there was for them.

In addition to these good things to eat, paper hats are to be on sale. There is nothing quite so fashionable this year as the paper hats, and in the East, especially, they are all the go. It is to be hoped that the weather will be good and warm, so that everybody will be open to argument as to the necessity of wearing one of these pretty head coverings.

THE COFFEE CLUB.

It had been the intention of the Coffee Club to have a booth, but at a special meeting considerable opposition to the project developed and it was decided to drop the matter.

By the way, not enough is known of the Coffee Club.

Its object is, of course, to keep men and boys away from the saloons. They serve coffee and the rooms are provided with billiard and pool tables. Checkers and other games are to be found there, and many opportunities for filling in your spare moments in a pleasant manner.

The average daily attendance is about two hundred, which is not a bad showing, although it might be still bigger. It is aimed to make the Coffee Club entirely self-supporting, but that end has not yet been attained, although it is tending that way, and the outlook is encouraging.

STREET FAIR.

Among the many booths at the coming street fair, none will be more interesting than the one where the Home for Adult Blind will have an exhibition.

They are going to bring their work with them, and the public will have an opportunity to see some of them making hammocks and weaving nets for various purposes. Others will re-cane chairs, and still others will make brooms.

This booth is certain to attract a crowd, from the fact that few people, comparatively speaking, ever have any opportunity of watching blind folk at their work, and the quickness and deftness of their fingers is apt to be a revelation.

NATIVE DAUGHTERS.

Aloha Parlor, Native Daughters of the Golden West, are going to wear uniforms while on duty at their booth. Poppies, of course, are to be in evidence on the hats, and the gowns are to be light and summery. This Parlor is to have a booth twenty feet long, and one-half of it is to be given over to a floral exhibition.

On the other side will be served root beer and oyster cocktails.

A demonstrator will be constantly on hand mixing the latter, and all who will may witness the mysteries of making. Not more than a year ago a clergyman in Oakland preached a lengthy sermon on the evils of indulging in oyster cocktails, he having became imbued with the idea that liquor was used in the makeup. Nor is he alone. Ever so many people suppose because it is called a "cocktail" that it is a very bad thing to indulge in. All such must be sure to come and see how they are made. Lovers of oysters need not be bidden—they will be there of their own accord to indulge in cocktails served by Alohans.

CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The ladies of the Young Women's Christian Association are to be at the fair in a picturesque little house where they are going to serve lunch every day—a different menu every time.

West Oakland Home for Orphans is to be represented in an attractive manner, too, and the ladies of the Oakland Club are as yet undecided whether or no to have a booth.

A WOMAN POLICEMAN.

Every woman must be interested in the progress made by other women, especially when that progress means an incursion into the ranks and callings held by men. For this reason I go so far afield as Honolulu in order to draw attention to the fact that a woman has become a policeman there. I am quite aware of my "bull" in making a woman a policeman. The reason which prompted her to seek this novel employment is that she is exceedingly fond of children and animals, and it was to protect them that she obtained the appointment. As her father is worth millions, and is one of the great men there, it is easy to understand that it was not a desire for gain which induced her to put on the "blue," though it is probably not blue in the blue Pacific. She is a mounted [illegible] the better to aid her in combating malefactors, and she carries a re[illegible]

Fun, Fashion and Gossip for the Women

THE LATEST FAD.

With the smart girl the fob is taking the place of the watch chain. But it is only the fob which shows originality which finds favor in her eyes. She cares nothing for the conventional one of black moire ribbon or gold links. The cupid fob is the latest. It even appeals to the girl who says she scorns things sentimental. It shows the chubby faces of two rose-gold cupids looking out from gold wings, which in certain lights reveal tints of green and pink. The winged heads are connected by rose-gold chains and finished with a heart charm.

The charm is something more than it seems, for it is a photograph case as well as a charm, and yet it is not at all like a locket. It would be quite impossible for the uninitiated to open it. It reveals the photograph within only when a secret spring is touched, consequently it is a very safe place for hiding away the picture of the man who of all men is the dearest. This fob also comes in gray-finish silver.

DEVIL DANCERS.

The Cingalese Devil Dancers, who gave a performance before the Prince and Princess of Wales, attract great attention. The novelty of their performance is such as to bear no comparison with anything ever seen before in this country. The company numbers eleven in all, eight of whom are men, and three women; all of them are of a rich brown hue, black hair and eyes, and wear the brightly colored robes of which all Easterners are fond, but their raiment very much varies, says the London Standarn. The women wear tightly fitting guernseys of silk, yellow or red, ornamented with a profusion of colored beads about the neck and on the breast; but their ear-rings, bracelets and anklets are nothing like so handsome as those worn by the men. Their skirts are long and of varied colored silks, but their breasts are thickly covered with beads, making fantastic forms in accordance with certain religious rules. Around the waist is a silk scarf, also beaded, from which depends a skirt of various colors of silk; they wear a number of gold bangles on their arms, long ear-rings and snake anklets. All the troupe are barefooted. Their performances include the celebration of a marriage, introducing songs; a dance of much intricacy by the women; a devil dance of a very vigorous and exciting character is also given, in which the play of muscles is marked. There is a handkerchief dance, in which the handkerchiefs are made use of to convey love signs and war signals, and the women go through a dance with clubs which produce musical sounds.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

Here are some questions about things you've seen every day and all your life. If you are a wonder you may possibly answer one or two of the questions offhand. Otherwise not.

What are the exact words on a 2-cent stamp, and in what direction is the face on it turned?

In what direction is the face turned on a cent? On a quarter? On a dime?

How many toes has a cat on each forefoot? On each hind foot?

Which way does the crescent moon turn? to the right or left?

What color are your employer's eyes? The eyes of the man at the next desk?

Write down off-hand the figures on the face of your watch. The odds are that you will make at least two mistakes in doing this.

Your watch has some words written or printed on its face. You have seen these words a thousand times. Write them out correctly. Few can do this. Also, what is the number of the case of your watch?

How high (in inches) is a silk hat?

How many teeth have you?

What are the words on a policeman's shield?

How many buttons has the vest or shirt-waist you are wearing?

How many stairs are there in the first flight at your house?

How many steps lead from the street to the front door of your house or flat?

What is the name, signed in facsimile, on any $1, $2, $5, or $10 bill you ever saw? You've read dozens of these names. Can you remember one?—Washington Times.

THE EVENT OF THE DAY.

Hark!
It is the dinner gong—
Sweet song
That sends its echoing boom.
Mark
The guests, how now they throng
Headlong
Into the dining room.
To dine, you say?
Oh, no; to play
Ping-pong!

—Frank M. Bicknell.

PING PONG PLAYERS.

To obtain a thorough command over the racquet, the player should hold it close to the bat end, with the thumb on the side nearest the body, and the back of the hand on the side nearest the net. A long handle is useless, and only gets in the way.

The service is a most important point. The player should endeavor to cultivate a swift but safe service which is difficult to take, and is certainly a help toward winning. Some players have an undoubtedly brilliant service, but sacrifice several points every game by attempting too much. It should be borne in mind that accuracy is more important than brilliancy. If you cannot play your service with certainty and find yourself constantly making faults, it is better to take the humbler course and keep to safe service.

I always recommend beginners to start with a quiet service which can be made with accuracy, slowly increasing the pace, and taking care to be able to make it with absolutely certainty before attempting a really hard stroke. It is necessary to be able to vary your service, or your opponent will get to know what to expect. If he is preparing to receive a swift ball he may be put out by a gentle stroke which just lands the ball over the top of the net.

A great point in serving is to keep the ball as low over the net as possible, and, as a rule, placed well to the back of the court. For the return, stand well up to the table and if the service you have to take is swift, the safest course is the "half-volley." A half-volley, I may explain, for the benefit of the of the uninitiated, is when the ball is met, not struck, the moment is rises from the table. The half-volley must be considered defensive play, but owing to the rapidity with which the ball is returned a point is often gained. Unless the ball is kept low down over the net it will bounce up and and allow your opponent to make a "smash" stroke; that is to say, to hit hard down on the ball, a stroke which, if well delivered, it is almost impossible to return—Pearson's Magazine for June.

MEN SELL BONNETS.

It is quite the fad nowadays for men's hat stores to have women's hats on sale also. Women customers, it would appear, prefer to be waited on by male rather than female clerks.

These men, as a rule, hail from service in wholesale millinery houses, and are in position to talk "shop" to the gentler sex ad lib. Their opinion carries with it the weight of expert testimony, and this outpouring of technical knowledge pleases my lady immensely. Only expensive hats are sold through these channels.—Stray Stories.

FOR THE HANDS.

Keep at hand half a lemon from which the pips have been removed, and a filbert-sized piece of borax inserted. The juice will remove almost every kind of stain, and its constant use keeps the hands white and soft.

A WOMAN UNDER BED.

Beyond all possibility of a reassuring doubt to the contrary, the terrifying story developed by the arrest of May Willard, a St. Louis young woman who confesses that she has been in the habit of burglarizing houses, disguising herself in man's attire, will strike panic to all masculine souls.

Waking in the dead of night to espy the ordinary housebreaker, a burly, low-browed, heavy-jawed ruffian in one's room is sufficiently frightful to curdle almost any man's blood into a dish of living blutwurst or crimson schmierkase, goodness knows.

But to emerge from sweet sleep and fix the startled gaze upon an intruding shape which all the disguises in the world cannot prevent from betraying its femininity—oh, brothers, who among us all shall undergo this experience and not feel his reason tottering from the shock?

Miss May Willard, professional burglar and male impersonator, has materialized a Terror of appalling portent to the masculine soul. For generations we have laughed at women because of their timorous bedtime habit of looking under their couches for a possible man. It is safe to say that hereafter no St. Louis will be able to retire tranquilly without first having satisfied himself that there is no woman under his bed.—St. Louis Republic.

Bert Roys, who has lived here the past four years, resigned his position with I. F. Ralph and sailed for Nome Tuesday. He expects to be gone a year. His departure is regretted by a host of friends, who wish him every success.

Mesdames Richmond and Olson, and Miss Harriet Joyce attended the wedding of Miss Carrie Neilson in Mt. Eden Wednesday.

The W. of the W. will have an entertainment Tuesday in I. O. O. F. Hall, to which many invitations have been issued. It is for the purpose of organizing a circle of Ladies of Woodcraft. An organizer will be present.

STRONG ATTRACTIONS AT ALL THE THEATERS.

Katherine Kidder at the Macdonough Next Monday --"Streets of New York at the Dewey"-- Bills in San Francisco.

One of the most essential requirements for success in an actress is gracefulness. This quality is particularly noticeable in the popular feminine stars. It has frequently been commented upon in Miss Kidder, who, though possessed of a tall figure, moves about the stage in a manner that always commands the admiration of her audience. An enthusiastic female critic once observed of Miss Kidder that "she did not appear to walk at all, but seemed to melt from one position to another." This actress has always been regarded with favor by local theatre goers, who will be pleased with the announcement that she has been engaged for an appearance in this city at the Macdonough next Monday, June 9th, when she will present her latest success, "The Country Girl." She is said to have achieved the greatest success of her career as Peggy, the heroine of David Garrick's immortal comedy.

STREETS OF NEW YORK AT DEWEY THEATER.

"Jim, the Penman" will continue to thrill the patrons of the Dewey Theatre until tomorrow night. It is produced in an exceedingly clever manner.

It will be followed by a masterful presentation of the great piece, "The Streets of New York." This is an old play, but it seems destined to live always. There has been no melodramatic actor of this country who has attained to distinction who has not attempted the trying role of Badger. This is the role in which Mr. Stevens will appear, and in it he will no doubt make a great hit.

"The Streets of New York" is a picture of life in the great metropolis, which painfully true in some of the more sorrowful scenes and thrillingly realistic in others. There is a fire scene which will delight the gallery because Mr. Stevens will give it all the realism which can be expected from the production of flames, their extinguishment by means of real water pumped by real steam fire engines.

There is no doubt that there will be full houses at the Dewey all next week.

MISS MAUDE FEALY AT GRAND OPERA.

For the third week of Maud Fealy's engagement at the Grand Opera House, Jerome K. Jerome's clever comedy, "Miss Hobbs" will be presented. This play which was one of the greatest successes of Annie Russell's career is a charming work of remarkably fine texture in which are deftly woven wit, philosophy and sentiment that is tender and true. Mr. Jerome is a writer who is never dull, and whose humor is delicate and refreshing. The comedy begins with a quarrel between Mr. and Mrs. Percival Kingsearl, a young New York couple who have been married but six months.

THE TOY-MAKER STILL AT TIVOLI THEATER.

"The Toy-Maker" is the magnet that is attracting crowds to the Tivoli nowadays. The merry opera is well staged and sung, and all the new songs have met with favor. It will be continued indefinitely. Toy matinees are to be given on each Saturday afternoon, all the children attending to receive presents.

ZAZA WILL MOURN AT THE ALCAZAR.

"His Wife's Father" is the piece with which the management of the Alcazar theater has been entertaining its patrons this week and satisfactorily has that purpose been accomplished.

An old favorite at this theater, Miss Florence Roberts will appear next week in her studied and clever rendition of Zaza, in the play of that name. The piece will be run a couple of weeks.

A GUILTY MOTHER'S RUN AT THE CENTRAL.

At the Central theater this week, the management has been turning away people. "The Sidewalks of New York" has packed the house.

Next week the management will play another strong card in "A Guilty Mother." The piece is a new one but its title is suggestive of crime and mystery that it will undoubtedly have a successful run.

ACTORS AND ACTRESSES FROM FAR AND NEAR.

James K. Hackett closed his tour in Detroit last Saturday night, and is now with his wife, Mary Mannering, who is touring in "The Lady of Lyons." Mr. Hackett is not acting.

William Faversham will remain in London until Gilbert Parker completes the dramatization of "The Right of Way," in which Mr. Faversham is to star in this country next season.

Robert Hilliard is reported to have become tired of working in Wall street and will probably go back on the stage next season, appearing with Anna Held in Richpin's version of "Du Barry."

Marie Dressler is said to have broken her contract with the Sire Bros. in New York, who are producing the "Hall of Fame," and Mabel Gilman, who is also in the company, may soon resign.

R. A. Barnet, author of "1492," is negotiating with several New York parties for the production of "Nicolette," his latest opera, with the result that the piece will have an early production next fall.

Alice Reseland, an actress, who formerly was a member of the Augustin Daly Company, became suddenly insane in Wallack's Theatre, New York, last Tuesday night, and was taken to Bellevue Hospital.

Maurice Barrymore has been rapidly sinking the past two weeks, and is now confined to his bed. The doctors pronounce his case absolutely hopeless, and say it is only his wonderful constitution that keeps him alive.

An elaborately arranged benefit will soon be given Theresa Vaughn in New York, E. E. Rice having all the details well in hand. Miss Vaughn is still in the Worcester sanitarium, but her health has improved wonderfully of late.

Sol Smith Russell's life was insured for over $100,000, and in addition he had nearly $700,000 in government bonds.

Richard Mansfield will play "Brutus" next season, when he puts on the elaborate production of "Julius Caesar."

John Drew will probably not have a new play next season, as "The Second in Command" was a success this season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Walcott have signed contracts to appear with one of Mr. Belasco's companies next season.

Edna May will not open her season in this country until the first of January, owing to the great success of "The Three Little Maids" in London.

Augustus Thomas' "The Love of a Milliner" has been secured by Kirke la Shelle, and will be used by one of his stars, which one has not been stated.

Weber and Fields opened their tour in Louisville to a $6,000 house, but in Pittsburg they went to an obscure theatre and their receipts hardly paid their expenses.

A special train from London says that the Countess de la Warr has begun proceedings for absolute divorce against the Earl, naming Edna May as co-respondent.

Mrs. Leslie Carter will appear in London next spring, playing "Zaza," "Heart of Maryland" and "Du Barry." Mr. Belasco signed contracts last week closing the deal.

This is Frederick Warde's twenty-first season, and he will present an absolutely new production, besides reviving several of his most notable successes of the past. His repertoire includes "Horatius," a new Roman tragedy by Verna Woods of Sacramento, Cal., that has been received with every evidence of popular favor. It is founded on the historical incident in Roman history of the battle of Horatius, with their cousins the Curiatti of Albana, for the supremacy of Rome, and also relates the tragic story of the death of the brother and sister. This play is full of strong dramatic treatment, and picturesque display. It gives one of the most interesting and truthful pictures of the early Roman domestic life.

George H. Broadhurst went direct from New York to San Francisco last week to superintend the rehearsals of his latest romantic comedy, "The Red Knight," which James Neill will give an $8,000 production in June. Mr. Neill has purchased the exclusive European and American rights of the play. The scenes of "The Red Knight" take place in the imaginary kingdom of Rodoland during the present period. James Neill is to appear as Robert, Crown Prince of Morantea, and Edythe Chapman as Cecelia, Queen of Rodoland.

There is some talk of arranging a benefit for the widow of the late Lester Wallack. She has been ill for some time, is seventy-seven years of age, and is said to have lost all her money in unfortunate Western investments, some of them made in business enterprises in Chicago. Mrs. Wallack is at present at the home of her son at Long Branch, New Jersey, and many of the friends of herself and husband have suggested that a benefit entertainment be arranged for her. Mr. Wallack was wealthy at one time, but left comparatively little money when he died. During his prosperous years he and his wife entertained lavishly, and were popular members of New York society. Before his death the actor was tendered a monster benefit, which gave him in receipts and subscriptions $20,000.

Count and Countess Bozenta (Mme. Modjeska) are at their home near Santa Ana. They will be in Southern California several weeks, and expect to depart from New York August 21st for Europe, where they will remain through the winter. Modjeska has not retired from the stage and the present theatrical season was not her last. Count Bozenta so stated in an interview Monday.

Madame Javorsky, the great Russian actress, has decided to visit America, and has commissioned Edmund Gerson to make arrangements for her tour in this country. Madame Javorsky is a woman of extraordinary beauty and talent, and is widely known in Northern Europe as the Russian Sarah Bernhardt.

Mrs. Genevieve Haines, the author of "Hearts Aflame," the society drama which was given a trial week at the Garrick recently in New York, said some time ago that she believed that dramatists were born, like poets, and she also believed that she was a dramatist. The strange part of the modest boast lies in the fact that a good percentage of New York stage followers, after seeing her play, admit that Mrs. Haines is a playwright of more than ordinary gifts.

The Pollard Juvenile Opera Company closes its American season in Chicago next week and sails June 12 for Sydney on the Sierra.

Col. W. A. Thompson, the indefatigable, has once more arrived with a strong company that is meeting with much success in New Orleans. John H. Garrison is the business manager. The roster of the company is as follows: Bertha Davis, soprano; Mabel Day, soprano; Maude Leekley, contralto; Della Niven, contralto; Martin Pache, tenor; Joseph Fredericks, tenor; John J. Raffael, baritone; Geo. Chapman, baritone; S. P. Vernon, basso; Frank Maslin, basso, and Joseph Tressi, musical director.

It is reported in London that Mme. Melba, who has but recently returned from the United States, is to marry an Englishman of title. Though every effort has been made to keep the matter a secret, the facts have leaked out. The favored individual is said to be Earl Larmere, and it is an open secret that he has been constantly in the company of the prima donna since her return from America. It is said the marriage has been arranged to take place on the Riviera during the early part of August. The Earl has been much devoted to Mme. Melba during her stay in London.

Blanche Bates next New York appearance will be at Belasco's own theater on Forty-second street, when she will be seen in a new play which he is now writing for her. While her dote is not definitely decided upon, it is known that she will follow Mrs. Leslie Carter, who will open the new playhouse with a season of Du Barry. Mr. Belasco has also stated that he was not yet in a position to divulge the nature of Miss Bates' new play. Such excellent artists as George Arliss and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walcot already have been placed under contract, and Mr. Belasco is negotiating with other actors not less prominent for this company.

There is a report in New York theatrical circles that Lotta Crabtree, the retired actress, had been married within the past few days to George Edward Fales, a young stock broker. Miss Crabtree, who lives while in the city at the Hotel Navarre, has gone to her summer home at Lake Hopatcong, N. J., and could not be reached to verify the story. It is known that Miss Crabtree and Fales have been very good friends for some time. The actress first met the broker at an Adirondack mountain resort last summer, and the latter was instrumental in saving Lotta's pet parrot from a hotel fire, thereby earning her everlasting gratitude. Dr. W. J. Gibbs, the actress' physician, was asked about the rumor. He said frankly he didn't believe it. Miss Crabtree, Fanchon, the cricket, of years gone by, is thought to be the richest actress in the world. She is 57 years old and the owner of much valuable Manhattan and Boston real estate.

The man—the dramatist—who has most widely influenced writing for the modern stage is Ibsen, writes Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske in the International Monthly for May. To the brilliant young writers of Germany he is a prophet, and to all Scandinavians he is a model. He has influenced English dramatists—notably Pinero, the greatest of dramatists that writes in English—and even the younger dramatists of Italy have fallen under Ibsen's spell. At the time—or about the time—that Ibsen was beginning to develop his impressive and far-reaching pessimism, half a century ago, the younger Dumas, Augier and other French writers were in the full flower of a like purpose, more romantically expressed. There is one great mind—that of Tolstoy—that employs the drama as an incidental means to his general end, and, of course, he perforce must speak after the manner of those that deal with problems. His play, "The Power of Darkness," has recently been performed in New York, and its very unpleasing character has been commented upon. Revolting as are the details of this play, a competent critic declares that "they are mitigated by the colossal simplicity and truth with which they are presented. Every situation, every line, is stamped with the hall mark of truth."

Miss Cordelia Wetjen, the young whistler, was married last week to George Stenenberg, a Lieutenant in the regular army.

The Paris Opera Comique recently gave its 900th performance of "Carmen." "Faust," "Huguenots" and "Mignon" have had over 1,000 representations.

Josef Hofmann has been granted a patent for an improvement on a steam engine. This is the second patent secured by the pianist since his return to this country.

Kubelik has returned to Europe and will concertize in England. It seems to be settled that he will give a series of concerts in the United States next season.

A "Parsifal" manuscript by Wolfram von Eschenbach, a celebrated Minnesinger of the thirteenth century, has been discovered in Germany. It was doing service as a book cover.

A German paper says that three hitherto unknown compositions of Chopin are to be published, consisting of two waltzes and a mazurka, which bear unmistakably the stamp of the composer's unequaled art.

Dr. Henry Edmund Ford recently celebrated the sixtieth year of his service as organist to Carlisle, England, cathedral, a record almost, if not wholly, unparalleled in musical history.

The latest reports are that Mascagni is working on a new opera of which Marie Antoinette is to be the heroine. She will first be seen at the court of Austria and later in France. The opera will consist of several short scenes.

A successor to Sarasate is promised in a boy violinist of Spain, who is now in his thirteenth year. His repertoire includes several of Mozart's sonatas, Wieniawski's Legende, Handel's Sonata in D, Grieg's Sonata in F, Bach's Sonata in E, Sinding's Romance and the Beethoven Concerto.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

With different stocks for different occasions, and myriads of these in the bargain, the summer girl finds she must supply herself with many styles and varieties.

Carefully folded and laid away in separate compartments, or in faintly perfumed cases, are soft riding stocks; plain stocks without fluttering ends to bother her when playing golf; dainty and trim stocks for morning wear, and all manner of soft, fluffy confections of lace and chiffon, which are destined to encircle her fair throat when she is at some smart afternoon function.

It really seems that the up-to-date young woman cannot have too great a variety of mouliish neckwear. The point which endears the new stocks most to feminine hearts is the extreme coolness and comfort which once was an unknown factor in summer neckwear. Now, however, the neat, hard-worked linen bands so popular with every woman are only partly stiffened, and instead of warm ribbons there are thin ties, which may be fastened in a pretty and becoming knot.

Many new designs of turnover collars in linen, lace and embroidery are noticed, while stocks with fancy ends are getting to be so numerous and pretty that one is almost at a loss to know just which styles to choose.

Mercerized linen, in all the becoming shades of lace or sheer embroidery are prettily appliqued on the corners of turnovers and tie ends, and these make very effective pieces of neckwear, especially when all in white.

Many of the new transparent white stocks display dainty lace insets or lace trimmed turnovers, and the ties, of course, are ornamented to match.

By the way, the simple bowknot, with two loops and two ends, usually tied so that these latter are on the upper side, is the accepted method of fastening the ties. Four-in-hands are no longer considered good style for this particular kind of neckwear.

A crushed felt fastens at the back under loops and ends and displays a pretty incrustation of lace.

The hat is a very pale blue straw, with a garniture of flowers and dainty drapery of white mousseline veiling the tint of the straw, so as to make it seem almost white.

Could anything be more simple than the old rose gown of etamine, with its perfectly plain skirt and tight-fitting corsage, having on the cuffs. The effect of a very wide graduated box plait is secured by an arrangement of tucks down the front of the corsage, and this has for its sole trimming a double row of flat gilt buttons. Above the cut-out neck there shows barely a scrap of a dainty lingerie vest, which contrasts prettily with the dull shade of old rose.

A hat from Leontine accompanies this Dukes et Joire frock. This is made of rough straw in old rose, trimmed with soft ribbon and flowers, while a white silk parasol, having tiny rose-tinted wreaths scattered over its triangular sections, adds its bits of harmonious coloring to the whole.

SUEDE CLOTH COAT WITH TRIMMINGS OF TAFFETA AND LACE.

are very popular, and the cuffs are simply a smaller counterpart of the collar. They turn back over the sleeve very smoothly and at varying depths, and fasten with tiny gold cuff pins.

Widows find these effects especially suited to them, and a novelty intended for them alone consists of a set of collar and cuffs of very sheer white organdie, with quite wide double hems. These little pins, which come in sets of three, are designed expressly for fastening my lady's dainty linen stock and cuffs, and even as with the linen fancies there are several styles from which one may easily find something altogether pleasing.

Smart Frocks Worn In Paris.

BY ELISE DEY.

Paris, Saturday.

Exceedingly graceful and pretty is the afternoon gown from Beer, which presents a unique feature in the deep flounce encircling the bottom of the skirt. At the knees the plain part, of pastel silk crepon, ends in shallow points, which are finished with fancy silk-covered rings. Between these rings, placed their width apart, narrow ribbons of crepon, which have the effect of being continuous pieces of the skirt, fall to the floor over an accordion plaited under flounce of rose chiffon. This is gathered upon a foundation of rose taffeta. Following the line of the upper edge of the flounce are four rows of silk-covered rings, through which the straight ribbons are run, and about the extreme edge of the flounce is a narrow band of rose crepe.

The corsage is quite plain, with the usual blouse effect, and sleeves which display a oddly shaped basques, curving from the front in large postillion effect.

The corners of these unusual but stylish skirt pieces are ornamental, with fancy shaded embroideries, while a bit of the same appears around the low-cut neck and Suede Cloth to Stay.

Suede cloth seems to have taken on a long lease of popularity, especially for coats. Again in the Dukes et Joire model do we see a smart use of this fabric, having for ornamentation incrustations of ochre colored guipure.

The coat reaches to the floor, half fitting the figure, with a slight break in the long lines just at the waist, where it is loosely drawn in. A low, rounding collar and cuffs to match of black embroidered taffeta are edged with an effective pattern of rich yellowish lace, while a dainty fall of the same fine meshes is caught across the front by means of fancy silk cords and tassels.

Where is the dainty afternoon or evening gown that doesn't present a more or less elaborate ornamentation of lace as its chief feature of trimming?

By no means has lace had its day. On the contrary, it seems to be at the very zenith of its glory, and new patterns, as well as novel uses of old, frequently appear to lend a little variety to this fad if any signs of its abatement are discerned.

For a new style of trimming and one which displays to advantage that smartest of all combinations—black and white—an evening frock of chiffon and lace is recommended.

Besides the use of black and white, there is a charming effect of soft gray obtained by covering the black chiffon skirt with another exactly like it in cut, but made of soft white mousseline. The silvery sheen of the two colors is extremely pretty and looks well in contrast with the more striking trimmings.

That such a combination is a French one goes without saying, and that it exhibits the new apron trimming makes it all the more interesting, for women as a whole are always eager to find an effect which tends to increase the height. A wide panel of Irish crochet lace extends down the length of the skirt in front, and where it narrows becomingly at the waist line it blouses ever so little, then broadens again to form the apron bib which fastens at the bust under handsome jet trimmings.

The lace panel, which is marked at the bottom by a pointed fringe of jet, ending at the sides in huge disks, outlined with glistening black scales, continues on around the bottom of the skirt, rising gently toward the back and fulfilling the office of flounced heading. Its upper irregular edge has an outlining of inch-wide paillette bands, and at intervals this is broken by one of the large jetted disks already mentioned.

From the fact that there is so much of the jet on the skirt one would naturally suppose it to be extremely heavy, but the tiny scales are put on a foundation of black mousseline, and used so delicately that their weight is by no means noticeable. From the lower edge of this broad Irish lace band there falls a graceful graduated flounce of black Chantilly lace, laid over a foundation of white chiffon which has for its fond a thin white taffeta with narrow ruches forming a border.

How Lace Is Placed for Effect.

Not more than three inches of the chantilly shows across the front, where the white lace panel is invisibly joined to the broad band running across the bottom by this handsome fringelike ornament of jet, the center drops of which are long enough to touch the floor. The same striking wheel trimmings are put upon the lower edge of the horizontal band of white lace, so that they alternate with those at the top. The upper rows, however, are much more effective on account of the light background, though the ones embedded in the filmy meshes of the black chantilly are certainly extremely beautiful.

Like the skirt of this charming frock, the corsage is rather simple, yet lovely withal. There is a trimming of Irish crochet about the low square neck, and this falls to a fashionable fulness between elbow and wrist. A crushed felt fastens at the back under loops and ends and displays a pretty incrustation of lace.

The hat is a very pale blue straw, with a garniture of flowers and dainty drapery of white mousseline veiling the tint of the straw, so as to make it seem almost white.

Could anything be more simple than the old rose gown of etamine, with its perfectly plain skirt and tight-fitting corsage, having on the cuffs. The effect of a very wide graduated box plait is secured by an arrangement of tucks down the front of the corsage, and this has for its sole trimming a double row of flat gilt buttons. Above the cut-out neck there shows barely a scrap of a dainty lingerie vest, which contrasts prettily with the dull shade of old rose.

A hat from Leontine accompanies this Dukes et Joire frock. This is made of rough straw in old rose, trimmed with soft ribbon and flowers, while a white silk parasol, having tiny rose-tinted wreaths scattered over its triangular sections, adds its bits of harmonious coloring to the whole.

to fall outward to a depth of almost ten inches. Smaller bands of jet and disks to match decorate the gathered edge of this flounce. The belt, or rather sash, consists of a broad black velvet ribbon brought from the sides of the lace bib toward the back, where it is fastened in a simple bow, having the pointed ends finished with jetted fringe.

Certainly the frock is far beyond the ordinary; in fact, it is unique in its combination of startling black and white against the silvery background of softly beaded magpie shades.

It will be found extremely becoming to tall, slender figures on account of its clinging, graceful folds.

A somewhat similar use of Irish lace is represented in an all white frock of crepe de chine. About the hips the soft fabric is laid in tiny tucks which run almost to the knees, at which point they are released in order to give a little spring before the inset of handsome lace breaks in upon the extreme plainness of the garment. The border effect of lace is at least 18 inches deep, and its lower edge is finished with a simple wide hem of the crepe de chine. There are no if's or fulness of any description just with bands of trimming. The blouse, which fastens at the back, is a pretty and dainty arrangement of Irish lace and finely tucked white mousseline de soie.

depth of about four inches as it slopes toward the front, where it is intercepted by the lace bib previously mentioned. Two rows of overlapping jet paillettes placed three inches apart outline the square decollete, and at each side of the front appears a smaller jetted disk to match those upon the skirt. Between the two handsome ornaments is another fringe or "rain" of jet, with the long, glistening threads falling over the apron bib almost to the waist.

Small plain sleeves of Irish lace over white chiffon are cut off some distance above the elbow and finished here with a flounce of black chantilly, which is caught up at the inner seam and is then allowed Fortunes Easily Made.

That a good bull-fighter can make a fortune in a single season recent statistics show.

Here is what Mazzantini, Reverte and Guerrita have accomplished in one season: Mazzantini took part in 66 fights and killed 108 bulls; Reverte took part in 71 and killed 109, and Guerrita took part in 76 and killed 147. As a reward Mazzantini obtained 250,000f., Reverte 250,000f. and Guerrita 250,000f.
